$75,000 RANSOM DEMANDED BY OIL MAN'S KIDNAPERS

SAYS HE WAS CUT OFF DURING TALK

He Is Awaiting Further Word from California Abductors — Police Inquiry Suspended.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 11.—Ransom of $75,000 has been demanded for the release of William F. Gettle, kidnaped Beverly Hills oil millionaire, the District Attorney's office announced today.

Ernest E. Noon, attorney for Mrs. Gettle, informed District Attorney Buron Fitts he had received a telephone call "from a party who informed him they had Gettle alive and wanted $75,000 ransom."

Two and a half hours after the telephone call Noon suddenly left his office. He returned in a short time saying he expected heavy developments soon.

Soon after Noon received the telephone call, he called in District Attorney Fitts and Federal agents. A trust officer of the bank located in the same building as his office was called in. There was a hurried conference. Fitts was the first to leave the conference.

Police Suspend Inquiry.

The District Attorney returned to his offices here and after a conference with other authorities announced that all officers had been withdrawn from the investigation.

The following official statement was issued:

"We feel that William Gettle is still alive. Our first concern in this case is the welfare of the victim, and therefore we are thoroughly willing to co-operate with his family by withdrawing our officers, if by their presence he is in danger, or so that negotiations can be made with the family for the return of the victim."

This was signed by Sheriff Biscailuz, Chief of Police Davis, District Attorney Fitts and R. E. Vetterli of the Department of Justice.

"About 8:30 o'clock this morning," reported Noon, "I had a telephone call from some man. The conversation went something like t' .s:

"'Mr. Noon?' I said 'Yes.'

"'Will you pay seventy-five grand?' 'Why yes, why—yes.'

"'Well make up your mind.' 'All right.'

"'Now you follow the instructions, and everything, and you will be all right,' the man told me."

Then, said Noon, there was some reference to an automobile, and the line was cut off.

"By reference to an automobile, I mean that the man began talking something about a car some place," he said. "I couldn't quite get the drift of it when the line was cut off. We are now waiting for another call from this party."

A woman arrested last night in connection with the case was questioned for three hours by District Attorney Fitts and Capt. Norris Stensland of the Sheriff's office. Her name was not disclosed.

"She seems to be a great talker," said Stensland. "We will release her today."

Appeal by Family.

Mrs. Gettle and her four children appealed to the abductors to spare the husband and father from any harm and expressed willingness to pay any amount for his freedom.

"I beg you not to harm my husband and father of my four children," said the appeal issued by Mrs. Gettle.

"Please realize that I am ill and that this tragic turn of events has seriously aggravated my condition. Realization of the detention of their father has seriously and pathetically affected our four children."

Clews in the possession of officers include a mysterious telephone call received at the Gettle estate about 15 minutes after the two kidnapers scaled a seven-foot wall and advanced on Gettle and James P. Wolf as they stood in a summer house of the estate taking a drink after a swimming party early yesterday. Both were bound and engaged, Wolff being strapped to a tree and Gettle dropped over the wall, placed in an automobile and driven away. Breaking his bonds, Wolf ran to the main house and spread an alarm.

Heel Prints Are Clew.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—An enormous dust cloud laid a gritty yellow pall over almost the entire northeastern part of the United States today.

Sifting eastward through the higher atmosphere to becloud New York's skyscrapers in sickly yellow haze, the vast dust blanket stretched nearly 1000 miles westward, southward to the National Capital and north to parts of the Canadian border.

Its origin lay in the parched, drouth-stricken farm lands of the Missouri Valley, where strong northwest winds in the higher atmospheric reaches carried the dust, caused from lack of rain.

Its appearance in New York City was a rare phenomenon, said Dr. James H. Kimball, United States meteorologist here.

To thousands of curious New Yorkers, who licked dry lips and felt the grit of fine dust particles in their mouths, it was a new experience.

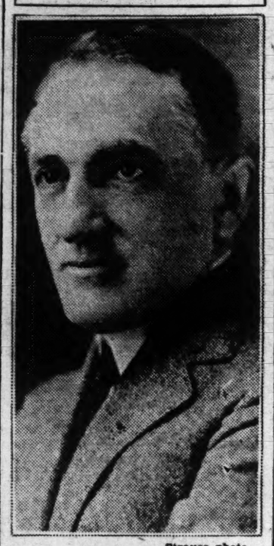

The same experience was had by people of Northern New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New England. Inquiries coming to weather observers indicated the belief of many that it was smoke from a large fire.

At 1 p. m. in New York City, visibility was limited to only two miles, but Dr. Kimball said he thought the dust "storm" had reached its greatest density. Flyers reported dust as high as 15,000 feet in various parts of the East and Middle West.

Heavy clouds of dust rolled over Central Pennsylvania darkening many towns in the vicinity of Lancaster. A thin haze spread over Harrisburg.

Lancaster County residents reported dust clouds so thick it was difficult to see any distance.

KENT JARVIS

Kent Jarvis, real estate dealer who lived at the Kings-Way Hotel, was found dead this morning in a garage back of the hotel. He had not been seen since Tuesday and apparently had been dead that long.

The body was found by his son, Gardner Jarvis, who had been unsuccessful in trying to communicate with his father and had gone to the garage to see whether his automobile was there.

Doors of the one-car garage were closed, the ignition switch of the automobile was on, and its headlights were burning. Police believe the motor ran until oxygen in the garage was exhausted. There was still gasoline in the tank.

Jarvis, in his shirt sleeves, was propped up against the side of the car, a dust cloth caught in the fingers of his hand. He had been standing in a narrow space between the wall of the garage and the side of the car, and had fallen against the car.

Gardner Jarvis thought it possible his father had died of natural causes, rather than of carbon monoxide produced by the engine. He was 65 years old, a widower, and lived alone at the hotel.

An open verdict was returned this afternoon at a Coroner's inquest. Physicians said they were unable to determine the manner and cause of death.

The son, testifying at the inquest, said his father frequently left the city on business trips without advising him. Consequently, he felt no concern at not hearing from him daily. He said his father was in good spirits when he last talked to him by telephone last Tuesday.

A daughter, Mrs. Stephanie Jarvis McGinley, 6110 Pershing avenue, testified sh shad held a telephone conversation with her father last Tuesday, during which he cheerfully told her of real estate transactions he hoped to close in the next few days.

Jarvis visited his office in the Title Guaranty Building last Tuesday morning. He told his secretary he wanted some papers needed to close a loan at the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. She said he appeared to be in good health and spirits.

Strong Earth Shocks in Hawaii.

HILO, Hawaii, May 11.—Residents ran from buildings as a strong, slow earthquake shook the eastern side of the island of Hawaii at 10:09 a. m. yesterday. Homes and offices were showered with dust and small debris, but not much damage was done.

NO MORE DUST COMING IN HERE

Although more dust sifted into the city from the parched plains of the West last night and may remain unsettled in the air for a day or so, there is little likelihood of fresh dust coming in, according to Weather Forecaster Nunn, since the northwest wind has abated and is shifting to the South.

During the night, Nunn said, the area covered by dust clouds spread to the southeast, including most of Ohio and Kentucky and the western part of Tennessee. St. Louis was virtually calm at 7 a. m. today. Several hours later a light western breeze sprang up, turning south.

With no indication of strong winds for several days and little prospect of rain, the dust may linger without appreciable addition, but probably will disappear gradually, Nunn said.

Motorists driving dusty cars to work through pale sunshine this morning, on the second day of the season's second dust storm, saw downtown buildings ahead of them still shrouded in a gray haze which had the appearance of fog.

Physicians said the drying effect of the dust increased the possibilities of nose and throat infection. Superintendent Pring of Shaw's Garden said that although the dry weather was retarding growth of vegetation the dust itself would have little effect on foliage.

JUDGE ACQUITS JAIL EMPLOYE OF HELPING DILLINGER ESCAPE

Fingerprint Expert Testifies Desperado Had Real Pistol, Not Wooden One.

By the Associated Press.

CROWN POINT, Ind., May 11.—Judge Maurice Crites today acquitted Ernest Blunk, Lake County fingerprint expert accused of aiding John Dillinger to escape from the Crown Point jail. The Judge heard the case without a jury.

In a brief statement he said the evidence was insufficient to show that Blunk acted of his own accord in the assistance given Dillinger when the desperado escaped March 3, and remarked that the escape was "a comedy of errors."

Blunk testified today that the weapon used by Dillinger to intimidate guards and fellow prisoners was an automatic pistol of large caliber and not a wooden one.

Blunk said he was in fear of his life and he acted at all times under Dillinger's command. Blunk said Dillinger reminded him at one time of his wife and child and told him that if he wished to see them again he had better 'start thinking."

Charles U. Becker Critically Ill.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 11.—Charles U. Becker, former Secretary of State, was semi-conscious in a hospital here today and attending physicians said his condition was more critical. He is suffering from a liver disease and has been taking special treatments in St. Joseph. He was in a hotel until Wednesday, when his condition necessitated his removal to the hospital.

FUGITIVE JULIAN BURIED IN SHANGHAI IN BEGGAR'S COFFIN

Body Interred in Pine Box After Occupying Two Expensive Caskets.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, May 11. — C. C. Julian, fugitive oil promoter who killed himself here March 25, was buried today in a beggar's coffin in an obscure corner of Shanghai's foreign cemetery. Miss Leonora Levy, who tried to join Julian in death by taking the same kind of poison, but who recovered, was the only mourner.

Dressed in a white ensemble, Miss Levy appeared at the cemetery as the body of Julian was borne to the grave. The Rev. Emory Luccock of Oak Park, Ill., pastor of a Shanghai American community church, who granted Julian a religious funeral service March 28, completed his task this afternoon. In the brief commitment service, the Rev. Mr. Luccock prayed that Julian's "life eternal may be comprised of experiences different than those making up his earthly career."

From the time of death to the grave, Julian's body occupied three coffins—the first two being expensive caskets provided in anticipation of shipment for burial in America. As no funds were received, except a modest sum from his wife in Winnipeg, the promoter's body was relegated to the cheapest pine box available.

TIME FOR SIGNING WHEAT CONTROL PACTS EXTENDED

G. E. Farrell Says Benefit Payments Will Recompense Farmer for Drouth Losses.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — The time for signing contracts for wheat production control will be extended until May 16 to allow farmers in drouth states to participate.

Describing the primary purpose of the wheat plan as adjustment of production, George E. Farrell, chief of the wheat section of the Farm Administration, declared the program had a secondary function in insuring income to farmers under conditions such as the present drouth. In a speech prepared for delivery at Urbana, Ill., but released here, Farrell said farmers who had not previously signed wheat reduction contracts would be allowed to do so and would receive benefit payments which would recompense them for drouth losses. In many cases, he asserted, these payments would represent the sole income of farmers in drouth areas.

Action Follows Walkout by 5000 at Associated Fisher Body Plant.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., May 11.—The Buick Motor Co. plant closed here today, close on the heels of a walkout of union employes in the Fisher Body Corporation No. 1 plant which makes Buick bodies.

It was reported the Buick plant would remain closed until Tuesday. By that time, it is expected that the Fisher strike will be settled.

The closing of the Buick plant comes on the eve of the presentation of a new model. The rate of pay for piece-work on bodies for the new model was one of the avowed causes for dissatisfaction among union employes of the Fisher plant.

RAISES ISSUE OF JURISDICTION

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Samuel Insull furnished bonds totaling $250,000 today and was released from the County jail to await his trial by Government and State. His attorney encountered hours of delay in arranging bail, but at last every technicality was cleared away.

Tuesday Insull must return to Federal Court to hear the legality of his arrest determined, and Wednesday, for the first time since their flight two years ago took them on divergent paths, he will meet his brother Martin, a decade his junior, in criminal court.

The elder Insull will be arraigned before Judge James F. Fardy on charges of embezzlement. Martin Insull will hear his plea in abatement against the indictment argued in the same court.

Leaves With Son.

Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Cook County Criminal Court approved the state bonds at 4:00 p. m., and Insull, his son at his arm, departed in a taxicab for St. Luke's Hospital on Michigan boulevard. There, in a small room on the fourth floor, the 74-year-old prisoner will rest before his arraignment. The hospital provided a free room, remembering past beneficences by Insull.

At noon a surety bond for $200,000, already signed by Insull himself, was approved by United States Attorney Dwight H. Green and signed by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan. The bond was furnished by the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York.

Insull was taken in hand by Deputy Sheriffs, who served warrants, alleging larceny and embezzlement from funds of the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment Co., and took him to Criminal Courts Building on the west side. There property had already been scheduled toward the $50,000 bond required on the State charges.

Challenges Jurisdiction.

Insull refused to acknowledge the jurisdiction of the United States District Court and uttered no plea to the charges of violating the Bankruptcy Act and using the mails fraudulently in selling utility stocks.

Taken from the county jail earlier today for his formal arraignment before Judge Sullivan, Insull remained silent while his counsel entered a plea challenging his seizure in the harbor of Istanbul, Turkey, as illegal and refusing to plead him guilty or not guilty.

His fellow defendants on the bankruptcy charge, however, entered their pleas of not guilty, and Judge Sullivan, without discussing the merit of Insull's contention, postponed the hearing until next Tuesday.

Meets Former Associates.

For the first time since Insull left Chicago two years ago, he came face to face with his former associates. One by one they walked past him, leaning over for a hand shake or a pat on the shoulder, while Insull remained seated. Notably missing was Martin Insull, who forestalled trial on the Federal charges by the terms of his extradition from Canada and, awaiting trial by the State, has not yet come up from his Morocco (Ind.) retreat to visit his elder brother.

United States Attorney Green questioned Floyd E. Thompson's status as Insull's attorney. Green halted the proceedings to say that he thought Thompson ought to file formal notice of his retention as Insull's representative.

"I can't file such a notice," Thompson replied. "This is a special plea entered by Mr. Insull personally. We do not admit the jurisdiction of the court in this case."

The petition attacking jurisdiction made clear that Insull was appearing against his will solely to protest against his detention.

Judge Sullivan gave the defendant until June 18 to attack the indictment after Green had said this arrangement would satisfy the Government.

The other defendants pleaded not guilty with the reservation that the pleas might be withdrawn in 30 days to permit filing of motions to quash or to demur to the indictment.

Thompson held that Turkish po-

'ATTACKING' FLEET TAKES CANAL KEY CITY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ABOARD U. S. S. CHICAGO WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET, May 11. — The United States fleet's Panama Canal defense problem ended yesterday with the attacking Blue forces "holding" Culebra, assumed in the maneuvers to be a key position.

Under cover of a "bombardment" from protecting battleships, the Blues landed 1600 Marines at Culebra, and took the position, in spite of "heavy reprisals" by the Grays.

Most of the "damage" inflicted by the Gray fleet resulted from a kind of guerilla "warfare," featured by "hit and run" tactics. "Aerial bombing" by the Gray air forces "sank" the airplane carriers Lexington and Saratoga, attached to the Blue fleet, and the Blue fleet's air forces suffered "heavy losses."

"Air bombing" and destroyer "attacks," massed against Gray cruisers, beat them off time after time, and several were "sunk" by torpedoes.

The airship Macon, hanging over the Gray position, found herself the center of buzzing pursuit ships which inflicted severe "damage" on her huge hull.

Throughout the problem wartime conditions were accurately simulated. During the daylight hours, air "fights" and aerial "bombing" shared the vast Caribbean stage with cruiser and battleship engagements. At night submarines made their furtive "attacks."

Declaring that the "entire fleet has gained much valuable experience in prompt handling of unexpected tactical situations of every kind," Admiral Sellers, commanding, said:

"I believe the tactical readiness of the U. S. fleet has been raised to a considerably higher standard as a result of the continuous work of all the officers and men."

Communists Create Uproar When Plans for Anti-Nazi Meetings Go Awry.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Five hundred Communists, angered when plans for anti-Nazi meetings went awry, created an uproar in night court shortly before last midnight, demanding an "open court" and defying officers to keep them out.

Police reserves were called, and finally drove the Communists away, using clubs. Retreating, they shouted derisively, and mocked the police. Twenty-six men and nine women were arrested and held for hearings today.

LUKE LEA AND HIS SON PUT IN PRISON STRIPES

Begin Terms at Raleigh, N. C., Father Issues Statement on "Terrible Wrong."

By the Associated Press.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 11. — A six-minute ceremony at North Carolina State's prison late yesterday brought to an end the fight that Luke Lea, former United States Senator from Tennessee, and his son, Luke Lea Jr., had waged for nearly three years to escape prison sentences for violation of State banking laws.

With the new designations of "No. 29,408" and "No. 29,409," the Leas are garbed in prison stripes. Today they will be fingerprinted, photographed and given physical examinations. They will then take their place among the prison "unemployed" until tasks turn up for them.

The elder Lea is under a sentence of from six to 10 years. His son has the alternative of paying $25,000 in fines or serving a term of from two to six years. They were convicted here in 1931 on charges growing out of the failure of the $17,000,000 Central Bank and Trust Co.

As soon as the former Senator, who also was publisher of a chain of Tennessee newspapers and known as "maker of governors" because of his political power, had finished bathing he was given prison clothes. The same procedure was followed for his son.

Then the two had their first prison supper consisting of beans, cabbage, rice and salmon cooked together, hot biscuits, peach pie and water.

At Statesville Mrs. Lea, wife of the elder Lea, lunched with her husband and son and two deputies. She came to Raleigh with another son, Percy Lea.

NRA REPLY TO BE PUBLISHED ALONG WITH DARROW REPORT

Criticism of Codes and Supervisors' Defense Likely to Be Issued Next Week.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—When the Darrow report on NRA is published—probably next week—a reply from NRA officials will be made public. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, said today he had instructed his division administrators to write reports on the codes attacked in the board's report to President Roosevelt.

"That was an ex-parte report," Johnson said of the Darrow document, "which I have a perfect right to answer at the same time it is made public. No one ever entered into anything with more good faith than I did in the creation of that board. Whatever blame there may be I take upon myself because I asked for it."

Johnson also said at his press conference that NRA was undertaking a study of small codes with a view to "coagulating them" or abondoning them altogether.

BORAH, NYE SAY DARROW REPORT IS SUPPRESSED

CHARGES OTHER DATA HAVE BEEN HUSHED

'Strange President Finds It Difficult to Digest 6000 Words'—'Only Recourse to Go to Bat in Senate for Inquiry.'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senatorial investigation of the NRA and publication of the Darrow report condemning it, are demanded by Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota. He is aroused because the Darrow report has been temporarily sidetracked. The President has sent it to a special committee for study before releasing it.

It was learned that other reports from Government agencies attacking the NRA as creating monopoly and causing price-fixing adding millions to consumers' costs have been suppressed.

The Darrow report charges consumers are mulcted of millions of dollars through NRA codes. It demands drastic revisions in codes.

Nye charged efforts were being made to suppress the report pending the adjournment of Congress and an expected NRA publicity campaign.

Senator Nye declared: "It is strange the President finds difficulty in digesting a report Darrow tells me is only 6000 words long. If this suppression continues, my only recourse is to go to bat in the Senate."

Attacks Roosevelt's Action.

Nye termed Mr. Roosevelt's action in distributing copies of Darrow's report to the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission and to the NRA for a digest as "foolishness." He said it carried a summary and "everybody knows Clarence Darrow writes plain English."

Borah remarked "The President's action speaks for itself" and added: "Any lawyer knows that the suppression of evidence is a sure sign that it is damaging to the one who suppresses it."

Borah hoped he would not have to take part in any move to force the President to act.

Suppression Denounced.

The two Senators received word that Darrow's report found eight codes operating to the disadvantage of small business and recommended the removal of at least one code authority for malfeasance.

"When we heard that Mr. Darrow and a majority of the board were about to point out in plain terms how the NRA had hurt small business and how the NRA must be changed if this evil were to be corrected, we believed that the President would welcome the board's report," said Nye. "We supposed he would be ready to go down the line. Instead, we find him suppressing the report and shrinking from having its criticism made public."

Reports Held Up.

Among documents withheld at NRA are official reports from the Federal Trade Commission. These include:

A report attacking the electrical manufacturing code, submitted to NRA Dec. 30, 1933, and in its files ever since.

A similar report on the retail lumber industry.

Other reports on lumber and lumber products, building materials, and builders supply trade industries.

All were submitted to NRA several months ago.

In addition, the Commission's steel code report charging price-fixing and monopoly was kept secret for three months. It became public only through Senate demand.

The suppressed report for the electrical manufacturing code was signed by Walter Wooden and Richard T. Whitely, special commission attorneys. It says: "There are several provisions of the code for the electrical industry as approved Aug. 4, 1933, which in practice may tend to eliminate or oppress small enterprises, discriminate against them and thus to promote monopolies, all of which results the National Recovery Industrial Act expressly prohibits."

SENATE REJECTS MARKET CONTROL BY TRADE BOARD

Plan for Regulation by New Commission Wins, 51 to 29—Vote Likely Today on Entire Bill.

RAILROADS NEED NOT MAKE REPORTS

Amendment Accepted Which Also Exempts Telegraph, Telephone and Pipe Line Firms.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—An amendment to the stock market ocntrol bill to exempt railroads from making reports required by the measure was adopted today by the Senate.

The amendment, offered by Senator Steiwer (Rep.), Oregon, was accepted by those in charge of the bill as they pushed for a final vote on the proposed legislation. Steiwer argued the railroads should not be required to make the reports demanded of other corporations because the carriers are already compelled to make detailed reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

An amendment by Senator Duffy (Dem.), Wisconsin, to exempt from the reporting provisions corporations required to report to State governments was rejected. Senator Kean (Rep.), New Jersey, spoke for the amendment and offered several other modifications in the bill. He told the Senate bucket shops already were springing up all over the country in expectation of the strict regulation proposed.

Another Steiwer amendment, to exempt telephone, telegraph, and pipe line companies from the reporting provisions of the bill, subsequent to the registration of their stock, also was adopted. These companies, Steiwer said, were required to file reports with the Interstate Commerce Commission, but that commission did not have veto power over their securities issues as it did over those of the railroads. He proposed therefore to subject them to the requirements of the stock law in registering securities.

Rejects Trade Board Plan.

The Senate late yesterday voted that control should be exercised by a special commission instead of the Federal Trade Commission, as provided in the House bill.

An amendment by Costigan (Dem.), Colorado, to adopt the trade commission plan, was rejected, 51 to 29.

Before a final vote on the exchange bill leaders predicted approval of the Fletcher amendment to the Securities Act of 1933 to place its administration under the special commission designed to regulate the stock markets.

Asserting "you can't protect suckers" by passing laws, Senator Hastings (Rep.) of Delaware yesHastings (Rep.), Delaware, yesinite beginning" of the transition of business from private to governmental control.

Refers to Insull Bail.

"We are about to do that which we frequently do when the public is excited and there is a great prejudice created against a certain institution. Congress is influenced by a public opinion which does not know all the facts."

The same, he said, was true of the judiciary in some cases and he pointed to the Insull case and the fixing of the bail that he said was unconstitutional, as an example. Senator Lewis (Dem.), Illinois, interrupted to remark that the Judge in question was a Hoover appointee.

Provisions of Bill.

Major provisions of the Stock Market Bill; as it approached a final vote, were:

Creation of a commission of five members appointed by the President to regulate the exchanges.

Registration of exchanges with the commission.

Prohibition of manipulative practices.

Power for the commission to limit the combination of broker and dealer activities by members of exchanges.

Registration of securities listed on exchanges, with submission of reports from the parent corporations on their financial operations.

Requirements for reports by officers, directors, and large stockholders of their holdings in the stock of their companies.

Authority for purchasers of securities to collect damages when their purchases were based on misrepresentation or misleading statements.

SAYS UNLICENSED FIRM GOT CITY CONTRACT

Service Board Head Asks Counselor About Award for Auditorium Draperies.

President Brown of the Board of Public Service has asked the City Counselor's office what the board can do to insure that contracts let by it shall go to concerns licensed to do business in Missouri.

Inquiry was caused by the discovery that the Twin Cities Scenic Co. of Minneapolis, to which the contract for draperies for the Municipal Auditorium was let for $14,883, has no license to do business in Missouri.

The Missouri statutes, Section 4596, state that a foreign corporation, that is, one incorporated in another State, must have such a license before it can do business in Missouri. Minnesota has a similar law, which has been enforced against St. Louis business concerns.

Records of the Secretary of State's office do not show that the Minneapolis concern ever took out a license in Missouri. The license fee is $61.50, and the penalty for doing business in the State without license is a fine up to $1000. Secretary of State Brown says that when failure to take out license is due to inadvertence, penalties are not invoked, but taking out of a license is required.

There were six other bidders for the Auditorium draperies contract, let Jan. 26, the three largest St. Louis department stores being among the bidders. The unsuccessful bids ran from $15,814 up to $34,495.

"Under the city charter," President Brown said, "we were required to give the contract to the lowest bidder, as we did. Such contracts are referred to the City Counselor's office for approval. I would like to favor concerns which pay taxes in this city and State, if there is any way to do it, and have asked the Counselor's office about this."

LITTLE DROUTH RELIEF IN SIGHT FOR WEST

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Apprehension over the Middle West's crop prospects continues with the only note of hope forecast of local showers tonight in Nebraska and North and South Dakota, and in Iowa tomorrow. Elsewhere no relief was in sight.

"The weather," said the official forecaster, "will be fair almost generally Friday in the North-Central states, but unsettled conditions are likely in parts of the Great Plains area, with some prospects of local showers in that section by Friday night or Saturday."

Light showers have fallen in the Chicago area—the first in twenty-eight days—and in Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas, but they were regarded as of little value. The Chicago Board of Trade took cognizance of the situation and the prices of all future deliveries of wheat went up five cents yesterday. Prices continued to advance on the east, but later fell under yesterday's figures.

Whipped by strong winds, the dust clouds from the vast plains of Western Canada swept across the border with undying intensity yesterday, befogging much of the area from Montana on the west, Texas on the south and the Ohio Valley on the east. The dust had disappeared in that area today, but spread over states farther east.

Experts said the "black blizzards" were without precedent in intensity and the area involved within the past twenty years.

Blinded by dust, a woman was killed in a motor vehicle accident near Dupres, S. D., another woman died at Sykeston, N. D., when pinned beneath a chicken coop, blown over by the high wind.

So serious was the water shortage in some localities that municipal embargoes were established on drinking water.

U. S. COURT DISMISSES GOLD NOTE REDEMPTION TEST SUIT

Holds Action, If Any, Is Against the Government and Not Secretary of Treasury.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A suit by Halsey K. Davis of New York designed to test the legality of President Roosevelt's order forbidding the redemption of gold certificates in gold coin, was dismissed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday by Justice Jennings Bailey, who held the Treasury Secretary could not be compelled to redeem the paper money.

Davis contended the act of Congress authorizing the President to forbid redemption of the paper money was unconstitutional in that it deprived him of his property without due process of law, and that his private property was taken for public use without just compensation.

Justice Bailey's opinion said:

"The claim of the plaintiff is at best one for breach of contract on the part of the United States. The Secretary of the Treasury does not hold any specific coins as a special deposit or in trust for the holder of a gold certificate. The plaintiff's right of action, if any, is against the United States, and he cannot obtain relief through mandamus proceedings against the Secretary of the Treasury."

FRIENDS URGING COCHRAN TO ENTER RACE FOR SENATE

St. Louis Congressman Tells of Letters, Says It Is Too Early to Give Definite Answer.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Congressman John J. Cochran of St. Louis today said he had received many letters from personal friends advising him to seek the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

"Apparently there will be a number of candidates and my friends feel I have a chance for the nomination," said Cochran. "I have, at no time, indicated that I intended to file. Within a week the situation will be cleared up and we will know who the candidates will be. It is now too early to give a definite answer to my friends."

Cochran Led Missouri Congressional Ticket in 1932.

Cochran has been in Congress about 10 years. If he runs he will have the support of influential Democrats in St. Louis and elsewhere in the State. In the last general election, when Missouri's 13 Congressmen were elected at large, he led the congressional ticket, receiving 1,013,824 votes, 9654 more than the next highest candidate. In that campaign he made speeches throughout the State, first seeking nomination by State-wide vote and then election.

The Pendergast machine in Kansas City is not likely to support Cochran, but is expected to have its own candidate. James P. Aylward, chairman of the Jackson County Democratic Committee and close friend of Boss Tom Pendergast, announced recently that he would not run. It is understood, however, that Pendergast has promised to support Congressman Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas City in case the latter seeks the nomination. If Shannon doesn't run, Pendergast is expected to sponsor Harry S. Truman, county judge of Jackson County.

Milligan Enters Race.

Congressman Shannon was in St. Louis last evening but made no announcement of his plans. Formal announcement of candidacy, however, was made here last night by another Missouri Congressman, Jacob L. Milligan of Richmond, who has the support of Senator Bennett C. Clark. Another avowed candidate is Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff, speaker of the House of Representatives of the tSate Legislature.

A factor disturbing some of the prospective candidates among whom is Congressman Ralph F. Lozier of Carrollton, is the attitude of former Senator James A. Reed. It has been widely reported that Reed would be a candidate but so far he has refrained from definitely commiting himself.

The senatorial seat to be filled is that occupied by Roscoe C. Patterson, Republican, who has announced that he will seek re-election.

Praise for Roosevelt.

Milligan, while here, gave out a statement in which he praised the leadership of President Roosevelt, and said that he, Milligan, had supported every measure recommended by the President. Regarding some current issues, he said:

"Trade treaties are necessary, also a competitive tariff policy that will protect American labor, yet regain for us our foreign markets where we sold our surpluses. When this is done and the farmer is put on an equal footing with other classes of our citizens many of the emergency farm relief measures can be repealed.

"Notwithstanding the emergency relief program, the ordinary running expenses of the Government should be reduced to a minimum, tax burdens reduced wherever possible. National credit must be maintained. This can only be done by balancing annually the Federal budget.

"It is imperative that a sound currency be preserved and the purchasing power of the American dollar remain stabilized.

Equitable Distribution.

"Legitimate business should not be hampered, as it only results in unemployment. There should be an equitable distribution of the products of capital and labor. Safe working conditions should be provided for labor. Labor should maintain the right of collective bargaining and organized labor should be allowed to choose its own representatives without coercion or interference from any course or by any means.

"I have always opposed the cancelation of the debts owning the United States by foreign nations. I believe in a firm constructive foreign policy, and the settlement of international disputes by arbitration. I am opposed to interference in the internal affairs of other nations or the joining of any international organization that permits interference by other nations in the internal affairs of our country. In my opinion, we should maintain an army and navy adequate for national defense."

EXTORTION PLOTS BY SIX ALLEGED IN U.S. INDICTMENTS

Three Accused of Attempting to Get $5000 From Louis Hager Jr., Named in True Bills.

Indictments charging four men and two youths with attempted extortion were returned by the Federal Grand Jury today in a partial report to Judge Faris. The offense, under the Cochran act, is punishable by prison terms of 20 years and fines of $10,000. Those named in the indictments are:

George W. Chisholm, accused of threatening Thomas N. Dysart, former securities dealer now chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to get back $2500 he invested in bonds now in default.

Herbert Rinaldi, 18 years old, accused of demanding $2000 from Mrs. Mildred Fulbright, whose daughter he accidentally shot.

Lopez, formerly Hager's chauffeur, and Haime were arrested last March in New Orleans, and Cubano was taken into custody here. Lopez and Haime admitted sending 10 notes to Hager, offering to forestall an intended kidnaping of his three-year-old son Louis Hager III, in return for the money. They named Cubano as a party to the plot.

Chisholm, 65 years old, has denied writing a letter to Dysart threatening to "pop him off" unless he "did something about those Pontchartrain bonds." St. Louis residents invested about $1,000,000 in the bonds, part of a $5,500,000 issue which financed a bridge across Lake Pontchartrain near New Orleans. Chisholm, former office manager for a fuel and material company, lives in Kirkwood.

Victor Lande wrote two notes to Seay, who is a vice-president of the Ralston Purina Co., the first demanding $500, the second $1000. The first contained an implied threat, the second warned: "You might wake up some night and find your wife——?" The boy said he wrote Seay because he had met his son, Herbert, who sponsored a boys' club, and knew that the elder Seay "had a good job." Victor lives at 1378 Goodfellow boulevard.

Rinaldi fired a shot from a small revolver last Feb. 20 which accidentally struck Mary Jane Fulbright, 13-year-old University City junior high school student. When he read of her injury, he said, it occurred to him that he might get some money out of it, so he wrote to her mother, a teacher at the De Mun School in Clayton, telling her the shooting was no accident and that her daughter might be killed unless he was paid $2000.

Fast Detroit to Brooklyn Flight.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 11.—Col. Roscoe Turner, speed flyer, flew into Floyd Bennett Airport today from Detroit, in 1 hour, 47 minutes, 21 second. The distance is about 500 miles. In 1932 Lieutenant-Commander Frank Hawks flew from Detroit to Newark, N. J., in 2 hours and 26 minutes.

$1,250,000,000 ESTIMATED RELIEF NEED FOR NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The administration's estimate of the amount that will be required for emergency relief during the fiscal year starting July 1, is approximately $1,250,000,000, it is disclosed today from an authoritative source.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration now has in its treasury $400,000,000, which is the remainder of appropriations totaling $1,850,000,000 within the last year. It is spending at the rate of approximately $100,000,000 a month. Total expenditures in April were slightly more than $90,000,000.

The original appropriation, made by Congress a year ago, was $500,000,000. Then Secretary Ickes supplied an additional $400,000,000 to support the Civil Works Administration program. In January Congress appropriated $950,000,000 more, of which the $400,000,000 is all that remains.

The administration has not yet decided whether it will ask Congress to appropriate for the full fiscal year or merely for the remainder of the calendar year. Harry Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator, expects to have approximately $250,000,000 left on hand July 1. If it is decided to ask for an appropriation to support the relief program for a full year, the bill which is sent to Congress from the White House probably will provide for the appropriation of $1,000,000,000, since Hopkins thinks that $1,250,000,000 will be needed for that period.

Between Jan. 15 and April 1, more than 4,000,000 men, who have been employed by the Civil Works Administration, were laid off. Some of them have been re-employed in the works division of the Relief Administration—set up to supplant the CWA, but the number is not large. Consequently the number of unemployed in the country is several million more than it was on the first of the year.

The situation is a source of grave concern to the administration and is largely responsible for its disposition to ask Congress for a larger single appropriation than has yet been made for relief.

lice acted as the agent of the United States in boarding the chartered Greek freighter Maiotis, that Insull's removal from the ship, its detention at the Port of Istanbul, and his delivery to Burton Y. Berry, American diplomat, were illegal.

Basis of First Trial.

A stock-selling campaign, which the Government says took $100,000,000 from investors, will be the basis of Insull's first trial.

The stock—some 4,400,000 shares—was sold in 1929 and 1930 when Insull, at the height of his power, the Government contends, suddenly found his rule threatened by Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland capitalist. Eaton had bought up Insull shares, and it was going to cost millions to buy him off.

In this emergency, prosecutors said, Insull organized the Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago, a company to own stock in other Insull companies and to sell stock.

It had a short life. After bouncing as high as $101 a share in 1930, the stock was on the counter at four-for-a-dollar in 1932. That fall the firm was adjudged bankrupt, without enough money to pay for an inventory.

The selling literature used in getting buyers for this stock caused Government investigation. The indictment in the mail fraud case, returned on Feb. 27, 1933, reprints some. One slogan was "Securities that Endure." Readers were told "there is no safer road to prosperity than this."

When Insull faced his stockholders in 1921, an angry woman shareholder pointed out that with operating companies, holding companies and one investment trust, Insull had no need for Corporation Securities.

"Why did you organize it?" she asked Insull.

"We needed some more money, madam," said he.

When the receivers went into the books, before reporting the company bankrupt, they said they found that to buy Eaton out had cost $28,000,000. He had acquired shares of Commonwealth Edison Co., People's Gas, Light & Coke Co., and Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, and he asked a flat price of $350 a share to sell them back.

Although the indictment is concerned mainly with the use of the mails to spread literature, circulars, etc., it charges too that Insull's forces juggled the stock in the market while selling it. Using funds of other Insull companies, says the indictment, they bought and sold Corporation Securities stock, to keep it at fancy market prices.

Little investors were welcomed, and on one occasion, the indictment says, special easy terms were offered. Stock in eight Insull companies was offered, in one circular, for as little as $5 down on blocks of 25 to 50 shares.

$65,364 PLEDGED IN DRIVE FOR JEWISH WELFARE FUND

Campaign for $102,900 to Close May 19—First Report Meeting Held.

Subscriptions totaling $65,364 in the Jewish Welfare Fund campaign for $102,900 were announced at the first report meeting of workers at Hotel Statler today.

Of the total subscribed $59,000 had been reported by the special gifts committee at the opening of the campaign yesterday. The drive will close May 19.

Twice Wed, Sues Again for Divorce

Ollie A. Maier, manager of the Ludwig Music House, Inc., 709 Pine street, filed suit yesterday to divorce Mrs. Marie Maier, 4622 Shenendoah avenue, alleging general indignities. The petition sets forth that they were married twice, the first time April 16, 1925, and the second on July 25, 1929. They separated last month. Maier asks for custody of a child, Jackie Gail Maier, 7 years old.

WORLD WHEAT PARLEY BREAKS UP OVER PRICE PLAN

London Conference Adjourns Until June 27 When Argentina Rejects Fixed Minimum.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 11.—The world wheat conference broke down tonight when Argentina refused to accept the proposed minimum price plan.

Shortly after the conference adjourned, late tonight, until June 27, it was learned that some importing countries, including Great Britain, had not given their approval to the plan, but Argentina was described as the only real holdout.

Delegates had been hopeful, however, of ultimate success, but Argentina today communicated her refusal to accept the proposition, thereby wrecking the conference.

Dr. Tomas A. Le Breton, the Argentine delegate, held up both the morning and afternoon sessions, apparently awaiting final instructions from his Government before joining the other delegates.

Two long sessions were held last night by representatives of Argentina, the United States, Canada and Australia. One of these, held in Le Breton's hotel, lasted until after midnight.

The accusation that Argentina was "dumping" was made by one of the European delegates.

No decision was reached on a minimum price agreement but the sub-committee in charge of the study in the matter will meet again next week. The adjourned conference will assemble in London again.

A Russian delegate said his Government favored the plan. He said it would settle a long-disputed quota issue between Russia and other big wheat exporters. Russia's exports, he added, have reached 33,000,000 bushels. He indicated Russia would accept a quota for the next cereal year beginning July 31.

FOR NRA 'HOUSECLEANING'

Pennsylvania Federation of Labor Asks President to Act.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, in convention here, today called on President Roosevelt to "inaugurate immediately a thorough housecleaning of the NRA and labor board staffs, from top to bottom."

In a resolution adopted at the convention's closing session, the Federation also requested the President to "remove every official who has been guilty of acts tending to discriminate against workers and to allow their continued intimidation by industry."

DEMOCRATS FIRE ENGINEER HORNER; HE'S REPUBLICAN

X Marks the Spot Where a G. O. P. Man Is Struck Off as Committee Goes Down List of Employes.

Wesley W. Horner, designer of the $11,000,000 River des Peres sewer, was removed from the city payroll today, when the Democratic majority in the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen took up the professional personnel of the Board of Public Service. The committee is eliminating jobs of Republicans held over from the last administration, with the understanding that the jobs will be restored later, and deserving Democrats appointed to them.

Horner, who entered the city's engineering service in the Wells administration, was chief engineer of streets and sewers under the Miller administrations, at $6000 a year. Last year, when some Democrats demanded his removal, President Brown of the Board of Public Service kept him as consulting engineer, at $3600 a year, with the understanding that he would spend some time on the advisory board of the Federal PWA. The PWA position was paid by the day, the Government paying members of the advisory board $30 each for every day that the board sat.

Two other engineering employes of the Board of Public Service were treated in the same manner by the Ways and Means Committee, their jobs being eliminated. These were W. R. Crecelius, assistant division engineer of bridges and buildings, whose salary was $4500 a year; and Hector Updyke, mechanical engineer, $2760. Both were holdover employes, and were understood to be Republicans.

Plea Against Politics.

A resolution adopted by the Executive Committee of the League of Women Voters, and one which is to be presented to the St. Louis Medical Society next Tuesday night, were read to the committee. Both dealt with the committee's action yesterday in eliminating the $3000 salary of Miss Elizabeth Brezee, vital statistician, who came here from Albany, N. Y., to take the place.

The resolution to be offered to the physicians was read by Dr. John C. Morfit, former Hospital Commissioner. It states that it is desirable to appoint resident voting citizens when their qualifications meet the requirements, and that it is equally proper to appoint qualified non-residents when it is not reasonably possible to find resident applicants of proper qualifications. The resolution asked, therefore, that an examination for the position of vital statistician be held by the Efficiency Board, in which Miss Brezee should be permitted to compete, and that the place be awarded on the result of the examination.

The women's resolution, presented by Mrs. Ralph Thayer and Miss Jeane Blythe, was a plea against politics in the Health Department. It brought the reply that the question as to Miss Brezee had been not one of party affiliation, but of residence. The aldermen yesterday, however, questioned Director of Public Welfare Darst as to the party politics of several men in important positions in the health service.

Another resolution, passed by the Health and Hospital Department of the Community Council, and protesting against politics in the health service, was presented to the committee by Dr. Llewellyn Sale, chairman of the group.

Precept and Practice.

Just after assuring the women that there was no intention to put the Health Department into politics, the committee summoned Health Commissioner Bredeck and asked him about the political affiliations of J. B. Koen, chief controller of food, meat and milk for the department.

They asked whether Koen had attended Republican conferences at Collector Koeln's home, and whether he had permitted a certain food concern, in which Republican politicians were interested, to operate, after complaints had been made against it on sanitary grounds.

Bredeck said he did not know about the conferences at Koeln's house, but that the case of the food concern was handled by Dr. Bredeck himself. Bredeck said he permitted the company to operate after it had removed the conditions which were complained of.

Koen was called in, and Alderman Golden asked him how he voted in the mayoralty election, and whether he made a campaign contribution. He replied that he voted for the Republican candidate, Judge Neun, and gave $20 to his campaign fund, making the gift at the request of Max Kaufman, then Assistant Health Commissioner. He said he voted for Hoover for President in 1932. When Golden asked how he meant to vote in future, Koen smiled, and Golden withdrew the question.

A wheelbarrow-load of card index boxes, records of the Efficiency Board, was in the committee room. The cards contained the names of the 6000 city employes, and their length of service, showing in most cases whether the person is a holdover from the Republican regime.

"Let's stay here till midnight if we have to," Alderman Slay urged his fellow-members, "but let's clean this list out. Let's tell all department heads to be ready to appear here if summoned."

X Marks the Spot.

Other members also showed a desire to extend and speed up the work, which the committee began yesterday, of making X-marks on the margin of the budget bill, to indicate persons and activities to be eliminated. The committee yesterday X-marked the name of Max Ziegenbein, statistician for the Board of Public Service, and for more than 20 years a city employe. Alderman Golden told the other committee members that Ziegenbein was a Republican precinct captain in the Twenty-seventh Ward before removing to his present home in the Thirteenth Ward.

Today the committee looked into the party standing of L. A. Pettus, division engineer for the Board of Public Service at $5000 a year. It found that, while he was first employed under a Republican city administration in 1925, he supported Mayor Dickmann in the 1933 campaign, being head of a Democratic engineers' group in the campaign.

"I intended to promote him to Mr. Horner's place later on," President Brown said when asked about Pettus.

"Well," said Chairman Lietchen "you may not be promoting him at all, because he may be out." But the committee decided that it would be sufficient to cut Pettus' pay to $4500. Some members remarked that engineers were being too highly paid.

The committee reduced the salary of Frank Kritz, assistant division engineer, from $4500 to $4000. Nothing was said about Kritz's politics.

The eliminations of jobs and cutting of activities by the committee, today and yesterday, exceeds $100,000, but the salary part of this will not be saved to the city, as it is the plan to restore the places with Democratic incumbents.

"But we don't want these same guys put back in these jobs," Chairman Lietchen announced for the benefit of President Brown and other department heads. "We won't pass the budget bill until we know about that."

LEGAL AID HEAD ADMITS SUGGESTING LAWYERS

James Nangle Says City Advisory Bureau Cannot Handle All Cases.

James Nangle, attorney in charge of the city's Legal Aid Bureau, in reply to an inquiry today, said he had sent cases to attorneys in private practice.

"The bureau averages from 2000 to 2500 applications for advice a month," Nangle explained. "With only two lawyers it is impossible to handle that many cases. It has been my practice during the year I have been in charge to send cases to lawyers whom I regarded as competent to handle the individual situation. We do not try to favor one lawyer, but have divided the cases among possibly 20 attorneys."

Frank Boland, 418 Olive street, was one of the attorneys to whom divorce cases were sent.

Nangle pointed out that the bureau does not handle matters requiring trial in Circuit Court. Many applicants ask advice in hiring counsel, he said. "Our record is an open book and we are happy to answer all questions regarding our methods," the attorney asserted.

The city charter provides, with reference to the Legal Aid Bureau, that "such aid may be furnished by said bureau, either without charge therefor or with such slight charges as the Director of Public Welfare may from time to time prescribe or approve."

HELD ON CHARGE OF HAVING ONE WIFE TOO MANY

Machinist Arrested on Complaint of No. 3 Who Says He Wants to Be a 'Big Shot.'

Oliver Burneson, 35-year-old machinist, "who liked to wear good clothes and appear a big shot," is under arrest at Newstead Avenue Police Station on a charge of having one wife too many.

Mrs. Mary Conrad Burneson, who on last Jan. 1 became Mrs. Burneson No. 3, had the machinist arrested Wednesday, asserting he threatened to disfigure her. She told police that she recently learned that he still is the husband of wife No. 2, Mrs. Lydia Burneson, 3432 Arlington avenue.

Mrs. Mary Burneson, 23 years old and attractive, who resides at 4142 Maryland avenue, told reporters today that she had known the machinist for three years and had once tried to effect a reconciliation between him and his second wife. Her efforts were unsuccessful, and Burneson left town.

Last December, she related, Burneson wrote her from Boonville, where he was employed, stating he had divorced wife No. 2. He came to St. Louis during the Christmas holidays and she married him.

Then Letter Arrives.

Burneson took his bride to Boonville, and two months of happy married life followed, she said. Her first intimation that her husband's statement regarding his divorce was incorrect came, she said, when he received a letter from a St. Louis attorney representing wife No. 2.

"He still swore that he was divorced," Mrs. Burneson stated. "He quit his job in Boonville and we went to Indiana for a while, and then came to St. Louis. I called on Mrs. Lydia Burneson and she told me she is still his wife. I tried to get him to divorce one of us, but he would not spend the money for a lawyer. He would rather buy good clothes and act the big shot. Recently he has been threatening me, and I'm afraid of him."

Burneson, against whom warrants will be sought today, admits he has been married three times, police say. The first marriage, 17 years ago, ended in divorce. His second venture in matrimony was 10 years ago. He told police he married the third time under the belief that this second wife had divorced him after two years' separation.

Mrs. Lydia Burneson was interviewed by police, who reported she declined to file a complaint.

DANCER MUST STAND TRIAL DESPITE MARRIAGE TO ACTRESS

"Guilty of Assault or Someone Is Guilty of Perjury," Los Angeles Court Declares.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 11.—Despite his marriage to the complaining witness, R. C. (Dapper Danny) Dowling, movie dance director, must stand trial on kidnaping charges. Accused of kidnaping Mrs. Marjorie Crawford Wellman, former actress, whom he married a week ago, Dowling appeared arm-in-arm with his bride before Judge Fletcher Bowron yesterday and heard his case set for trial in Superior Court June 5.

At his preliminary hearing, Mrs. Wellman alleged Dowling had forced her under threat of death to accompany him to Yuma, Ariz., where she escaped marrying him by pleading illness.

"Certain portions of the kidnaping story appeared improbable," Judge Bowron commented in overruling a prosecution motion for a dismissal, "but there is evidence on record that Dowling was guilty of assault or someone is guilty of perjury."

Dismissal of the charge had been requested by Buron Fitts, District Attorney, after Dowling told him he and Mrs. Wellman were married. Deputies of the District Attorney's office said a wife must testify against her husband if she is the injured party.

also said that on leaving the Gettle estate late the afternoon before the abduction he came upon a woman sitting in an automobile outside the entrance gates. He said she questioned him about the family and drove off hurriedly when he became suspicious.

It was disclosed also that a young man appeared at a drug store in a building owned by Gettle in Westwood, Los Angeles suburb, inquiring for information about Gettle.

Newspapers received a typewritten note, on the stationery of a San Francisco hotel and bearing the signature "Bill—611—Colonial Style," asking the kidnapers to get in touch with the writer and saying Gettle would know who he was.

Gettle, 46 years old, was born in Davis, Ok., and formerly managed 22 stores in a national chain store system. Since 1929 he has engaged in management of investments. His fortune is estimated at $3,500,000, made largely through investments in oil. His wife formerly was Freda Girten of Kansas City, Mo., to whom he was married in 1924. The children are Billy and Betty, twins, 8 years old; Bobby, 5; Jimmy, 4.

SIX HELD FOR TREATING FEET WITHOUT LICENSE

Arrests Follow Investigation by Policewomen Who Posed as Patients.

Policewomen with foot troubles received first call for duty in an investigation that has engaged their branch of the Police Department for the last three weeks. They have been investigating chiropodists.

This phase of police work, it was revealed today, was performed by receiving treament for foot ailments, real or imiginary, and determining by artful questioning whether the chiropodist had a State license.

The investigation was concluded yesterday when detectives, on information the policewomen had given them, arrested four men and two women, charged with practicing chiropody without a license.

All were released on $500 bonds, returnable next Wednesday in Judge Dickmann's court of Criminal Correction. They are Charles Lasky, 6255 Delmar boulevard; Benjamin F. Christmann, 4959 Cote Brilliante avenue; William A. Doefenbronner, 3744A Gravois avenue; Oliver W. Gerland, 3956 Labadie avenue, whose place of business is 211 North Seventh street; Fanny Styles, a Negro known as "Miss Riley," who lives at 4538 Kennerly avenue and works at 410 Washington boulevard; Izetta Raymond, a Negro, 4242 Cook avenue, who formerly operated in the basement of Hotel Chase, but now works in the basement of Hotel Jefferson.

The penalty for practicing chiropody without a license is a jail sentence of not more than one year, a fine of not less than $100 or more than $200, or both.

ALTON COURT JUROR SAYS HE GOT NOTHING TO EAT

Bailiff Asserts He Tried to Buy Food, but County Warrants Were Refused.

A protest against the treatment of a jury in City Court at Alton was made yesterday at a meeting of the Madison County Board of Supervisors by Supervisors Schmoeller of Alton, Bennett of Granite City, and Smith of Venice.

Schmoeller, who was a member of a jury on Tuesday and Wednesday, charged that the jurors were forced to go without food, were given water out of rusty tin cups, and that Deputy Sheriff John Flaherty did not heed their calls from the jury room.

Flaherty, bailiff of the court, said he tried to buy food at three places for the jurors but was unable to do so. The restaurant proprietors would not accept county warrants, he said, because of the county's poor financial condition. The rusty tin cups, he said, were standard equipment.

INSURANCE MAN HANGS HIMSELF IN GARAGE

The body, hanging from a rafter, was found by Cleland's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Schatz, when she returned home at 7:40 p. m.

A note, dated Monday, was found in Cleland's desk. It read: "I can't stand the pain any longer. Take care of my business."

Cleland had been ill a year, his daughter said. A month ago he was found unconscious in his office in the Holland building. A bottle, believed to have contained poison, was at his side. He recovered following treatment at City Hospital.

Bride of Two Days Takes Poison.

ABILENE, Kan., May 11.—Mrs. George Powell, 20 years old, who married George Powell of Trenton, Tex., Tuesday, took her life by poisoning last night. She was seen by passing motorists to fall beside the road two miles east of here. They found a bottle in her hand.

CONVICTED, GETS LIFE FOR HOLDUP MURDER IN 1932

Life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Jefferson City was the punishment fixed by the jury which last night found Jess Hedger Jr. two-time ex-convict, guilty of the murder of Carl Schluster.

The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated for three hours and 10 minutes. Hedger, who is 28 years old, received it impassively. His parents, two sisters and a younger brother, who were in the courtroom, displayed no emotion.

The death penalty had been sought by Assistant Circuit Attorney Hennings in his closing argument to the jury. "Is it not better to exterminate him," Hennings asked, "than to send him to the penitentiary for we do not know how long?"

Charged Police Beat Him.

Hedger's counsel, appointed by the court, had asked the jury to free him, contending Hedger was feeble-minded, and that police had beaten him to obtain a 15-page statement in which he admitted he shot and killed Schlueter and Harry Pollman during an attempted holdup of a beer flat at 1403 South Vandeventer avenue on the night of Feb. 12, 1932.

Neatly dressed in a gray pinstripe suit, Hedger took the stand in his own defenses yesterday to repudiate the statement. He spoke in whispers, complaining that his throat still troubled him as a result of the beating he says policemen gave him two years ago when they obtained his statement.

His answers were laconic and some questions he ignored. Asked how many policemen had beaten him, he held up five fingers. He stood beside the jury box while each juror felt two bumps on his head which, he contends, remain as the effects of the beating. He then combed his hair and returned to the witness stand.

Defendant Curses Prosecutor.

Hedger found his voice when Hennings undertook to cross-examine him. Rising, in a loud, angry voice he cursed the prosecutor, the court and the jury, and announced, "I don't care what you do." He left the witness stand, but was returned by deputy Sheriffs, and then refused to answer questions. Hennings asked if he did not want to be questioned further, and the witness responded with a shouted "no!"

Dr. W. F. McNamee, resident physician at the City Sanitarium, testifying for the State, said Hedger was malingering, that he could speak properly if he chose to. He said he had examined Hedger Wednesday and found him normal, and that members of the Sanitarium staff had examined him last autumn, finding no mental abnormality.

Hedger's own admissions, contained in the signed statement, and mentioned in the testimony of witnesses who heard him admit the killings, were the principal evidence against him in the trial which began Tuesday in Circuit Judge Baron's court. His attorneys were Carl Starkloff and Sidney Frampton.

Schlueter and Pollman were slain less than a month after Hedger had been released from the Nebraska penitentiary, where he served a five-year term for robbery. Previously he had served a five-year term in the Jefferson City penitentiary for robbery.

TUCSON POLICE AGAIN SUSPEND KIDNAPING HUNT

Officers Inactive Second Time to Permit Gang to Send Family New Set of Instructions.

By the Associated Press.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 11.—Police remained inactive today for the second time since 6-year-old June Robles was kidnaped on April 25. The suspension was granted at the request of the Robles family to give the abductors a chance to send a new set of instructions for delivery of the ransom money.

Fernando Robles, father of the girl, announced he was able to raise only $10,000 of the $15,000 ransom demanded. Those who helped him raise that amount, he said, demanded that the girl be produced alive before the money was delivered.

Robles indicated it was useless to attempt to meet the kidnapers under conditions outlined in the original ransom note. A second note, which was understood to have contained proof that the child still was alive, did not change the original instructions.

Authorities still had in custody a Mexican who said he was the original "contact man" for the kidnapers. His story earlier this week sent armed posses across the border in search of the girl.

PATENT SUIT IS DISMISSED

Ex-Convict Sought to Set Aside Transfer.

A suit to set aside the transfer of a half interest in a patent assigned to Sam Silk, 5930 Hamilton terrace, by Herman E. Pitman was dismissed by the latter in Circuit Judge Ryan's court yesterday.

The patent relates to a method by which finger prints may be transferred. Pitman, an ex-convict, said he conveyed the interest as security for a $9500 common-law bond which Silk signed for him, but later when he appeared on the bond and asked Silk to return the patent conveyance the request was refused. Pitman served a penitentiary sentence for grand larceny in the theft of automobile tire inner tubes.

FEDERAL EXPERTS BEGIN STUDY OF DUST EXPLOSION

Department of Agriculture Men Hope to Find Cause of Blast That Killed Six.

An investigation of the grain dust explosion at the Missouri Pacific grain elevator at the foot of Primm street in Carondelet last Tuesday, which killed six workmen and injured six others, was begun today by Dr. David J. Price, engineer in charge of dust explosion investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture, and his assistant, Dr. Hylton R. Brown.

The purpose of their work, they explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter, is to determine the cause of the explosion if possible and obtain data to add to the information they have gathered in years of investigation with a view to preventing recurrence of such accidents.

May Spend Week Here.

Probably a week will be spent in inspecting the elevators and their equipment and interviewing survivors of the explosion. Their findings will be summarized in a report by the Department of Agriculture.

All such explosions, Dr. Price explained, required a spark to ignite the particles of carbonaceous dust in suspension in the air. This spark may be caused by an arcing electric switch, the friction of a shoe nail against concrete or metal, or an electro-static condition brought about, for example, by the friction of a machine belt.

"The ignition sources of explosive dusts are practically identical with those of explosive gases," Dr. Price said. "You can't start your automobile with the ignition turned off and you can't have a dust explosion without a spark. Any sources which will ignite explosive gases will ignite explosive dusts.

Temperature a Factor.

"Different carbonaceous dusts have different ignition temperatures just as gases have," Dr. Price continued. "Also, they have what may be termed upper and lower limits of explosive concentration.

"When you choke your automobile too much, it does not start. There is too great a concentration of gas. The same thing results on a cold day when you don't choke it, because there are insufficient gas molecules in proportion to the oxygen.

"One of the principal factors in the explosion of dust is the degree of fineness. The explosion appears to be nothing more than flame propagation through a very finely and uniformly divided dust cloud. The flame travels at a rapid rate, building up considerable pressure, thereby producing an explosion. Consequently, it has been difficult to determine where the fire ended and the explosion started.

"Dust explosions usually occur in two stages. The original ignition of the explosive dust-air mixture is limited and the explosion not very violent. Howeves, this primary ignition is accompanied by sufficient concussion to shake any settled dust into suspension and this newly formed dust cloud is ignited by the flame from the first ignition. The secondary and more serious explosion occurs. This may be repeated through several explosions.

Blasts Caused by Pressure.

"There have been cases when firemen, fighting a fire in a flour mill, a furniture factory or a food manufacturing establishment, have turned their hoses, unknowingly, on piles of finely powdered products or residue. Ignited by the flame they were fighting, dust clouds created by the pressure of the water, have exploded with fatal effect.

Dr. Brown demonstrated the principle with a small sheet metal model of an elevator and headhouse, the tall structure through which grain is conveyed for loading. The model headhouse of about 400 cubic inches had a circular opening at the top. Over this a sheet of paper was clamped.

A teaspoonful of ordinary cornstarch was placed in the bottom of the headhouse. A bicycle pump forced air into it, filling the interior with fine particles of dust. A spark was provided by a connection with a wall socket and the paper flew from the top with a burst of flame.

In a headhouse, of course, he explained, the roof would cause the explosion to break windows as an escape for the explosive energy and flame. Often, the force is so great that strong reinforced concrete walls are broken.

Dr. Brown pointed to his demonstration kit filled with bottles containing saw dust, flour, powdered coal and numerous other dusts used in demonstrations before organizations interested in various dust hazards.

"The rate at which any substance will be oxidized, or, will burn, is dependent on the surface exposed to the oxygen of the air. The greater the area exposed, the more rapid will be the oxidation; the finer the dust, the greater the surface exposed if the dust is thoroughly mixed with the air as in a cloud. Therefore, the finer the dust, the more inflammable.

"Saw dust, for instance," he said. "There is a good example of dust combustion. A block of wood will burn. Cut off a sliver and it will burn more quickly. Pulverize it and the rapidity increases. A cloud of fine particles, each surrounded by oxygen, and with some spark to set

6 DROWN WHEN AUTO PLUNGES INTO RIVER

By the Associated Press.

HERON, Mont., May 11.—Six persons were drowned when an automobile plunged more than 60 feet down a bank into the Clark's Fork River about two miles west of here last night.

The dead:

W. L. Hagler, 68 years old, driver of the car and a retired rancher.

Mrs. Dera Iseminger, 28, of Long Beach, Cal., daughter of Hagler.

Lulu May and Jean Hagler, 6 and 7, respectively, children of E. Marion Hagler, a son of the retired rancher.

Russell and Guy Hanson, 3 and 1, respectively, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hanson.

M. H. Larson, postmaster here, said it appeared the car dropped into the river while Hagler was attempting to turn around near a steep bank.

The rear of the machine went over the bank first. Larson said the tracks indicated that the car was backed down a slight slope leading to the edge of the bank.

The automobile landed top down in the river and a door opened. The body of Russell Hanson was recovered. The other persons apparently were swept out of the car through the open door and down the river.

The car, virtually demolished, was pulled out by the use of cables.

Two small children, brother and sister, stood by as the automobile hurtled into the river, swollen by mountain snows and rains.

These children, Kathleen and Terry Duffy, were on their way home and had just been taken by Hagler to a foot bridge leading to the home across the river. After they got out of Hagler's car he started to turn around to return to this small northwestern Montana town, where he and the four other children lived.

JURY IGNORES MANDATORY LIFE TERM, GIVES 40 YEARS

A jury in Circuit Judge Hartmann's Court fixed a 40-year penitentiary term yesterday for Leonard Savington, 29-year-old Negro ex-convict, found guilty of robbery with a deadly weapon.

He was identified by George Ludwig, proprietor of a parking lot at Theresa avenue and Delmar boulevard, as one of two robbers who took $22 from him in a holdup last Dec. 23. Savington denied the charge and offered an alibi that he was at a birthday party at the time.

Savington was charged under the habitual criminal law with three prior convictions which makes a life sentence mandatory on conviction, but the jury disregarded it.

it off, burns even more rapidly—it explodes."

In the United States, he continued, there are 28,000 industrial plants employing 1,325,000 persons and producing annually $10,000,000,000 in products which are subject to the danger of dust explosions.

Investigations of dust explosions have resulted in recommendations for prevention in numerous industries. Progress has been made in the development of methods for preventing dust explosions in the primary stage, preventing subsequent and more violent explosions.

In a cube shaped structure, such as the Missouri Pacific head house, where there is danger of grain dust explosion, it is recommended that one and one-quarter square feet of vent be provided for each 100 cubic feet. For starch dust, three square feet is required and other industries require various venting areas depending upon the nature of the product.

Findings of investigators for the Department of Agriculture have resulted in numerous recommendations minimizing danger of dust explosion in grain elevators and other places subject to dust. All interior surfaces, including bins and garners, are kept as smooth as practicable and pockets, ledges and horizontal surfaces are avoided in construction.

PATRONAGE RULE OF CONVENTIONS IS HIT IN SENATE BILL

Measure Sent to House Forbids the Selection of Appointive Office-Holders as Delegates.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A bill designed to thwart the domination of a national political convention by patronage appointees sent as delegates was passed by the Senate yesterday and dispatched to the House.

Although the measure was introduced by a Republican, Senator Steiwer of Oregon, it was not drawn, he said, with the present Democratic national administration in mind.

The bill follows a series of measures that appeared on Capitol Hill after President Roosevelt had enunciated a policy of disassociating active politics and the Federal Government as much as possible.

Unanimously Approved.

Whether the Steiwer measure would fit in with the administration ideas remained to be seen, although it was pointed out that it was snapped through the Senate yesterday on a unanimous vote with the Democratic leader, Robinson, present and acquiescent.

The measure, as it passed the Senate, was so broadly worded that it would take in all Federal appointive employes from Cabinet members down through the lowest post-office janitorial job.

"Be it enacted," the bill reads, "that no person holding an appointive office of trust or profit under the Government of the United States shall be officer, delegate, or alternate, of any political convention having for its aim the nomination or election of any candidate, avowed or unavowed, for President or Vice-President of the United States."

Statement by Sponsor.

Steiwer, in explaining his measure, said:

"It is to prevent the use of appointive officers, such as marshals, postmasters, collectors of customs, and others, from going to conventions to do the will of the incumbent party, often against the expressed will of the state from which they come."

Examination of convention records, Steiwer said, "discloses these appointive officers have aided in twisting delegations around so that they didn't vote at all as the instructions they received at home demanded."

"I wasn't thinking of the present administration when I offered it," he added. "As a matter of fact some of the abuses I did have in mind came in Republican administrations and conventions."

HOUSE COMMITTEES IN ROW OVER JURISDICTION ON BILLS

Rivers and Harbors Chairman Says Flood Group Assumes Too Much Authority.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A jurisdictional dispute between the Rivers and Harbors and Flood Control committees over navigation improvement legislation was taken to the House floor today with a warning that it might turn the nation's waterways system into a "crazy quilt."

Chairman Mansfield (Dem.), Texas, charged that there were "those who are now seeking to destroy the Committee on Rivers and Harbors" by taking from the committee "practically every element of river and harbor improvement under its jurisdiction."

The dispute arose over which of the committees should look after projects under a prospective unified waterways improvement program now understood to be receiving White House consideration.

Representative Wilson (Dem.), Louisiana, is chairman of the Flood Control Committee, whose formation in 1916 Mansfield reviewed in detail to show it never was intended to consider anything but strictly flood-curbing matters. The rules require, he said, that all proposed legislation relating to the improvement of rivers and harbors shall be referred to the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

FAVORS WIRE MERGER LAW

Head of International Telephone Says Legislation Should Be Permissive.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Legislation to permit consolidation of telegraph services was advocated today before the House Interstate Commerce Committee by Sosthenes Behn, president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Testifying on the Rayburn bill to create a new commission to regulate communication systems, Behn said companies he represented favorede transferring administration of existing laws to a new agency but advocated that it be required to make a complete study of the communications business before further legislation is enacted. R. B. White, president of the Western Union Telegraph Co., said his company "has carefully considered the proposed bill and find we can adjust our practices to conform with its requirements without much difficulty and without many changes"

Four Convicted of Fraud.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Four men, one of them Samuel Kantor, described by witnesses as a close associate of a New York Tammany leader, were convicted in Federal District Court yesterday of violation of the Federal vote fraud laws. They were accused of conspiracy to intimidate voters in the November (1932) election.

MILLER DECLINES TO FILE SUIT FOR LACLEDE'S OUSTER

Circuit Attorney Turns Down Request of City Counselor for Action Against Gas Company.

Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller today declined the request of City Counselor Hay that he institute a suit in the Supreme Court to oust the Laclede Gas Light Co. on the grounds that its franchise has expired.

Circuit Attorney Miller said: "I have reached the decision that I should not lend the name of the State and my office to what I consider would be a fruitless attempt to oust the Laclede Gas Light Co. from its charter and franchise secured to it by valid laws of the State; and I, therefore, respectfully decline to do so."

Hay recently gave the Board of Aldermen an opinion in which he expressed the view that the franchise of the gas company expired in 1917. Thereupon the Board of Aldermen authorized Hay to ask the Attorney-General or the Circuit Attorney to file a quo warranto suit in the Supreme Court to test the franchise.

In a four-page opinion Miller gave his reasons for declining to act, saying it appeared that Attorney-General McKittrick had been asked to institute the suit but had declined to do so.

Miller held a hearing on Hay's request and formal arguments and briefs were presented on behalf of the City and the company. He reached the conclusion, he said, that the principal ground asserted by Hay was not valid. This point revolved about the constitutionality of a statute enacted in 1868 by the Legislature.

The original franchise was granted by the Legislature in 1857 to run for 30 years with a provision for automatic extension for another 30 years. An act passed in 1868 granted the franchise right "forever." Hay contended the latter amendatory act was not constitutionally enacted because it did not set out the full language of the act as amended, and that the original franchise term of a maximum of 60 years should prevail. Under this interpretation the franchise would have expired in 1917.

Miller said that in his opinion the amendatory act was valid and that the constitutional prohibition cited by Hay did not apply; that the Supreme Court in other cases, which he cited, had supported this view.

In 1927 Attorney-General Gentry refused to institute such a quo warranto proceeding when requested to do so by Mayor Miller. At that time Union Electric Light & Power Co., a competitor of Laclede, was urging a determination of the question.

Hay said today he thought the matter should be put before the Supreme Court for decision.

Picketing Starts at One Plant at Mattoon, Ill.; No Disorders Reported.

The 3200 striking workers in five Southern Illinois and one Indiana factory of the Brown Shoe Co. were paid off today and sent home. For two days they had conducted a "sitting strike," going to their machnies but keeping them idle.

The Mattoon factory was locked and the strikers began picketing. No disorders were reported. Other factories at which strikes are in progress are in Murphysboro, Salem, Charleston, and Sullivan, Ill., and Vincennes, Ind. The strikes, for higher wages and union recognition, began Wednesday morning after failure of company officers to meet a delegation from all factories Tuesday in Mattoon.

A mass meeting attended by 1000, with delegates from all six plants, was held last night in Mattoon. It was reported that a protest would be made to NRA officials in Washington.

Officers of the company have said they would deal with workers from one plant at a time but would not meet a representative delegation.

UNION MILK WAGON DRIVERS AUTHORIZE STRIKE CALL

Leave Decision to Officers If Negotiations for Wage Increase Fails.

Union milk wagon drivers, meeting last night, authorized their officers to call a strike at their discretion to enforce demands on employers for restoration of the 1932 wage scale of $39 a week.

James Burke, union business agent, said the men would continue work pending efforts to obtain increase through negotiations. years ago the drivers accepted eight per cent wage cut recommended by a board of mediation. The contract expired two months ago. Union leaders have had several meetings with a wage committee representing 21 large dairies and ice cream companies, without result.

Burke explained that, should a strike be called, the union will make arrangements for distribution of milk to hospitals and other institutions. The union has a membership of 1150 drivers and stable men.

STATE CASH SITUATION WORST IN 25 YEARS

Auditor Tells Teachers' Secretary None of Money for Tuition Can Be Paid.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 11. — The financial condition of Missouri's Treasury is "more serious now than it has been at any time in the last quarter of a century," Forrest Smith, State Auditor, says in a letter to Tom Walker, secretary of the State Teachers' Association, advising Walker the State would be unable to pay any part of the remaining one-half of the deficiency in the rural high school tuition, amounting to approximately $347,500.

"We now have in the local bank jackets being carried as cash items in the amount of $2,200,000 and I have unpaid bills on file in my office of approximately $1,300,000, making a total indebtedness at the present time of $3,500,000, leaving completely out of the picture the various school appropriations passed by both the special and regular sessions of the Legislature," said Smith. "The cash balance in the Treasury today is $88,441."

Smith said he expected the State would collect $3,200,000 from the State income tax and $1,500,000 from the corporation franchise tax.

"As I size up the situation," he said, "if we were to collect all of our anticipated revenue by June 1 we would only have about enough to pay up our back indebtedness and from June to Jan. 1, I do not see how the State will have enough money to even pay salaries unless a new arrangement is made with the local bank."

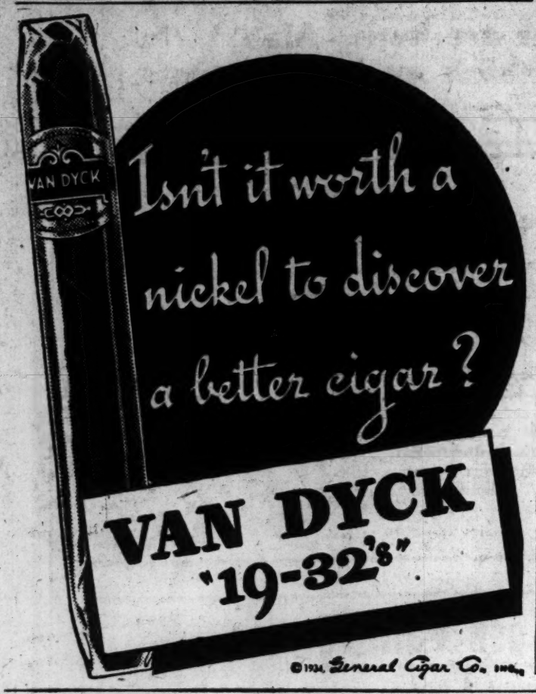

Smith added the liquor revenue had been disappointing and the sales tax would produce only about $250,000 a month.

The State relief agency is spending about $350,000 a month, he said, "and if this ratio is continued during the remainder of this year, the State will wind up with a deficit of several million dollars.

"The University of Missouri, the various teachers' colleges, eleemosynary and all other departments of the government have not had any bills paid other than salaries since February and most of the smaller institutions are now having serious trouble getting their merchants to extend to them further credit."

Another Draw in Chess Match.
By the Associated Press.

MUNICH, Germany, May 11. — The fourteenth game of the world chess championship match between Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubow of Germany was played to a draw last night after 54 moves. The score to date is: Alekhine, 4; Bogoljubow, 1; Drawn, 9. The fifteenth game is scheduled for tonight.

EX-PROSECUTOR IS INDICTED AS BRIBE SOLICITOR

Raymond G. Norris, Former Aid to U. S. Attorney-General, Accused in Mail Fraud Testimony.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Raymond S. Norris, Washington lawyer and former Special Assistant to the Attorney-General, was indicted by the Federal grand jury today with Solomon Charles Sugarman, a disbarred attorney. Norris was charged with "conspiracy to defraud the United States out of its governmental right to have the business of the Postoffice Department conducted with impartiality."

The grand jury investigation grew out of a mail fraud case in which Sugarman and others were convicted. The case involved a chain sale scheme for silk hosiery.

One of the defendants testified that Norris had said he needed "g strings for my violin" when Sugarman asked him to delay any fraud prosecutions in the sales scheme.

"G strings" was interpreted by the witness to mean thousand-dollar payments, "G," or "Grand," being slang for $1000.

Subsequently, the witness testified, $8000 was turned over to Sugarman to be paid to Norris.

LABOR BOARD PROPOSES PAY SCHEDULE FOR AIR PILOTS

Rates Fixed by Speed of Plane, Time of Day and Distance Flown.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The National Labor Board today proposed a modified base of pay for airline pilots with consideration given both distance flown and elapsed time. The decision grew out of the dispute between pilots and airlines last fall.

The proposal is:

1. The monthly maximum for pilots shall be 85 hours of flying.
2. Experience does not warrant establishing a maximum mileage at this time.
3. Base pay shall be $1600 a year plus $200 for each year of service.
4. Air mail pilots shall in addition to base pay receive an hourly rate of $4, $4.20, $4.40, $4.60, $4.80 and $5 for day-flying at hourly speeds respectively under 125 miles, 125 miles, 140 miles, 155 miles, 175 miles, and 200 or more.

Night hourly rates for the same speeds would be respectively $6, $6.30, $6.60, $6.90, $7.20 and $7.50. In addition for monthly mileages of under 10,000, 10,000 to 11,999 inclusive, and 12,000 miles or more respectively the pilots shall receive 2 cents, 1½ cents and 1 cent a mile for all miles per hour flown at more than an hourly speed of 100 miles.

5. The award shall remain in effect for one year.
6. Differentials existing on Oct. 1, 1933, for co-pilots and for flying over hazardous ground shall be maintained.

CHANGES IN CITY BANKRUPTCY BILL ADOPTED BY CONFEREES

Senate Amendments Accepted; House Insists Only on Modification for One Group.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Congressional conferees on the municipal bankruptcy relief bill reached a complete agreement today after accepting virtually all Senate amendments to the bill passed by the House in the special session.

The bill, which has administration approval, would permit debt-ridden cities and taxing districts to compromise their debts by petitioning a Federal Court with a plan of refinancing having the indorsement of holders of 51 per cent of the amounts of the claims. After the court acted it would require the consent of holders of 66 2-3 of the amounts of claims in each class and 75 per cent of the aggregate to confirm the agreement.

The only change insisted upon by the House was an amendment to permit irrigation, reclamation, drainage and levee districts to petition the courts with consent of holders of 30 per cent of the claims and to gain final approval with the consent of 66 2-3 per cent of the aggregate claims.

FOUR INDIANAPOLIS BANKERS INDICTED; TWO UNDER ARREST

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 11.—Julian J. Kiser and Melville S. Cohn, former officers of the Meyer-Kiser Bank, were arrested yesterday on indictments charging them with embezzlement and grand larceny in connection with alleged mismanagement of the bank's affairs.

Sol S. Meyer, former president, and Ferd S. Meyer, another former officer, were also indicted. Attorneys for them said they would surrender soon. They are now in Florida.

The four former officers of the bank, which is now in receivership, are charged specifically with appropriating to their own use $17,248 and embezzling $37.50 which they permitted Albert Blue, a preferred stockholder, to receive.

TWO OF FIVE MEN ON TRIAL CONVICTED IN $200,000 FRAUD

Morris Berman, Principal Stockholder of Guaranty Co. of America, Found Guilty.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Two men were convicted and three others acquitted by a jury early today on charges involving the alleged $200,000 swindle of small investors in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland. Four other persons have pleaded guilty and 25 are listed as fugitives.

Morris Berman, principal stockholder in the Guaranty Co. of America, was convicted on 44 conspiracy counts. Albert Kravitz, an employe, was convicted on four counts. The State charged that they obtained cash or securities under the pretense of recovering money on worthless stocks, but actually getting signatures on agreements to purchase at fancy prices land near Atlantic City, N. J.

Those acquitted were William H. Cummings, president of the Cummings Brothers Funding Co.; Albert Itsynson, an employe, and Harry Abramson, a notary public.

Dr. Cramp, American Medical Association Investigator, Gives Figure in Address.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Assailing the present food and drug laws as ineffectual against the patent medicine evil, Dr. Arthur J. Cramp of Chicago, director of the Bureau of Investigation of the American Medical Association, declared yesterday that the American public was spending $360,000,000 a year on such remedies.

Speaking at Teachers' College, Columbia University, Dr. Cramp said the cheapest thing about most patent medicines was the drugs that compose them, the most expensive thing, "the advertising that sells them." Setting the country's annual medicine bill at $715,000,000, he said $190,000,000 went for medicines prescribed by physicians, $165,000,000 for such "non-secret home remedies" and the rest for patent medicines.

TEAR GAS USED TO ROUT JOBLESS AT WICHITA

National Guardsmen Break Up Demonstration—61 Held for Questioning.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., May 11.—Four companies of National Guardsmen bore down on a meeting of 400 unemployed demonstrators and dispersed them with tear gas yesterday.

Acting under orders of Gov. Alf M. Landon, the guardsmen had sought to prevent a recurrence of clashes Wednesday in which the demonstrators, protesting against wage scales on work relief projects, beat and stabbed policemen.

Police took into custody 58 men and three women for questioning concerning their parts in the meeting. Other police were searching for 20 men named in warrants charging them with criminal syndicalism.

Basis of the Charges.

John Wood, County Attorney, said these warrants were issued on the basis of purported statements that the men had declared they would destroy the old Federal Building here "stone by stone" and that they had threatened to seize 3000 sacks of flour stored at the central application bureau.

The guardsmen were ordered into active duty just before noon to preserve order. Despite these preparations, the demonstrators gathered as planned in Wichita's west side. As they listened to a speech, the cavalry detachment, under command of Capt. Joseph McVicar, rode on to the field, followed by the foot troops and the motorized unit.

An elderly man, bearing a United States flag, came out of the crowd and said: "You can't fire on the American flag."

Capt. McVicar brushed him aside and announced: "I have been commanded by the Governor of the State of Kansas to disperse this meeting."

Demonstrators Scattered.

His order fell on unheeding ears, the demonstrators shouting back derisively "boy scout" and "school patrol" to his command. He ordered the troops to charge, scattering the demonstrators, but not forcing them to leave.

The infantry companies surrounded the crowd and tossed tear gas bombs.

Meanwhile, at Oklahoma City, a fire department hose company was called to the courthouse to disperse a crowd of nearly 500 unemployed who attempted to storm the office of R. V. Boyer, county relief chief.

ARSON ATTEMPT IN CHURCH

The Rev. Richard K. Kelly, pastor of the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, 1700 Mississippi avenue, reported to police yesterday that an incendiary had attempted to set fire to the church.

He found three waste paper fires in the basement which had burned out without causing much damage.

UPPER AIR EXPLORER

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer
MAJ. CHESTER L. FORDNEY

HOW CROWBAR SAVED STRATOSPHERE FLYERS

Maj. Fordney Relates Thrilling Moments in 11.6-Mile Ascent.

Last Nov. 20, two military men of a scientific turn of mind rode in a sealed metal gondola beneath a huge bag of hydrogen gas more than 11 miles above the eastern section of the United States. Above them was a deep blue dome in which an incandescent sun was the only visible object.

Last night Maj. Chester L. Fordney, of the Marines, speaking before the Chamber of Commerce Air Board and Export Managers' Club at the Congress Hotel, related some of the experiences of that memorable flight, which he made as aid to Lieut.-Commander T. G. W. Settle of the Navy.

"Although we had no feeling of being in motion, our instruments showed that we traveled through the stratosphere at 50 miles an hour," the Major stated. "At lower levels we made 90 miles an hour, so that we were really going places," he added.

No Time for Lunch.

The flight was made to study the cosmic ray and polarized light, to determine the exact shade of the sky and to test radio waves. With all these duties the two "field men of the stratosphere" had no time for anything but work. Lunch, which they took with them on ascending at Akron, O., in the morning, was untouched until it was tossed out to help lighten the balloon in the descent into a New Jersey marsh, 490 miles distanct from the starting point, at sundown.

The balloonists remained at their peak altitude, 11.6 miles, for two hours and 20 minutes. Although the temperature outside was 70 degrees below zero, it was about 50 degrees above zero inside the gondola, due to the sun's heat. The inside temperature had been arranged by painting the upper half of the gondola white to reflect the sun's rays, and the bottom half black to absorb heat.

Sun Almost White.

With a plentiful supply of liquid oxygen, the two scientists worked without effort in their metal globe. By means of color charts they determined that the sky, when observed in the rarified atmosphere of the stratosphere, is a deep, deep blue. The sun, yellow to ground observers, is almost white. Because of the haze, the balloonists saw the earth as if they were looking down at it from the top of a cone, and only a section about 60 miles in diameter was visible. The only topographical features they were able to distinguish from the peak altitude were the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Maj. Fordney remarked that he and Commander Settle were surprised to learn that their short wave radio signals increased in strength as the balloon went higher. The cause of this is thought to be the reflection of the radio waves from the Heaviside layer in the stratosphere.

Cosmic Ray Records.

Instruments carried to gather information on the cosmic ray, a charged particle of the upper air, were turned over to Dr. Arthur H. Compton, professor of physics at the University of Chicago. Dr. Compton, in a recent scientific paper, said the flight resulted in his obtaining considerable additional information about the ray, which has the velocity of light and the penetrating powers of a high caliber bullet.

When the balloon took off at Akron it carried a gross load of 7900 pounds, of which 4100 pounds was lead dust ballast. At the takeoff the bag, made of rubberized fibre cotton and open at the bottom, was but one-fifth filled with 120,000 cubic feet of 99.9 per cent pure hydrogen. At 40,000 feet the sun's heat and the lighter outside pressure allowed the gas to expand until it filled the 600,000 cubic foot capacity balloon.

Fell at 19-Mile-an-Hour Rate.

The beginning of the drop back to earth after they had established an altitude record, was "an act of God," Maj. Fordney related. With the setting of the sun the gas began to contract and the balloon to drop. Down it went, gathering velocity until at 35,000 feet the rate of descent was 18 miles an hour. Nearing 26,000 feet the balloonists sought to open the hatches to dispose of their heavier baggage, including 300 pounds of electric dry cells, to which parachutes were attached.

It was at this point that the only critical moment of the flight occurred, according to Maj. Fordney. The hatches were frozen shut. Anticipating just such a situation, a three-foot crowbar was at hand, and the hatches were pried open. The heavy equipment was dumped, checking the descent of the balloon, which leveled off at 800 feet and dropped lightly into the marsh.

"What would have been the result if the crowbar had been forgotten?" Maj. Fordney was asked.

"Burial would have taken place at Arlington with taps and trimmings," he replied.

Anti-French Rioting in Morocco.

FEZ, Morocco, May 11.—Mounted Spahis charged into anti-French demonstrators today when rioting broke out in the native quarter on the arrival of the young Sultan, Sidi Mohammed. Agitators tore down a French flag at Medina. Troops and police have been called out to prevent further demonstrations.

SUIT TO ENJOIN MEYER KATZ FROM USING DRUG FIRM'S NAME

Suit to enjoin Meyer Katz and Alex M. Rubenstein from using the name "Katz Drug Company" in connection with the operation of a new retail drug store at 711 Olive street, was filed in Federal Court yesterday by the Katz Drug Co., a Delaware corporation, with headquarters in Kansas City, which operates stores there and in St. Joseph, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia.

The petition alleges the defendants are attempting to appropriate the trade name of the plaintiff company and its trade mark, a black cat, that appears prominently on the front of all of its stores and to "palm off" their store as belonging to the original Katz chain.

The Kansas City Katz company has been considering entering St. Louis and has negotiated for a lease on the Franklin-American Building at Seventh and Locust streets.

MINING CONGRESS OPPOSES SECURITIES CONTROL ACT

Objections to Wagner Bill and Unemployment Insurance Measure Also Made.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—Protests against the securities control act, the Wagner labor bill and the unemployment insurance bill were made in resolutions adopted yesterday by the board of directors of the American Mining Congress.

The securities measure, it was contended, tends to restrict investment in mining and makes it almost impossible to raise capital to promote reliable metal mining properties.

The labor bill was objected to on the ground it would tend to destroy a mutual confidence described as now existing between employers and employes.

SUIT TO FORECLOSE ON MONOGRAM BLDG.

Step in Reorganization Under Which Bondholders Will Take Over Property.

Foreclosure sale of the Monogram Building, 1706 Washington avenue, is sought in a suit filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the Real Estate Mortgage Trust Co., trustee under a $1,200,000 bond issue executed in 1925 by the Monogram Realty Co., former owner of the property. The deed of trust is against the property as security for the bonds, of which a total of $839,000 is outstanding.

It is alleged defaults in payment of principal and interest in the total amount of $90,170 have occurred.

The suit is against the Central States Life Insurance Co., which acquired title to the building five years ago. The company entered its appearance.

Earl Susman of the law firm of Banister, Leonard, Sibley & McRoberts, representing the insurance company, said the proposed sale is a step in a plan of reorganization under which a bondholders' committee will buy the property for the benefit of bondholders. It is planned, he said, to exchange present bonds for a new issue, which would mature in 15 years.

A year ago a bondholder filed suit for appointment of a receiver for the Monogram Building but the case still is pending.

EUGENIE LEONTOVICH SAYS SHE IS PLANNING DIVORCE

Actress in Milwaukee Announces Intention of Legally Separating From Gregory Ratoff.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11. — Eugenie Leontovich, Russian actress, appearing at a local theater, announced yesterday that she was going to file suit for divorce soon against her actor husband, Gregory Ratoff, who is now in London, on the ground of incompatibility. She did not say where the suit would be filed.

Mme. Leontovich was married to Ratoff 11 years ago after taking a role in his Paris theater following her escape from Russia where her first husband, a banker, was killed during the Bolshevik revolution. They have no children.

Eugenie Leontovich was one of the outstanding actresses in Moscow prior to the revolution. She escaped to Paris and then went to New York. Unable to find a dramatic role, she became a chorus girl in a musical comedy and trouped all over the country. Finally she obtained the leading role in the Chicago company of "And So to Bed." Critics praised her performance so highly that she was called to New York to play the role of the dancer in "Grand Hotel."

PRESIDENT BACKS OIL BILL

Indorses Thomas Measure to Improve Code Administration.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Roosevelt has sent a letter to Chairman Dill of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee indorsing the Thomas oil bill designed to stop loopholes in the administration of the oil code. The announcement was made by Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Asked if he had seen or approved a reported new bill drafted by the planning and co-ordination committee, representing the industry under the code, Ickes replied he had not. He said the Thomas bill would be the one supported by the administration, although certain modifications would be accepted. Modifications are being drafted by the Petroleum Administrative Board which drafted the Thomas bill.

GREEN JOINS SINCLAIR IN PLEA TO STRIKING OIL WORKERS

Labor Head Urges 800 Union Men to Heed Employer's Request to Return.

By the Associated Press.

SEMINOLE, Ok., May 11.—A "personal request" by Harry F. Sinclair that striking oil workers return to their jobs was followed at union headquarters here yesterday by receipt of a telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urging that Sinclair's request be heeded.

Sinclair's message, relayed to C. H. Chaffin, secretary of the Seminole union, by R. H. Stickel, Washington, vice-president of the national organization of oil field workers, said he would "do everything in reason to bring about an amicable early adjustment of any differences between us."

More than 800 employes walked out a week ago, asserting they would remain out until the company met their demands for union recognition, restoration of the 1929 wage scale and re-employment of discharged union men.

Bats Used to Fight Mosquitos.

By the Associated Press.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, May 11.—A tower is being constructed here to house bats which, it is hoped, will prey upon swarms of mosquitos coming from swampy spots along the Neckar River. An appeal for live bats resulted in the capture of a thousand or more in attics and the ruins of the ancient castle.

FRISCH TRIPLES AND MARTIN DOUBLES OFF HUBBELL IN FIRST

By Dent McSkimming.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, May 11.—Carl Hubbell, star left-hander of the New York Giants and hero of the 1933 world series with the Washington Senators, was on the mound for the New Yorkers this afternoon as they attempted to stop the rampaging Cardinals, victors in the two games against the world champions.

Lefty O'Doul, another star of the last World Series, started his first game for the Giants, replacing George Watkins, former Redbird in right field and batting second.

The selection of Paul Dean, recruit, was a surprise on the part of Manager Frank Frisch, as it had been expected that Tex Carleton, Cards' star right-hander, would oppose the redoubtable Hubbell.

The air was not dust-filled, as yesterday, but there was still a brisk wind blowing.

The game:

FIRST INNING — GIANTS — J. Moore walked. O'Doul struck out. Terry struck out. Ott singled to center, sending J. Moore to third. Jackson flied to Mills.

CARDINALS — Martin doubled down the third base line. Jackson threw out Rothrock, Martin reaching third. Frisch tripled to deep center, scoring Martin. Ott apparently lost the ball in the sun. Jackson threw out Medwick, Frisch holding third. Collins singled to left, scoring Frisch. V. Davis singled to left center, Collins reaching third. Mills struck out. TWO RUNS.

Triple Play Made by Cubs

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ma 11.—The Cubs pleted the first triple play of the major league baseball season today in the first inning of their game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. With the bases full and none out, Hack Wilson sent a liner to First-baseman Adolph Camilli, who stepped on the bag to double Dan Taylor off first, then threw to Bill Jurges in time to catch Len Koenecke off second.

HORSE KILLED WHEN IT RUNS INTO TRACTOR; RIDER IN HOSPITAL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—Lady Evelyn, a three-year-old racer, was killed and her exercise boy, Leo Cecil, 22 years old, seriously injured at Churchill Downs today when the filly ran into a tractor. Cecil was taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition and it was feared his skull had been fractured.

The filly was being given a late morning workout while the track was being smoothed the afternoon races and apparently became frightened at the tractor. George Stinson, driver of the tractor, was slightly injured.

Lady Evelyn was owned by J. Graham Brown.

ROSCOE TURNER NAMED AUTO RACE STARTER

INDIANAPOLIS, May 11.—Roscoe Turner of Los Angeles, holder of several airplane speed records, today was named official starter of the 500-mile automobile race to be held here May 30.

With qualifying trials for the race only eight days away, there was much activity at the course today.

KAWAGOE NOSES OUT PATCHPOCKET IN SPRINT

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, May 11.—Kawagoe, chestnut son of Sickle, making his 1934 debut, turned in a smart effort to win the Woodmere Purse, six-furlong feature of one of th best programs of the meeting here, today. With Jimmy Hunter outriding Allen Tipton, Kawagoe nosed out the three-time winner, G. v. Ogle's Patchpocket, for the purse. The Dorwood Stable's filly, Miss Merriment, was third, five lengths away. Kawagoe paid 7 to 2 and his time was 1:11 4-5. Patchpocket ruled favorite at 11 to 10.

No. 6 for Foxx.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Jimmy Foxx, major league home-run king, poled out his sixth four-bagger of the season today in the fifth inning of the game between the Detroit Tigers and the Athletics. The homer, with two men on, was made off Auker.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 11.—Nine fleet three-year-old colts, including Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade, winner of the Kentucky Derby, and his highly regarded stablemate, High Quest, today were named for the 44th running of the $25,000 Preakness over one and three-sixteenths miles at Pimlico tomorrow.

The field, small but select, also includes Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery, the big chestnut son of Display which finished in second place, three lengths back of Cavalcade, in the Derby, and Mrs. Frank J. Heller's Agrarian, third in the rich Kentucky race.

Bob Smith, trainer for Mrs. Sloane's Brookmeade Stable, also named Anarchy, giving the New York and Florida sportswoman a powerful hand for the second important three-year-old stake of the season.

Two of Three Likely to Go.

Not more than two of the trio are expected to go to the post, however. High Quest and Cavalcade are considered the most likely starters but Smith said this morning he would reserve final decision until he saw how the trio stood the trip from New York. They left their barn at Belmont Park early today and were scheduled to arrive at Pimlico in the afternoon.

BILLS FOR 10 PCT. TICKET TAX ON THREE SPORTS; ONE IS BASEBALL

Bills to place a 10 per cent admission tax on baseball, football and hockey were introduced in the Board of Aldermen today.

The bills would require a $10 annual license fee, and a $2500 bond to be posted with the License Collector to insure payment of the tax within 48 hours of the time of the game.

The bills provide no exemption, which would mean that college and high school games would be taxed as well as professional ones. At present, football and hockey clubs do not pay a tax, and baseball clubs pay $125 a year. Proposals to tax amusements have been frequently introduced into the board and have failed.

Life Just One Round of Decisions for This Umpire

By W. J. McGoogan.

Behind the blue serge suit of umpire No. 9 at Sportsman's Park today is William Stewart, junior member of the National League umpire staff, No. 1 referee of the National Hockey League and referee in chief of the Canadian-American Hockey League, the only American born hockey referee in the big league.

Stewart is handling the current important series between the Giants and the Cardinals together with Bill Klem and Beans Reardon.

All this athletic officiating would seem to be taking too many chances with irate fans, but Stewart, who is only 5 feet, 6 inches tall, goes about his business calling decisions in hockey and in baseball as he sees them, whether for a home club or against it, and likes his work.

Dislikes a "Homer."

A "homer," an official who calls close decisions in favor of a home club, is something that Stewart detests and points to his record of

SUNDAY BASEBALL IS MORAL AND PHYSICAL BENEFIT, COURT FINDS

By the Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., May 11.—Sunday baseball for Norfolk seemed assured last night when a jury in the Corporation Court acquitted Daniel (Buddy) Hall, outfielder for teh Norfolk team in the Piedmont League, on a charge of participating in a game with Wilmington here April 29 in violation of the Sunday "blue" laws.

By its verdict, the jury held that Sunday baseball was a moral and physical benefit to the community and therefore a necessity and not a violation of the law of 1887. Hall's was a test case.

HEMSLEY'S FOURTH HIT BIG FACTOR IN 10TH INNING RALLY

By James M. Gould
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Browns defeated the Washington Senators, American League champions, this afternoon in the opening game of their abbreviated series of two.

The score was 4 to 3.

Ten innings were played.

Tomorrow, Hornsby's team will engage in its first double-header of the year. Saturday is a half holiday here so Clark Griffith asked the St. Louis club to double up and Hornsby consented.

Manager Hornsby announced that Ray Pepper purchased on trial from the Cardinal farm at Rochester, would be retained and Branch Rickey had been notified to that effect today.

Today was Ladies' Day and, with the club guests, the attendance was estimated at 4000.

McGowan and Owens were the umpires.

The game:

FIRST INNING — BROWNS — Clift singled past second. West singled to right, Clift stopping at second. Burns sacrificed, Boken to Myer on first. Cronin threw out Pepper, Clift scoring and West holding second. Kuhel made a fine running catch of Clark's foul. ONE RUN.

U. S. GOLFERS LEAD BRITISH IN WALKER CUP PLAY, 3 TO 1

Singles Pairings

By the Associated Press.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 11.—Drawings for the Walker Cup singles golf matches tomorrow follow: (First named American player, second British).

John Goodman vs. Michael Scott.
Lawson Little vs. Cyril Tolley.
George T. Dunlap vs. Jack McLean.
Francis Ouimet vs. Leonard Crawley.
John Fischer vs. Eric Fiddian.
Max Marston vs. T. A. Torrance.
Jack Westland vs. Eric McRuvie.
Gus Moreland vs. Sam McKinlay.

H. Chandler Egan, 50-year-old American, is the United States' spare, and Harry Bentley and Roger Wethered are Britain's reserves.

By the Associated Press.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 11.—American golfers' first venture of the 1934 campaign in international competition was crowned with success today as the United States Walker Cup foursomes won three out of four matches from their British rivals. Eight singles matches will be played tomorrow.

Johnny Goodman, bold, young U. S. open champion, and his stocky, square-shouldered partner, W. Lawson Little, made a runaway of their match with the crack British team, Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley, winning, 8 and 6.

The other American victories were scored by 50-year-old H. Chandler Egan and Max Marston, who defeated the Hon. Michael Scott, British captain, and Sam McKinlay, 3 and 2, and Gus Moreland and Jack Westland, who conquered Harry Bentley and Eric Fiddian, 6 and 5.

Francis Ouimet, bespectacled captain of the American side, and George T. Dunlap Jr., American amateur titleholder, were the lone Americans to dip their colors. Waging a losing battle all the way, Ouimet and Dunlap fought gamely and doggedly, but were vanquished by Eric McRuvie and Jack McLean, 4 and 2.

The results of today's matches gave the American players a flying start in their attempt to stretch their string of consecutive team victories to eight. A British team has yet to win in the biennial competition, although they threatened in 1923 and 1926.

Three victories and one halved match in tomorrow's singles warfare will clinch victory for the United States.

Wethered's indifferent play wrecked any chances the veteran English pair had of holding the American No. 1 team close. The brother of the renowned woman golfer, Joyce Wethered, performed raggedly from tee to green leaving Tolley mostly bad lies.

A great cheer went up from the gallery surrounding the home hole when McRuvie sank a 10-footer for a birdie to give the all-Scotch combination a lead of two up over Uncle Sam's No. 2 pair of Ouimet and Dunlap.

All Record Breakers—And They're All Good "Indians"

Maplewood Qualifies 18 Seniors For County Meet; Ohle Sets New Javelin Mark in Junior Trials

University City High School continued its domination of the St. Louis County track and field meet in the second day of the preliminaries by qualifying 12 more juniors and 9 more seniors as another record fell before one of its junior stars, Ernest Ohle, who hurled the javelin 185 feet 1 inch. This was the only record broken yesterday.

University City qualified nine juniors and eight seniors Wednesday. Maplewood was the surprise school of the meet, qualifying 10 seniors yesterday and eight Wednesday for the most qualifiers in that division, one more than University City, although University City is considered to have far the better athletes in that division.

The track was slow and the fields in the various heats were small, so that record times in the races were not often approached.

Bud Harvey, a junior, of Clayton, led the individual qualifiers with five events in which he reached the finals, Bob Ehrhardt qualified in four events, while several others were in the finals in three events, among them being Eddie Haefler, in the 100 and 440-yard dashes and broad jump; Ernest Ohle, University City, in the junior division in the javelin, broad jump, and 50-yard dash.

Finals in all events will be held tomorrow at University City stadium, with the first events starting at 2 o'clock.

Bears to Meet Cape Teachers on Track Tomorrow

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., May 11.—Coach Abe Stuber's Southeast Missouri State College Indians will be hosts to the Washington University track team here tomorrow afternoon.

Both squads will be considerably handicapped because of injuries, though the St. Louis athletes seem to have been hit harder by the injury jinx.

Louie ("Mud") Bona, stellar little Indian sprinter from Herrin, Ill., will be handicapped no little because of a pulled muscle in his leg, which he suffered in winning the broad jump event at Rolla last week end. Harold Rudert, broad jumper and discus man, has an infected toe and Cletus Ferguson, sensational distance runner, is suffering from a cold. Moreover, Ralph Kirn, holder of the state high quarter-mile record, has not yet been able to compete since injuring his leg before the season opened.

Reports from St. Louis have Bob McClure and Harry White, sprinters par excellence, still out with injured legs, as is Tracy Barnes, broad jumper. Other minor injuries are also reported.

JOE HAUSER HITS TWO HOMERS TO RAISE HIS TOTAL FOR YEAR TO 17

CHICAGO, May 11.—Joe Hauser and his home run bat keeps right on monopolizing the spotlight in the American Association.

Not that Minneapolis needed them very much yesterday, but Hauser poked out his sixteenth and seventeenth home runs of the season. The Millers got plenty of other hits, and with the aid of seven Toledo misplays, won, 15 to 7. Hauser's first circuit wallop came off Truitt Sewell with two men on, and the other was blasted off Doljack with none aboard.

Eldon McLean pitched another bang-up game for Louisville as the Colonels outlasted Kansas City to victory of the campaign. win, 6 to 5, in 11 innings. McLean gave the Blues only five hits and although he walked six men, stuck out the 11 rounds for his third

Miss Miley Puts Out Southern Golf Champion

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—Aneila Gorczyca of Ft. Worth, defending champion in the Southern Women's Golf Association tournament, today was eliminated in the quarterfinal round by Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., 2 and 1.

Three down at the turn, Miss Gorczyca was able to whittle but not overcome the lead established by the brilliantly consistent stroking of her challenger, the former Kentucky State titleholder. Miss Miley's winning par 4 on the seventeenth ended the match after she had again gone 1 up on the defending champion with a beautiful birdie 4 at the long sixteenth.

Following Miss Miley into tomorrow's semi-finals, when they will be opponents, Betty Jameson, youthful Dallsa, Texas star, eliminated Mrs. Mark McCarry, St. Petersburg, Fla., 3 and 1.

Mrs. Leon Wolf Jr., New Orleans, who yesterday eliminated Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, added Mary Rogers of Jacksonville to her list of victims, winning 1 up at the nineteenth.

Virginia Williams, Houston, Tex., sank a 20-foot putt on the eighteenth green to beat Mrs. John Hodges of New Orleans, the Louisiana State champion, 1 up.

CENTRAL PLAYS BLEWETT NINE IN HIGH SCHOOL GAME TOMORROW

By Harold Tuthill

With a chance to do no worse than tie for the City High School League baseball championship, Central will close its campaign tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when it opposes Blewett in the first game of the tripleheader at the Public Schools Stadium. McKinley, in second place, battles Beaumont after Roosevelt and Cleveland open the afternoon program at 1 o'clock.

Central, which won its first four games before bowing to McKinley, can clinch the championship with a victory over Blewett if McKinley is upset by Beaumont. But, judging by the showing made last week by young Denny Peppers, Blewett pitcher, Central will not have such an easy time of it. Andy Lueker, righthander, probably will hurl for the mid-city team.

The calculations will have to be revised if Blewett does gain a decision, for Central then would finish with four victories and two defeats and it would be possible for McKinley and Beaumont or Roosevelt to tie for the championship and a play-off would be necessary. McKinley has only one defeat and it can eliminate Beaumont from title consideration. The loser of the Cleveland-Roosevelt contest also will drop out of the running.

Jones Is Batting .750.

It is likely that the Central batting order will be shaken up so as to utilize the hitting power of Burlyn Jones, who has made nine singles and three doubles in 16 times at bat for an average of .750, but has only driven in one run. This is due in part to the fact that he bats seventh.

Pete Chulick, who has been trying for three years to pitch McKinley into first place, has shoved himself into second place among the regular leading batsmen with eight hits in 13 times at bat, 15 points better than the average owned by Charley Mueller of Beaumont, who has six bingles in 10 trips to the plate for a .600 mark. Chulick will do the throwing for the Goldbugs and his opponent will be Marvin Quante, also a lefthander.

The performance turned in by Ray De Greeff when he allowed seven hits and two runs in losing to Beaumont, 2 to 1, will cause him to draw the starting assignment against Roosevelt. Bill Jenny will be on the mound for the Rough Riders.

After this week only one more tripleheader remains to be played and in case of a tie for the title, the play-off will be as a preliminary to the Browns' game with the Cleveland Indians, June 2, at Sportsman's Park.

SPORT SALAD —By— L. C. DAVIS

Fair Enough.

After striking out seven in the first four innings of the first game with the Giants, Dizzy Dean eased up and let the other boys take a little fielding practice.

Strikeouts are all right but in the final analysis winning a game of ball is a nine-man job.

Dizzy admits that in shutting out the Giants he was helped no little by Old Sol, who loosened up the old salary flipper. And was Dizzy hot? Ask the Giants.

That same Old Sol was also kind to the Browns over in New York. All he did was get in Earl Coombs' eyes and make him drop the ball which fell for a three-bagger and scored the tying and winning runs in the ninth with two out.

Owed to Old Sol.

LET California boost her sun,
And claim it is surpassed by none;
But we will tell you here and now

Looks Like First Division.

See where Rollie Hemsley, the Brownies' weak-hitting backstop, rapped out a triple, double and three singles. Pretty fair considering that he went to bat only five times.

The White Sox put up a stonewall defense and got off on the right foot under the management of Jimmy Dykes. Louis Comiskey feels that the leak has been plugged.

At any rate under Dykes, the Sox seemed to play a dam site better as you might say in a manner of speaking.

"Calls For Return To Old Principals."

Bill Klem is in his thirtieth year as a National League umpire. Bill, who is taking Father Time in stride, says the first thirty years are the hardest and from now he expects the going to be easier.

FRANCE TO SEND A TEAM TO NEXT OLYMPIC MEET

PARIS, May 11.—Premier Gaston Doumergue today approved French participation in the Olympic games at Berlin in 1936 and indicated he would ask Parliament for $250,000 for the team's training expenses. He promised his support to a delegation from the French Olympic Committee.

MARANVILLE, AT HOME DOUBTS WHETHER HE'LL BE ABLE TO PLAY AGAIN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 11.—Walter E. ("Rabbit") Maranville, second baseman of the Boston Braves recuperating at his home here from a broken leg sustained during training early last month, today said he doubted he would ever be able to play big league baseball again.

"It looks as if I am through," said "Rabbit," "and I think I'll never field another ball nor go to bat as a major leaguer again."

There was a note of sadness in his voice as he reported his broken leg was not healing properly and that it would certainly keep him out of the game this season at least.

It had been generally believed that Maranville would be back in the lineup by July 1.

BAER HAS SORE TOE; HE DELAYS BOXING UNTIL TOMORROW

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 11.—An aching toe, from which an ingrown toenail was removed last night, today kept Max Baer, preparing here for his coming heavyweight title fight against Primo Carnera, June 14, from attempting any boxing.

Max now plans to start hard work tomorrow, boxing in the outdoor ring that has been set up on Ocean boulevard.

CAVALCADE AMONG NINE NAMED FOR THE PREAKNESS

BROOKMEADE STABLES ALSO LISTS HIGH QUEST AND ANARCHY

Regardless of which combination Mrs. Smith decides to send to the post, Mrs. Sloane's entry is expected to rule the prohibitive choice in view of Cavalcade's easy victory in the Derby and High Quest's brilliant workouts over the Belmont Park oval.

Support for Time Supply appeared to be gaining force today, however, as reports from the colt's barns said he was fit and ready. The son of Time Maker was rated the best three-year-old on the winter tracks but went wrong a few weeks before the running of the Florida Derby. He did not start in the Kentucky Derby.

Riskulus Has a Blowout.

Riskulus, withdrawn from the Derby because of a slight attack of colic, arrived on the scene of the battle yesterday. He had a blowout this morning, going three furlongs in 40 seconds flat.

Three other nominees also were given their final trials this morning over a track still heavy from yesterday's rains. Time Supply and Agrarian, a horse that has not been out of the money in his last nine starts, each worked six furlongs in 1:17, handily. Marshall Lilly sent Spy Hill a half-mile in 49 seconds.

Although the weather man has promised fair weather for the big race, the skies were overcast this morning, threatening more rain.

Starting time will be about 4 o'clock St. Louis time.

If Cavalcade wins he will join the select trio of Sir Barton, Gallant Fox and Burgoo King, the only horses that ever won both the Derby and the Preakness.

If there is anything in history repeating itself, tomorrow should be Discovery's day. It was over the Pimlico track that the colt's temperamental sire, Display, ran a courageous race to capture the 1926 running of the Preakness.

Garner to Ride Sloane Candidate.

A Cavalcade triumph also would be another milestone in "Uncle" Mack Garner's Saga of 20 years in the saddle. Just as he had never won a Kentucky Derby until last week, the 34-year-old veteran has never been astride a Preakness winner. If Cavalcade should not start, Garner will be up on High Quest.

TARKIO COLLEGE WINS DUAL TRACK CARNIVAL

By the Associated Press.

TARKIO, Mo., May 11.—Tarkio College defeated Chillicothe (Mo.) Business College here yesterday afternoon in a dual track and field meet, 78 to 50.

Offenbacker, Tarkio star, was the individual high scorer of the meet. He totaled 22 points on firsts in the broad jump, shotput and javelin throw, and a tie for first in the high jump and a second in the discus throw.

PHIL BALL ESTATE GETS PERMISSION TO SELL MILWAUKEE CLUB

Formal permission for the executors of the Phil Ball estate to sell the Milwaukee club of the American Association was grannted today by Probate Judge Hughes at Clayton. This fololwed the filing of a petition by the executors.

Announcement of the sale was made some time ago when a group of Milwaukeeans, headed by Henry J. Bendinger, put up an unannounced sum of "earnest money." The Milwaukeeans are operating the club but actual transfer of the stock will not be completed until early next week, according to Louis von Weise of the Phil Ball estate.

According to the petition, $55,000 in cash will be paid by those purchasing the club, with the balance to be covered by three promisary notes. Total amount of the purchase price, named in the petition, is $102,317.

Von Weise expects to go to Milwaukee to complete the deal. Under home ownership, he believes that the Milwaukee club will eventually prosper. He rates Bendinger as a man qualified to make the club a paying proposition.

MISSOURI POLOISTS TROUNCE IOWA STATE

AMES, Ia., May 11.—The University of Missouri polo team defeated Iowa State poloists, 9 to 2, in the first of a two-game encounter yesterday.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Canny Connie.

PHILADELPHIA fans have been staying away in throngs from both major league parks, thus far. That would have been gruelling punishment for the Phillies and the Athletics, but for the fact that both held a rummage sale of players during the winter and realized more than enough to keep the wolf from the door until next season.

Philadelphia newspapers are more concerned about it than the ball clubs, apparently, for one of them has asked the public to write in and tell what can be done to get the fans out to the ball game.

The reply came in a pen and ink chorus: 'Cut the ticket prices!"

It was an almost unanimous answer. The more considerate would have the price cutting limited to "week days," giving the clubs the benefit of Sunday.

* * *

Club owners have taken considerable punishment but they are not yet ready to scale down their ticket prices. They think that the wage earners will soon be back to work and that money will be plentiful.

In that case the task of elevating prices, reduced to meet the emergency, would be excruciatingly painful; owners say it would be impossible.

We Hope It's So.

TRAINER BOB SMITH of the Brookmeade Stables who after the Derby was quoted as saying Cavalcade would not be sent to the post in the Preakness, is now reported to have changed his mind.

Cavalcade probably will run in the Preakness tomorrow, Pimlico officials announced today. In fact three of the great three-year-olds from the Brookmeade barns are entered.

If High Quest and Cavalcade both compete they are likely to run one, two, despite the fact that Discovery, Agrarian, Riskulus and others are to compete.

Cavalcade, in particular, has a chance to equal the great performance of Gallant Fox in winning all the major three-year-old stakes of the season.

His entrance in this race will also serve to settle the question as to which of the Brookmeade Stables' three-year-olds is the best—High Quest, winner of the Wood Memorial Stakes, or Cavalcade, winner of the Kentucky Derby. Anarchy, the third Brookmeade entry, lacks class.

A Broadcast War.

DOWN in Birmingham they have gone to war over the right to broadcast baseball games by radio. They have also gone to court, the Birmingham club having obtained a temporary injunction against Station WSGN, which had been sending out a tree-top review of games from a vantage point outside the grounds.

Both the club and the Southern Association have forbidden broadcasts and the club intends to fight for a permanent injunction on the ground that the station has no right to this information, not having paid for it.

Inasmuch as the club pays men to produce the baseball games which they sell to the public, it may appeal to fans as reasonable that they have the exclusive right to their own product.

What the courts will think may be something else.

* * *

The idea of "bootleg" broadcasting originated right here in St. Louis when one of the local stations, barred from the park, undertook to relay it by opera glass and roof-top observation. The ball park officials relented and invited the outcast to come in and get warm.

Under the present embargo, no local attempt has been made to bootleg detailed accounts of the game while in progress, from the park or from any position outside the park.

FIRST TEN GAMES OF 80-CONTEST STRUGGLE TO BE ROLLED TONIGHT

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 11.—Otto Stein Jr. of St. Louis, begins his quest for the world's match game bowling title against Joe Miller, defending champion, here tonight. The scene shifts to the Coliseum at St. Louis next week, when the final 40 games will be rolled.

In view of his 213 average in the National eliminations in Detroit recently, Stein's stock will soar if he returns home with a lead. Even if the first 40 games, winding up here Sunday night, leave the St. Louis veteran in the champion's wake, his backers are confident his ability as a "money" bowler will carry him through to victory.

Reservations for boxes for next Thursday night's first 10-game block at the Coliseum were made yesterday by Eddie Hermann, backer of the Hermann team; C. Cliff, sponsor of the General Loan quintet in the West End Major Handicap League; Joe Weiss of the Wooster Lamberts, and Louis Calcaterra and Fred Zappala. The alleys to be installed in the Coliseum will be laid out with 42 boxes behind the foul line.

LIFE OF UMPIRE IS ROUND OF DECISIONS

last winter when he handled 58 National League hockey games, of which home teams won but 22 as proof that he calls 'em as he sees 'em.

He has not escaped entirely unscathed for his courage has put him in several tight situations. The worst of them was in a Can-Am hockey game in Boston when he was forced to overrule the goal umpire and take the winning goal away from the Boston club in front of 15,000 fans.

"They threw everything but the building at me that night," Bill laughed, "and it required the efforts of 20 policemen in charge of a lieutenant to get me out of the Boston Garden. But the goal judge had flashed the red light when the puck hit a post. I told him it wasn't a score and he replied that he knew it, but he became nervous, had his hand on the button and flashed the light. But the crowd didn't know that and acted accordingly.

"An official of the Boston club threatened to have me fired, and I told him to go ahead, but that I was refereeing that game at least. Later he wrote a splendid letter to a testimonial dinner for me in which he stated that a vote of the coaches and owners of the National Hockey League rated me the No. 1 referee.

Another Tough Decision.

"Eddie Dyer, former Cardinal pitcher, managing the Cardinal farm of Elmyra in the N. Y.-Penn. League, appealed to me to overrule a base umpire in a game at York. Of course, I wouldn't do it until my partner asked me but when he did I took the winning run away from the York club. The fans howled but the interference on which I made the ruling was clear to the players and none of them complained.

"The next day, I had to call another close one against York and an irate spectator took a punch at me as I walked out of the park, causing considerable disturbance. But that was the only time I have been hit."

Stewart played minor league baseball for 19 years and had a short trial with the White Sox. He was never a hockey player. He played hockey as a kid when it was only shinny but he could skate and after a study of the rules took up refereeing in 1922 and has been at it ever since.

Much Traveled Man.

His double job keeps him away from home the greater part of the year and requires him to do a prodigious amount of traveling. As an example of his jumps he refereed in New York on Sunday and Tuesday, jumped to Chicago for a game Thursday, went to Toronto for Saturday and was back in Chicago the next night.

"Yes, I am away from home a great part of the time," Stewart remarked, "and I guess I will have to quit refereeing football games."

"Oh, yes," he said, "but there won't be a chance now for that."

Coach on the Side.

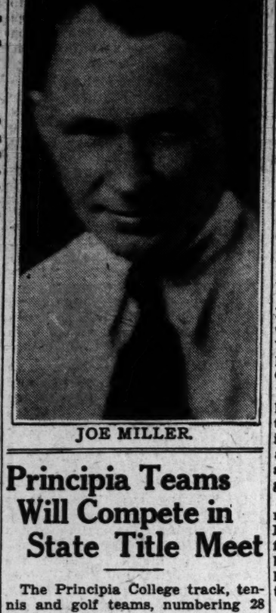

Stewart has coached hockey teams for the Milford Academy and for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology but plans also to forego all coaching jobs to concentrate on officiating.

He said, in passing, that if the Ottawa Hockey Club is brought into St. Louis, fans here will see a great young team. Kamminsky, Bowman, Shannon and Howe of Ottawa, Stewart rates as among the best youngsters in the league and thinks Shannon is the greatest hockey prospect in the game. He plays center and left wing.

HOPKINS RETURNED TO ST. PAUL BY PHILLIES

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—R. R. Connery, president of the St. Paul American Association club, last night announced that Third Baseman Meredith (Marty) Hopkins has been returned to the Saints by the Philadelphia Nationals. He will join the club at Toledo, Saturday, Connery said.

Principia Teams Will Compete in State Title Meet

The Principia College track, tennis and golf teams, numbering 28 athletes, are in Columbia today for the annual Missouri State Junior College Conference championships, at the University of Missouri.

Coach Lee McCandless took every available man for the track meet. Previous competition this year does not favor Principia for the track championship, but several members of the squad are expected to hang up new conference records. Earlier in the season Douglas Swett clipped one-tenth of a second off the 220-yard low hurdle record, making the distance in 26.2 seconds.

Athletes from other conference schools have also broken records in dual competition. Swope of Kemper broad jumped 20 feet 8½ inches, which is six inches better than the record held by White of Wentworth. Lance of Wentworth is expected to better the high hurdle mark, while Armstrong of Kemper has beat the shot put record of 46 feet 3½ inches several times. Moss, Moberly Junior College star, hurled the discus 116 feet 10 inches last week. The record is 116 feet, made two years ago by Patrick, another Moberly athlete.

The Jefferson City Junior College team will make a strong bid to retain the golf championship won last year. Principia has a good golfer in Parker Thomas, who is likely to win individual honors. The lowest combined score of the team members will annex the golf championship.

The tennis championship was rained out last year. Principia College, undefeated this year, is a strong favorite to win the court honors. The tournament will be conducted on a team basis and the schools will be drawn the same as in individual tournament competition. Each team will play two singles and one doubles match. Coach Karl Berninger will rely on Sada Takaki and Marvin Conklin in singles and Hans Culmback and Earl Stitt in the doubles. Benton Lackey will be available as substitute.

The golfers representing Principia are Thomas, Roesch, Emmel and Norling; track athletes are Tullis, Kussmann, Whipple, Swett, Brenner, E. Brittenham, Haines, Benton, Mills, Bollinger, Ratz, Hewott, Hellyer, Miller, Holmquist, Braniger, Stryker, Rawsthorne and Higgins.

WOODWARD AND BENTON SCHOOLS WIN GAMES IN GRAMMAR LEAGUE

The Woodward and Benton schools won their games in the grammar school league, the Woodward team defeating the Monroe School, 10—6, while Benton nosed out Mark Twain, 7—6.

The games were played in the grammar school league which is competing for the Post-Dispatch trophy and medals awarded each year to the school winning the elimination contest at the end of the regular playing season when the group winners meet in the elimination games.

ROSS, STURDIER THAN EVER, WILL WEIGH 138 FOR M'LARNIN FIGHT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Barney Ross, world's lightweight champion, left Chicago today, a determined young man, looking for a fight.

He was referring to his welterweight title contest with Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced walloper from Vancouver, whom he meets in a 15-round battle in New York May 28.

There was only one worry on Ross' mind. He was worrying because he was afraid that McLarnin, whom he regards as a counter puncher, would not make a fight of it.

"If McLarnin will fight, I'll beat him sure," Ross snapped. He sat there, naked, on a rubbing table in his dressing room, cooling off after boxing four brisk rounds, and stepping through three rounds of gymnasium exercises.

Ross is going into the fight with respect for McLarnin, but no fear. He has more confidence in himself for this engagement than in any bout he has ever fought, including his lightweight championship battle with Tony Canzoneri.

He has heard that McLarnin has been hard on the Jewish fighters, and Ross is determined to be one Jewish boy that will be hard on McLarnin. Ross smiled when he said that.

"Almost everybody McLarnin has licked was scared to death before they got into the ring," Ross exclaimed. "Not me. I'm not afraid of him. I carry just as many guns as Jimmy does, and will make him like it, if he will fight. You know, he is a counter puncher who seldom leads, and that makes things look bad. It takes two guys to make a fight."

"And if McLarnin refuses to come out of his shell and fight, Ross isn't going to do all the fighting. He will find out a way to make McLarnin fight."

"The first thing I do," Winch added, "when we get in the ring, is to call the attention of the referee that McLarnin is the champion and that he ought to fight."

Ross Huskier Than Ever.

Ross, after two weeks in the Wisconsin woods, looked stronger and more developed in his arms and shoulders than ever. He worked like a laborer at his camp in Loretta, Wis., chopping down trees, sawing them up, and even worked with a pick and shovel with a local road gang. He was in bed by 8 o'clock every night and up at 5 in the morning.

Ross, to critical observers today, looked and acted just like Charley White, the old left hook artist, probably the most terrific puncher Chicago ever sent to the prize ring. There is a striking facial resemblance between them, even to their sleek black hair, and wide, powerful jaws. And they box with almost the same style.

Ross in his boxing drove terrific left hooks to the body and head, and he was lightning fast on his feet. He figures he will enter the ring weighing about 138 pounds, thus giving McLarnin a weight advantage of about 10 pounds, as the welterweight champion has agreed to weigh 145 pounds at 12 o'clock on the day of the fight. He figures McLarnin will take on two or three pounds between weighing in time and the time the battle starts.

Lather or Brushless
Which for YOU?
Let's debunk the debate!
W. G. Mennen

WHICH is the better shave — Lather or Brushless? I tell you without bunk:—it depends on your individual type of beard and your type of skin.

That's why I make both—Mennen Lather Shave and Mennen Brushless Shave. Both wilt whiskers. But only your own skin can decide which is best for you.

For dry skin I recommend Mennen Brushless Shave. It's a cream—not a grease—which benefits a dry skin.

If your skin is normal, then it's a question of personal like. Either Mennen Brushless or Lather wilts whiskers!

500 ATHLETES TO PARTICIPATE IN EAST SIDE MEET

The annual Illinois State District track and field meet will be held at Granite City tomorrow to qualify representatives for the State meet at the University of Illinois on May 18 and 19. Schools throughout Southern Illinois will compete and officials expect at least 45 schools to compete.

Track and field records are threatened as many of the athletes who will participate have either equaled or surpassed various times and distances. The feature of the day will probably be the high jump duel between Harry Bridges of East St. Louis and Lowell Spurgeon of Centralia. Both boys have beaten the record on numerous occasions.

High schools in Calhoun, Jersey, Madison, St. Clair, Montgomery, Bond, Fayette, Marion, Clinton, Randolph, Washington and Jefferson counties will compete. In all, there will be about 500 athletes entered. The Granite City meet will be one of the 13 throughout the State.

Five places will be scored in each event with points ranging from five for first place down to one for fifth. Each athlete placing first or second in any event will be eligible to compete in the State meet. The school winning the meet may send all its place winners to the carnival.

Preliminary events are scheduled for 9 o'clock in the morning. W. H. Summers, of Washington University, will be referee and starter.

East St. Louis is the defending champion.

Woman Head of Wisconsin Sanitarium Directs Removal.

HUDSON, Wis., May 11. — A woman superintendent yesterday directed the removal of 30 patients, some of them bed-ridden, as fire destroyed a sanitarium here. Five buildings were razed, with the loss estimated at $150,000.

Most of the 30 were at lunch in a second-floor dining room when Mrs. Byrd Crowell, superintendent, smelled smoke and found flames starting on the third floor. She immediately directed attendants to lead those in the dining room outside, and went to supervise removal of those confined to their beds. A few patients, most of whom were being treated for nervous disorders, had to be forcibly removed.

PHILADELPHIA WOMAN'S BODY FOUND STUFFED IN TRUNK

Head Battered, Police Report; Stepson Formerly a Marine Sought for Questioning.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—The body of Mrs. Mary Hoge, 30 years old, wife of Jacob Hoge, a railroad laborer, was found last night stuffed into a small steamer trunk in a dwelling in West Philadelphia. Investigators said the woman's head was battered.

Police stated the woman's husband told them he discovered the body on his return from work. Mrs. Hoge's stepson, Joseph Hoge, 21, former Marine, who was in the home yesterday, was being sought for questioning.

The father told investigators Mrs. Hoge and Joseph "kept company" about three years ago. Hoge related that she broke off the friendship, his son joined the service and completed his service two weeks ago. Shortly after Joseph enlisted, the elder Hoge's first wife died and last August he married the woman found slain.

Hoge told police that Joseph sat on the trunk while awaiting an express man to remove it. The father left the house to make inquiries and while he was away an unidentified express man called but went off without the trunk. Returning after his son had gone, Hoge opened the trunk.

GLORIA SWANSON TO FILE DIVORCE SUIT IN 10 DAYS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 11. — Gloria Swanson will file her suit for divorce against Michael Farmer in a Los Angeles court within a week or ten days, she said today.

The charge, the motion picture star announced, will be incompatibility. She said she was finding it necessary "to work to support my children while Farmer finds it necessary to fish and to cruise."

Miss Swanson refused to comment on a report that she will wed Herbert Marshall, English actor now in Hollywood, as soon as his wife, Edna Best, gives him a divorce.

SALESMAN FREED OF CHARGE

A charge of obtaining money by false pretenses against Meyer Fried, real estate salesman, 5802 Lotus avenue, was dismissed yesterday in Circuit Court.

Fred G. Kurtzeborn, 5627 Nottingham avenue, who had obtained a warrant on a complaint that he gave Fried $315 to be used for back taxes, which he later learned were not paid, wrote the Circuit Attorney that the difficulty had been adjusted and he did not care to prosecute. The original transaction was in December, 1932.

SHANGHAI, May 11.—A commission of Chinese officials set sail today on a world tour to learn about modern warfare. The commission, comprising military and communications experts, will study military establishments of Italy, France, Belgium, Germany, England, Russia and the United States. It will make its first inspections in Italy.

HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO KILL HIS WIFE WITH DYNAMITE

RALEIGH, N. C., May 11.—Lonnie M. Upchurch, 42-year-old Wake County mechanic, was charged in a warrant issued here late yesterday with attempting to kill his wife by setting off a charge of dynamite under an automobile in which she was sitting. Mrs. Nancy Upchurch, 26, a bride of a year, is in a serious condition.

The explosion occurred in a garage at the Upchurch home at New Hill Wednesday night. The automobile was demolished. Sheriff Numa F. Turner said he uncovered evidence that Upchurch arranged a wire which connected sticks of dynamite under the car with electric wires in the garage and controlled the wire by a special switch.

The motive of the attempted killing, the sheriff said, was the collection of double indemnity on two insurance policies of $5000 each on the life of Mrs. Upchurch.

Would Make Hobson an Admiral.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, Spanish-American War hero, would be appointed a Rear-Admiral in the navy and immediately retired under a bill passed by the Senate yesterday and sent to the House.

Gloria Stuart to Sue for Divorce.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 11.—Gloria Stuart, movie star, announces the trial separation she and her husband, Blair Gordon Newell, sculptor, began 10 months ago will end in divorce. Her suit will charge incompatibility, she said.

TWO OLD INDIAN VILLAGES UNEARTHED IN CALIFORNIA

One Found by CWA Workers Thought To Date Back To Time of Christ.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 10. — Two Indian villages, one thought to date back to the time of Christ, have been excavated by 200 CWA workers in Kern County, California, under supervision of Smithsonian Institution scientists.

One of them, entirely prehistoric, ceased to be occupied long before the arrival of the whites while the other was abandoned about 1825. Both of them are on the shores of dry Buena Vista Lake.

The more recently occupied of the two villages had a cemetery on a nearby hillside where parts of 350 skeletons have been found. This village is estimated to be at least 500 years old.

The second village, much older, was probably the home of Indians who moved elsewhere. In this village the dead were buried under the floors of the houses. The occupants apparently had no arrows, but only darts tipped with crude flint points. In the later village many arrowheads were found, and considerable soapstone pottery.

James Roosevelt Quits Firm.

BOSTON, May 11.—Members of a life insurance agency partnership which included James Roosevelt, son of the President, today announced the dissolution of the partnership. Roosevelt will continue his brokerage business which allies him with another Boston firm.

MRS. AUGUST BELMONT URGES UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Adoption of unemployment insurance legislation by Congress was strongly advocated by Mrs. August Belmont last night at the annual dinner of the National Institute of Social Sciences.

Mrs. Belmont, Samuel Seabury and Dr. Walter B. Cannon of the institute's gold medals for outstanding service to humanity.

"Unemployment is not a local or state matter," declared Mrs. Belmont. "It is national. I believe in states rights and that a state should work out many problems individually, but in questions of essential importance to the whole country I wish we might act as a nation promptly, and not through the slow process of experimentation, state by state."

C. Stuart Gager, president of the institute, announced that a fourth medal was to have been presented to Orville Wright, aviator, who was unable to be present because of injuries suffered in an airplane accident recently.

SAYS PRESS IN U. S. PREVENTS MOB RULE

President Williams of Missouri U. Also Attributes Freedom From Dictators to Newspapers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11.—Breadth and tolerance of the American press accounts, in large measure, for the fact that the United States "has not drifted or been driven into a dictatorship or given over to the tyranny of mob rule," President Walter Williams of the University of Missouri asserted here last night.

Dr. Williams delivered his address to the National Editorial Association by means of a loud speaker system which carried his words from his home on the University campus to the Stephens College Hall where the editors met. His absence was due to illness.

Tracing the improvement of American newspapers in the last 40 years, President Williams added:

"The newspaper is no longer the organ of a clique, but seeks to be and usually is the forum of the community. That the United States has not drifted or been driven into a dictatorship, or given over to the tyranny of mob rule, is in large measure because of the breadth and tolerance of view and freedom of expression in the American newspaper of today.

Press Freedom Vital.

"The preservation of the freedom of speech," he continued, "the freedom of conscience, the freedom of the press determines the continued existence of democracy in this republic. Attacked as such freedom is in many quarters of the world, with the press regimented in Germany, subsidized in France, censored in Italy, controlled as the person or party in power wishes it to be throughout Continental Europe, save in such islands of democracy as Czecho-Slovakia, Holland, Switzerland, it is vital to the press of the world and to the security of our own republic, to maintain freedom of the press here.

"The business of newspaper publishing will continue to be an honest business, accepting neither fee nor subsidy from individuals or groups who seek special privilege for selfish advantage. . . . None is more important to human welfare. . . . The accurate chronicler will be important in the next 40 years of the world's journalism, but the crusader will be with us also. Not merely light, but leading, will be characteristic of tomorrow's journalism. We make war with the sword, but we write and keep the terms of peace with the pen.

Views Outstripped by News.

"News in the newspaper has outstripped in importance views in the newspaper. But to news has been added interpretation to make the picture clear and understandable. The reporter plus the editor make the newspaper—not the editor plus, in small measure, the reporter, as 40 years ago."

Three publications and two editors were awarded Missouri Journalism Medals of Honor "for distinguished service in journalism" in a feature of Journalism week. They are Col. Robert M. White, editor and publisher of the Mexico (Mo.) Ledger; Herbert W. Walker, manager of Newspaper Enterprise Association, Inc., Cleveland, O.; Des Moines Register and Tribune, Des Moines, Ia., represented by W. W. Waymack, associate editor; The Churchman, New York, N. Y., represented by Dr. Guy E. Shipler, editor, and the Melbourne (Australia) Argus, reperesented by Roy L. Curthoys, editor.

The Missouri Associated Press and the Missouri Press Association held business sessions this afternoon and the Journalism Alumni Association met at its annual Journalism week dinner tonight.

Other speakers on today's program: J. W. T. Mason, Far Eastern correspondent, New York, N. Y.; C. H. Thompson, Kansas City Star columnist, and William D. Nugent, vice-president of Media Records, Inc.

Tomorrow night the meetings will reach their climax with the annual Journalism week banquet, at which Henry Haskell, editor of the Kansas City Star, will be the principal speaker. In accord with tradition, President Williams will preside.

REORGANIZED LIQUOR FORCE HERE HEADED BY J. F. FARLEY

Reorganization of liquor control forces in the St. Louis district was effected yesterday by merging two units here, giving the new unit a name and designating J. F. Farley as its supervisor.

The new unit, to be known as the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau, is composed of the old Bureau of Industrial Alcohol and the Alcoholic Beverage Unit. Farley formerly was head of the Industrial Alcohol unit. In the reorganization Ralph Herrick, who headed the Alcoholic Beverage unit, becomes Farley's first assistant. Walter Carroll, who was assistant to Herrick, was named as chief of the local branch of the new office. Headquarters of the new unit will be in the Title Guaranty Building.

The work of the new unit will be the collection of liquor taxes where unpaid at the source and the prosecution of moonshiners and bootleggers. The district includes the states of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Offices will be maintained also at Kansas City, Wichita, Little Rock and Oklahoma City.

PACKERS SEE DICTATION IN NEW AAA PROPOSAL

Institute Head Says Secretary Would Have Power Over Small Businesses.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Institute of American Meat Packers, through its president, William W. Woods, today told the Senate Agriculture Committee that, under proposed licensing amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Secretary of Agriculture could dictate the conduct of hundreds of thousands of small businesses, regardless of whether that was necessary to prevent unfair practices.

Woods asserted that the Secretary would not only be given power to fix the price which a processor must pay for livestock but could limit the amount any processor or distributer could sell.

"He can tell any one of hundreds of thousands of grocers, delicatessen dealers and meat dealers," Woods contended, "what to charge for each pound of each kind of product, provided he deems this necessary."

In case of refusal to obey conditions imposed, after a hearing, the Secretary, he said, would have power to revoke or suspend the license of the disobedient license. He declared this would constitute assignment of a judicial function to an administrative officer.

COUNTY JUDGE SCHRAMM DEFENDS RISE IN COURT PAY

Says in Statement He Is "Willing to Abide by Results of My Official Acts."

The recent action of members of the St. Louis County Court in voting to increase their salaries from $375 a month to $500 was defended in a statement yesterday by County Judge Schramm.

The increase, described in the County Grand Jury report last week as "gouging of the taxpayers," was made possible by a legal manipulation, which gave the county a theoretical population of 480,000, though the last census showed only 212,000.

"There has been a great hullabaloo about this salary matter and the city newspaper boys have had a lot of fun with it," the statement said. "We voted the increase to find out who is entitled to a salary raise under the old law and then referred the matter to Circuit Court for approval. I am willing to abide by the results of my official acts."

Schramm praised the Grand Jury's recommendation that legislation be enacted to modernize the County's financial setup and improve the bookkeeping in the County Clerk's office. He said the jury's recommendations for lessening cost of county government and appointment of a purchasing agent were suggested by him.

Arabian Ruler Orders Attack by Separate Armies in Attempt to Seize Walled City.

PRINCE LEADING LARGEST FORCE

He Is Advancing on Sana From Red Sea Port, Which He Now Has Under His Control.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 11. — King Ibn Saud, climaxing his drive to subjugate Yemen, has ordered three separate armies to make a combined movement on Sana, Yemen's walled and ancient capital.

The ruler's largest army, under Crown Prince Emir Saud, has opened an offensive against Sada, key city northwest of Sana and the gateway to the capital.

The second division is advancing from Hodeidah, Yemen's important Red Sea port, already smashed by Ibn Saud's Saudi Arabian forces and now policed by them while British, French and Italian warships lie watchfully in the harbor.

The third army, now east of Sana, was ordered to advance immediately on the capital, a city of about 25,000 population and surrounded by a brick wall five and one-half miles in circumference.

Plans Disclosed in London.

Saudian sources in London disclosed Ibn Saud's new campaign plans to the Associated Press today, asserting that "once Sada falls, it will be only a short time until our armies enter and control Sana."

The Saudians, blaming the Imam of Yemen for the Arabian war, said that foreigners' interests would be fully protected, asserting the main idea of subjugating Yemen was to bring permanent peace to that area.

King Ibn Saud decided, the Saudians said, on a "war to the finish" when the Imam Yahya failed to keep promises to enter into a 20-year peace arrangement. They asserted Yemen's ruler sent raiders into territory of Saudi Arabia.

"A man like the Imam, who has broken his word continually, should not be permitted to rule longer," the Saudians said, "so Ibn Saud determined to break that rule."

Saudians Clear Italy.

The Saudians absolved Italy of any connection with the Yemeni, refuting reports that the Imam had a defense pact with Italy, which, like France, has interests across the Red Sea.

It was pointed out that Ibn Saud was on good terms with world Powers, particularly Italy, Britain and the United States.

"We are particularly friendly toward the Americans, whom we admire," the Saudians said. "You may be assured that Ibn Saud will make Yemen into a safe, modern area in which foreigners may go unmolested and foreign business can be transacted without fear of any uncertainty such as has marked Imam's rule."

ADMIRAL M'NAMEE TO QUIT

Will Leave Navy to Head Mackay Radio and Telegraph Co.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11. — Admiral Luke McNamee will leave the Navy July 1 to become president of Mackay Radio & Telegraph Co. Admiral McNamee, now president of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., will replace Clarence H. Mackay, who will become c hairman of the board, it was announced yesterday.

During his navy service, Admiral McNamee served as a member of the naval advisory staff to the American commission at the Paris Peace Conference in 1918-19; director of naval intelligence; naval attache at the American Embassy in London, and director of fleet training from 1928 to 1930. In 1931 he was appointed vice-admiral in command of battleships, and in 1932 his rank was raised to a full admiral and he was placed in command of the battle force from which office he went to the war college.

Massachusetts Milk Dealer Cited for License Violation.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, May. 11.—In a test case to determine the powers of the Agricultural Adjustment Administrator, Edward M. Dwyer of Weymouth yesterday was cited by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for violation of the provisions of his milk dealer's license under the AAA.

Dwyer is charged with violation of every provision of his former and present milk licenses. He was given until May 21 to show cause why the license should not be revoked. Dwyer is a former state representative, and has been selectman, Assessor and Postmaster in Weymouth.

Swedish Authority Proposes Ending of "Planned Economy"

"Must Stop Disastrous Trend," Which Leads to Dictatorship, If World Would Conserve Achievements of 150 Years, Prof. Gustav Cassel Declares.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 11.—A "plan to end planned economy" was called for by Prof. Gustav Cassel, Swedish economist, in the Cobden Memorial lecture before the Royal Society of Arts yesterday.

Declaring that planned economy always tends to develop into dictatorship, Cassel said that what the world needed was a well-considered program for "deliberate resistence" to the economic leadership of governments and parliaments.

Such a plan, he said, would call for the reconstruction of a social order based essentially on economic freedom and the responsibility of the individual.

He described Great Britain and Sweden as nations with "a precious heritage of freedom of thought and speech" and deplored "the appalling growth of protectionism and national isolation under a so-called planned economy that is threatening to end in economic dictatorship."

"If we do not want to sacrifice the results of the last 150 years of Western civilization," he said, "we must end this disastrous trend of events."

The foundation of recovery, Cassel asserted, must be a new international money system, but he maintained that there was no possibility of the restoration of an international gold standard.

People never again would feel assured that a new gold parity would be preserved, he continued. The confidence of the individual that he can obtain gold for his paper money has been destroyed forever, he said.

Cassel advocated a paper standard, such as the pound sterling, with new parities between currencies based as nearly as possible on their purchasing parities.

Once the exchanges have been fixed at reasonable rates, he added private enterprise would accomplish the necessary adjustment of different national economics to one another.

ENGLAND TOLD TO PAY IN FULL OR DEFAULT

Token Remittance Not to Relieve Nations Under New Law.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Great Britain's Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, was understood to have been informed during a State Department conversation today that his country would be considered in default if it made another token payment on war debts on June 15.

He called on William Phillips, the Undersecretary of State. The administration had decided that foreign debtors must pay in full or be held in default. In that event, they would be barred from floating securities or obtaining loans in this country under the recently enacted Johnson bill. Other Ambassadors had been informed of this stand this week.

The Ambassador told reporters he "had heard" the State Department had information on the American attitude toward debts and had called to obtain it.

The French and Belgian Ambassadors were informed of the situation when they called at the State Department Wednesday. The Italian, German and Czecho-Slovakian envoys were given similar information yesterday. Surprise at the stunning answers they received to questions long considered routine left the diplomats without speech for publication.

"Highwayman Act by U. S. on Debts," Says British Paper.

LONDON, May 11. — "Highwayman act" was the term used in headlines by the Evening Star in one edition today in reporting the decision of President Roosevelt to regard nations making token payments on war debts June 15 as defaulters.

"Highwayman Act by U. S. on Debts," said the streamer headline, and the subhead under it read "Pay Up in Full or——"

Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, spoke in Manchester today on the subject of the war debts. While declaring that he was not making any announcement of government policy, the Foreign Secretary said there seemed to be some commentators on the other side of the Atlantic—"irresponsible ones"—who overlook the fact that any argument for British payment based on the fact that Great Britain has a budget surplus was entirely fallacious so far as the American debt is concerned. It was fallacious, he said, "first, because that which lies at the back of the difficulty in connection with these vast international payments is not the question as to whether a particular country has a budget surplus. It is an injury done to world trade and world recovery if we are to contemplate the transfer of enormous quantities which we indeed received in the form of goods but which we are asked to pay back in the form of money.

"Second, it must be borne in mind that, in relation to the national wealth, British taxation last year was at least twice as heavy as the coresponding taxation in the United States."

$9,000,000 for Education Survey.

AGAINST COMPULSORY DRILL AT MISSOURI U.

Faculty to Recommend That Board of Curators Make Change.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11.—The University of Missouri faculty will recommend to the Board of Curators that compulsory R. O. T. C. military training at the school be abolished, it was learned here today.

A motion to make the request of the curators was approved, 35 to 18, in a faculty meeting yesterday afternoon, an unimpeachable source said. Only teachers of professional rank are eligible to vote on questions of faculty policy.

President Walter Williams said he would have no statement because he felt it would be impolitic in view of the unsettled stage of the situation and the fact that the curators have had no opportunity to consider the question.

The faculty action, it was said, was brought to a head by the recent hubbub over the dismissal from the university of Eugene Ringo, 20-year-old College of Agriculture freshman, of Columbia, because he refused to attend military drills. Ringo maintained he was a conscientious objector. Ousted last March, Ringo was given a special rehearing by the committee on exemption of students from the R. O. T. C. two weeks ago, but no decision was announced.

Petitions seeking reinstatement of Ringo, signed by 500 persons, including faculty members, were presented to President Williams. A State-wide "peace meeting," as an outgrowth of the Ringo case, is to be held here May 18 and 19.

A faculty member gave this account of the meeting:

"The conscientious objection incident, of course, came up. It is our intention that physical education courses be made compulsory if the student, under our recommended change, elects not to take military training. If we make our physical education stiff enough, I don't imagine many will try to get out of military unless they are genuine conscientious objectors. That should eliminate those seeking exemption because of personal laziness.

'About 25 per cent of our student body which falls under the military course requirement, men freshmen and sophomores, already is exempt. Most of these are excused because they are working students, a few because they are conscientious objectors."

Lieutenant-Colonel Marshall G. Randol, commandent of the university R. O. T. C., it was further learned, defended the military department's position at the faculty session. He pointed out that removal of the compulsory military requirement would cost the university loss of revenue and would also probably result in the removal from the State university of the field artillery division and thousands of dollars' worth of equipment which it maintains here.

INTENSIVE DRIVE TO GET OUT VOTE FOR BOND ISSUES

Campaigning for the $29,850,000 in State, city, school and county bond issues to be submitted at the special election next Tuesday is being intensified, in the final effort to get out a favorable vote.

Speakers are emphasizing the desirability of furnishing employment through the contemplated public works and the anticipated opportunity of getting $9,142,700 in Federal grants from the PWA to augment the bond funds. They also are laying stress on the great need for most of the money and the advantages to be derived from spending the rest.

A piecemeal parade to advertise the city bond issue was held at noon from Memorial Plaza to downtown campaign headquarters at Seventh and Locust streets. First the Firemen's Band marched over Twelfth boulevard and Locust street. A few minutes later two clowns from the visiting circus were driven the same way in a city sedan. Still later a caliope and two four-horse chariots from the circus, and a truck with a sign advocating support of the bonds as part of the President's recovery program, followed.

The chief bond meeting tonight will be at Soldan High School, with Mayor Dickmann and former Mayor Kiel among the speakers. Dickmann, who spoke at six gatherings last night, repeated a pledge to appoint a bipartisian bond supervisory committee, if the bonds are voted.

No Return from Direct Relief

"If we pass the bond issue," Mayor Dickmann said, "we will actually be getting a big value for the money spent. If we don't, we are going to be faced with the problem of administering direct relief, which will, of course, land right on the taxpayers. Money spent for direct relief does not bring anything back to the city. It keeps people from starving, but there is no return. But when the bond money is expended we are providing work and receiving things the city is badly in need of. Anyway you look at it, this bond issue is a sound business proposition, besides being humanitarian."

The union labor group in the city bond campaign met at Municipal Auditorium last night. One of the speakers. Dr. R. Emmett Kane, pleaded especially for the $7,000,000 item for improved hospital facilities.

The city and State are paying indirectly more than the cost of the proposed improvements through losses in health, economy and efficiency, Thomas N. Dysart, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said in a radio talk for all the bond issues last night. Calling it good business to pass the issues, he added that "civic progress, health, sanitation and well-being of our citizens will not wait for better times."

"Compellingly Obvious."

In another talk, William T. Nardin, board chairman of the chamber, asserted: "The need for the facilities to be provided by these bond issues is so clear and so pressing as to be compellingly obvious to all who know the facts. The Chamber of Commerce does not carelessly or even readily indorse proposals for incurring debt for the payment of which taxes must some time be levied. Whatever form these taxes take, members of the chamber will have to pay a very large part of them. Notwithstanding that fact, the directors of the chamber voted unanimously to approve all the issues."

Frank M. Mayfield, president of the Associated Retailers, said in a radio address that merchants had had a noticeable improvement of business as a result of the CWA program, and that the same thing would happen through the proposed bond and PWA work. Bond items which would tend to beautify the city would attract more visitors, he said, and thus help business.

Hugh Miller, State engineer of the PWA, declared in a radio talk that issuance of the bonds would be a great aid in relieving unemployment. He added: "No political boss has yet had anything to say about public works in Missouri, and, as far as I am concerned, none ever will."

School Board's Viewpoint.

It is as much a patriotic duty to vote for all the bond issues as it was to buy Liberty bonds during the World War, James J. Fitzgerald, member of the Board of Education, told the Kennard School Mothers' Club yesterday. Most of the public schools have held open house this week to show visitors educational activities and the need for more buildings, which the school bond issue would provide.

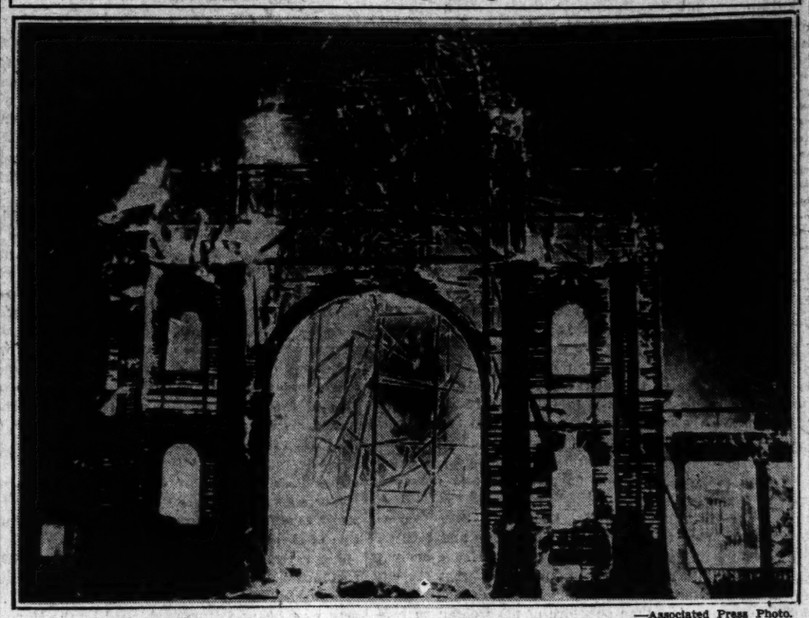

W. Ed Jameson of Jefferson City, president of the board of managers of State eleemosynary institutions, told of the unsafe and overcrowded conditions of these institutions, which the State bonds would correct. Practically every building, he said, is a fire trap, and there has been no money available from the State for several years for the most ordinary repairs, while expenditure of $250,000 of CWA money for repairs "hardly made a dent."

Taking the same theme in another talk, State Senator Doran asserted the Boonville reformatory was the worst fire trap. Wooden steps from the boys' dormitory on the second floor are so worn that they have to be patched with scrap lumber or pieces of old boxes, he related. These steps, he said, would be the only way of escape in case of fire, as windows are barred.

ONE YEAR AIR MAIL BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Measure Permits Awarding of 12-Month Contracts by Postmaster-General.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The House yesterday amended and passed a Senate bill giving the Postmaster-General the right to make one-year airmail contracts and allowing the President to name a special commission which will determine on a Federal aviation policy.

The bill finally agreed to by the House omitted many stipulations contained in the Senate bill, among them one directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine just and reasonable rates for airmail.

Chairman Mead (Dem.), New York, of the House Postoffice Committee, said that the bill, which goes back to the Senate for concurrence in amendments, had administration approval.

It would allow the Postmaster-General to make one-year airmail contracts on a base rate of 35 cents per airplane mile for the first 300 pounds of mail. One-tenth of the base rate would be allowed for all over that, with no maximum limit fixed.

It would give Postmaster-General Farley the right to extend the recently awarded three-month contracts for another nine months, provided the contractors agreed to abide by the provisions of the new law.

The House also modified the bill so that the recently reorganized airmail companies could bid for new contracts although they had not been in existence six months. It likewise reduced from $100,000 to $75,000 the money available for the new commission of five members which would determine on a broad Federal aviation policy and submit recommendations to Congress by Feb. 1, 1935.

House Cuts World's Fair Grant.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — The House yesterday reduced from $405,000 to $200,000 the authorization for Federal participation in the Chicago World's Fair. The bill goes back to the Senate. The fight on the measure was led by Representative Blanton of Texas, who said the bill would make it possible for school children to see exhibits from countries that had defaulted on war debt payments.

ROW OVER FAILURE OF CONFIRMATION OF 'BRAIN TRUSTER'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—John Dickinson, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, last night threatened to resign unless a man of the caliber of Dr. Willard L. Thorp were confirmed by the Senate as director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Dickinson ranks next to Secretary Roper in the Commerce Department.

The Senate Commerce Committee has rejected Thorp, 11 to 5, with Chairman Stephens announcing that the majority felt that Thorp, at present serving as director under a recess appointment, had not had sufficient business experience.

Asserting that "fabricated and untruthful charges" had been circulated against Thorp by a "small clique of disappointed office seekers," Dickinson said:

"Pending the determination of whether or not it will be possible to secure acceptance of the directorship of the bureau by a man of Dr. Thorp's caliber and his confirmation at the hands of the Senate, I reserve consideration of my own future relation to the department."

Stephens denied reports that committee opposition to the former Amherst professor was based on the fact that he was registered a few years ago as a Republican, although several members of the committee hinted the vote to reject his appointment was strictly along party lines.

Praises Dr. Thorp.

In a statement Dickinson said, in part:

"The failure of Dr. Thorp to receive confirmation at the hands of the Senate as director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Favors Wagner Bill.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I always causes me sincere regret to have to disagree with the Post-Dispatch, because I agree so often and say nothing about it.

I am certain that you have considered the Wagner bill carefully—more carefully than I have, perhaps—but some of your reasons for opposing the bill ring false to my mind. I take violent issue with the statement that the "freedom of contract between labor and capital has elevated the working people beyond those of any other country in the world."

That is as confused thinking as the discredited statement that each man has the freedom to earn a living in the way he pleases in the United States or that he can refuse a job if he does not like it. Theoretically it is true, but in the practical application, the average citizen is as chain-bound as the galley-slave. Economic pressure, the tremendous power of capital and vested interests as compared with labor, make "freedom of contract" as antiquated and obfuscating a phrase as "the right of the individual to run his own business in the way he pleases."

As to the struggle between capital and labor for the control of government, we already have it. Every bill that comes before Congress has some elements of the struggle. NRA faces this struggle for control every day; so far, capital has gained the great advantage and control of NRA, to the sorrow of consumer and labor. Even the Post-Dispatch has said as much. Why should you oppose a clear statement and decision of the issues—a carrying of the struggle into the open, into the body which is supposed to represent the people as a whole rather than one section, such as NRA represents?

Granted that there was no thought of Congress in the original bill creating NRA "of making mandatory a better balance of power between capital and labor." That is the purpose of the Wagner bill. The enlightened self-interest of capital has turned out to be, as always, more self-interest than enlightenment. There is no balance of power even there. I am not condemning capital more than human nature. Where self-interest is paramount, as it must be in this situation, enlightenment is always subordinate. The Government must not only be arbiter but must establish the terms of the contest or struggle in order to insure fairness.

Education does not warn us against force, but it often warns us against education. I agree that the substitution of coercion for education is a serious one and should be carefully contemplated, but I should think that the Post-Dispatch would be the last one to say that coercion is not necessary for government—that even the New Deal has not introduced a certain amount of coercion. We are likely to think of any new rule or law as force or coercion, while we are surrounded by thousands of rules and laws every day built on force or coercion.

Since the Post-Dispatch has limited its discussion to the philosophical background of the bill and not to its actual provisions, I shall do the same. Government, the champion of labor, is no more an anomaly than government as the champion of women and children or of any group which may be exploited without government intervention. Is that democracy? Must we have a government belonging to labor merely because we pass a bill restricting the movements of capital with regard to labor?

I am certain that President Roosevelt is not going to turn the Government over to labor despite the Post-Dispatch's fears. The Wagner bill is a step toward the equalization of opportunity and the curtailing of despotic power—both fundamental American principles.

The Wagner bill must be passed.

DAVID E. HAILMAN.

Housing Costs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NO one who has given the subject study doubts that a shortage in adequate housing exists, but the doubt arises as to whether we can afford the cost of repairing the condition. Consider that twice a man's annual salary is generally accepted at what he can safely assume in payment for a house; concede that he may squeeze through an expenditure of $4200, which is three times the average annual income of wage and salary workers for the peak year of the New Era. Deduct $1000 for a building site and try to build a house in consonance with the boasted American standard. It cannot be done.

Decency requires a six-room house for a family of four—parents, a son and a daughter. Hygiene demands a tile bath; comfort, a central heating plant; and pride of ownership, hardwood floors and a reasonably pleasing exterior. Today's NRA prices and building trade wage scales make $1000 per room a very moderate estimate for such a house.

Until income is doubled for the average man or until building costs are halved, he must be content with inadequate housing. His hope is the expectancy of a Henry Ford in the mass-produced, factory-fabricated house.

J. P. ENRYE.

LIQUOR ANARCHY IN ST. LOUIS.

A police canvass discloses that there are approximately 1800 places in St. Louis where liquor is being sold by the drink, whereas only about 500 applications for the $300 city license have been received by Excise Commissioner Scullin. So slowly have the applications dribbled in that we suspect there will be a wholesale attempt to evade the terms of the new liquor control ordinance.

Such evasion is abetted by the peculiar situation created by the Brogan-Roberts Beer Law, passed by the last regular session of the Legislature. That law, legalising the sale of 3.2 beer and declaring it a non-intoxicant, imposed upon retailers a nominal State license fee of $10 a year, and forbade municipalities to impose any tax whatever on that product. Thousands of 3.2 licenses have been granted, and many of their holders are using them as shields behind which they are selling beer of greater than 3.2 content, and hard liquor. In other words, the Brogan-Roberts law created a new kind of speakeasy.

What must certainly be done by the next Legislature is to repeal this very confusing piece of legislation, passed at the instance of the brewers and at a time when the feeling against prohibition was running so high that cool judgment abdicated before the deafening cry of "We want beer." Meanwhile, it is up to the St. Louis police to turn up the cheaters who are trying to beat the city and State out of $300 a year apiece in license fees. It will be a far easier job for the police than it was for them to deal with the pre-repeal speakeasy, because public opinion most certainly will applaud every effort to put the saloon business in St. Louis on a decent and honorable basis.

Before prohibition, St. Louis had 2400 saloons, which paid $400 annually to the State and $500 annually to the city. The city liquor revenue amounted to $1,100,000 a year. Estimates of what the city will get under the new ordinance run around $300,000 a year, or less than one-third of pre-prohibition revenue. We have yet to see a rational explanation of this absurd situation. Both beer and whisky are selling for far higher prices than they were then, and the population of the city has grown. Somebody is cleaning up, but it is not the municipal treasury.

The city faces a deficit of $1,700,000 at the end of the current fiscal year. It is in desperate need of new revenue to maintain its credit at the high standard which even the depression was unable to lower. Far from meeting the expectations of citizens who voted for repeal, that it would pour a large revenue into the city treasury, St. Louis liquor interests are violently opposing all efforts to make liquor pay even its reasonable share. Let us repeat: Before prohibition, St. Louis had $1,100,000 a year from liquor revenues; now it stands to get $300,000 a year. There is something wrong with that picture.

WHERE MISSOURI LAGS.

Missouri is lagging behind the procession with regard to auto safety, says Thomas P. Henry of Detroit, president of the American Automobile Association. Mr. Henry refers to the absence of a drivers' license law, long ago proved by the experience of other states to be the best method of controlling the reckless driver. The fear of fines, imprisonment and damage claims may instill caution in some individuals, but the permanent or temporary loss of driving privileges is a far greater deterrent. The increase in drunken driving, noted over the country since repeal, makes the need for a drivers' license system all the greater.

The Legislature in past sessions has refused to act on the proposal that this great safety measure be instituted in Missouri, despite the showing of how lives would be saved by such a law. It is a duty of good citizenship to express plainly the need for this step, so the next legislative session will enable Missouri to catch up with the safety procession.

WHAT LENIN THOUGHT OF STALIN.

Whoever writes about Nikolai Lenin for Russian consumption must be scrupulous to preserve the official party view of the revolutionary leader, so glorified has he been. Mme. Krupskaya, his widow, who shared his struggles and his labors for years, might be expected to know a little something about the real Lenin, but even she fails to give the proper orthodox interpretation. Pravda, the official Communist organ, has assailed her reminiscences as giving the wrong conception of Lenin. Among its numerous points of attack, Pravda says she has failed to tell enough about Lenin's association with Josef Stalin, present leader of the U. S. S. R.

Perhaps Mme. Krupskaya did fall short in directing reflected glory upon the present ruler of the Kremlin, but it may also be that she was trying to save his blushes. The contents of the so-called Lenin will, in which he wrote a frank and even brutal appraisal of his comrades, shortly before he died in 1924, bear evidence in this direction. The will conferred Lenin's mantle on Trotsky, though criticising him as a poseur. Stalin suppressed the document in Russia, says George Seldes in his recent "World Panorama," but its text was published abroad by Max Eastman, in 1925. This is what Lenin thought of the man who became his successor:

> Stalin is a silly sort of person. This man aims at being dictator of Russia, a thing which would be a catastrophe if it were to happen. My successor should never allow, in any case, that this man be appointed secretary of the Communist party.

Stalin is firmly intrenched now, and probably can prove that no catastrophe has followed his rise to power. But publication of all the facts about Lenin's view of him might leave his face red, all the same.

MR. REED RECONSIDERS.

Former Senator Reed of Missouri decided, in Chicago Wednesday night, again to seek election to the Senate. His reasons were: First, "Someone has got to tell the people of these United States what is happening to them." Second, "The Bolsheviks at Washington have got us by the throat."

Came the dawn at Kansas City, and the former Senator's Chicago announcement of the night before tilted noticeably, though it didn't quite topple. He would neither affirm nor deny his intention, mildly elaborating to say, "I do think someone who'll tell the people what's going on at Washington should run."

Well, a considerable colony of reputedly competent persons are employed at Washington to tell the people what is being done in that town, and who are doing it. None of those correspondents, so far as we know, has had the advantage of intimate association with Dr. Wirt which Mr. Reed enjoyed as counsel to the Gary romancer. And if, as a candidate, Mr. Reed should relate even a fragment of the unspoken volumes Dr. Wirt was prepared to recite, the Missouri campaign would be ludicrous, bizarre, apocryphal and, possibly, diverting.

But, alas, the challenge of destiny that sounded clear as a carillon in the moonshine of Lake Michigan has faded into pallid indecision in the sunshine of the Kaw.

POLITICS AND THE BOND ISSUES.

After considerable deliberation, the Republican City Committee has decided to take no action for or against the city and State bond issues to be voted on next Tuesday. This is in striking contrast to the happier condition that prevailed in 1923, when the whole community, Republicans as well as Democrats, discarded partisan considerations and supported the $87,000,000 bond issue, which did so much to aid employment in St. Louis during the depression.

Individual Republicans, like ex-Gov. Caulfield and ex-Mayor Kiel, are actively campaigning for the bond issues. Many other leading Republicans are highly in favor of it, but the Republican party, officially, washes its hands of the whole thing, though leaving committee members free to act in any manner they please. We deplore very much this exhibition of partisanship in the face of a great emergency, whose sufferings the bond issues are designed to assuage.

We are unaware of any partisanship in the inception of the bond issue. As a matter of fact, the State bond issue was originally proposed by Mr. Caulfield when he was Governor. Furthermore, Mr. Caulfield, as a member of the State Public Works Advisory Board, urged Gov. Park to advocate it. Both Mayor Dickmann and Gov. Park have pledged themselves to eliminate all partisanship in the administration of the bond funds, if they are voted. Both have pledged themselves to set up bi-partisan citizens' committees which will be privileged to supervise the expenditure of the funds.

In view of the fairness exhibited by the Mayor and the Governor, and the general knowledge that these bond issues are a part of the great movement for national recovery, it strikes us that the Republican City Committee's attitude is indefensible. In such matters as these bond issues, involving the economic fate of thousands of persons, it is incredibly petty to permit partisan political considerations to play any part at all.

MR. BABLER'S OFFER.

No doubt, the city will accept with gratitude the offer of Jacob L. Babler to donate an 868-acre tract of wooded land on Wild Horse Creek road, 20 miles west of the city limits. This is one of the loveliest sections of the county, and would be a source of great pleasure to St. Louisans for generations to come. The estimated cost of $10,000 a year for improving and maintaining the proposed park is a very small sum, compared to the importance of the gift. We trust, however, that the money would not be used to destroy the natural beauty of the park in favor of artificial park development.

Two years ago, C. A. Tilles gave the city a 68-acre place at Lay and Litzinger roads, to be used as a playground for city children. In 1918, G. A. Buder gave 139 acres at Valley Park. In 1929, the city rejected the offer of H. S. Evans, to give a 300-acre tract near Allenton, in the Ozark foothills of St. Louis County, for some reason which was never made quite clear.

Thus, up to the present, St. Louis has depended upon private philanthropy for what outer park land it has. We hope the Babler gift will stimulate public purchases of outer park land before increasing prices make it impossible to do so. One acre of park space for every 100 inhabitants is the accepted metropolitan standard, but the St. Louis district has only 3178 acres, or .29 acre per 100 persons, as against New York, with 1.53 acres per 100 persons; Chicago, 1.06; Boston, 1.61; Denver, 4.18. Chicago's outer parks, known as the forest preserve system, form a chain of wooded areas around the city, comprising 33,000 acres. Cleveland and Boston have each set aside about 16,000 acres. New York's celebrated Westchester County parks comprise 15,000 acres, bought for $33,000,000, to which was added $27,000,000 for improvement. It is interesting to note that in the Westchester parks, numerous recreational features provide revenue more than sufficient to maintain and operate them.

The era of outer park development is here, and if we have half as much foresight as the men who led the movement for acquisition of Forest Park in 1875, St. Louis will be well supplied with natural recreation places. Meanwhile, let us welcome Mr. Babler's gift, which he intends as a memorial to his distinguished brother, Dr. Edmund A. Babler, former chief surgeon at Deaconess Hospital.

Gen. Johnson says some part of the NRA will be lasting. For instance, the Budd case.

THE LADY AT THE BAR.

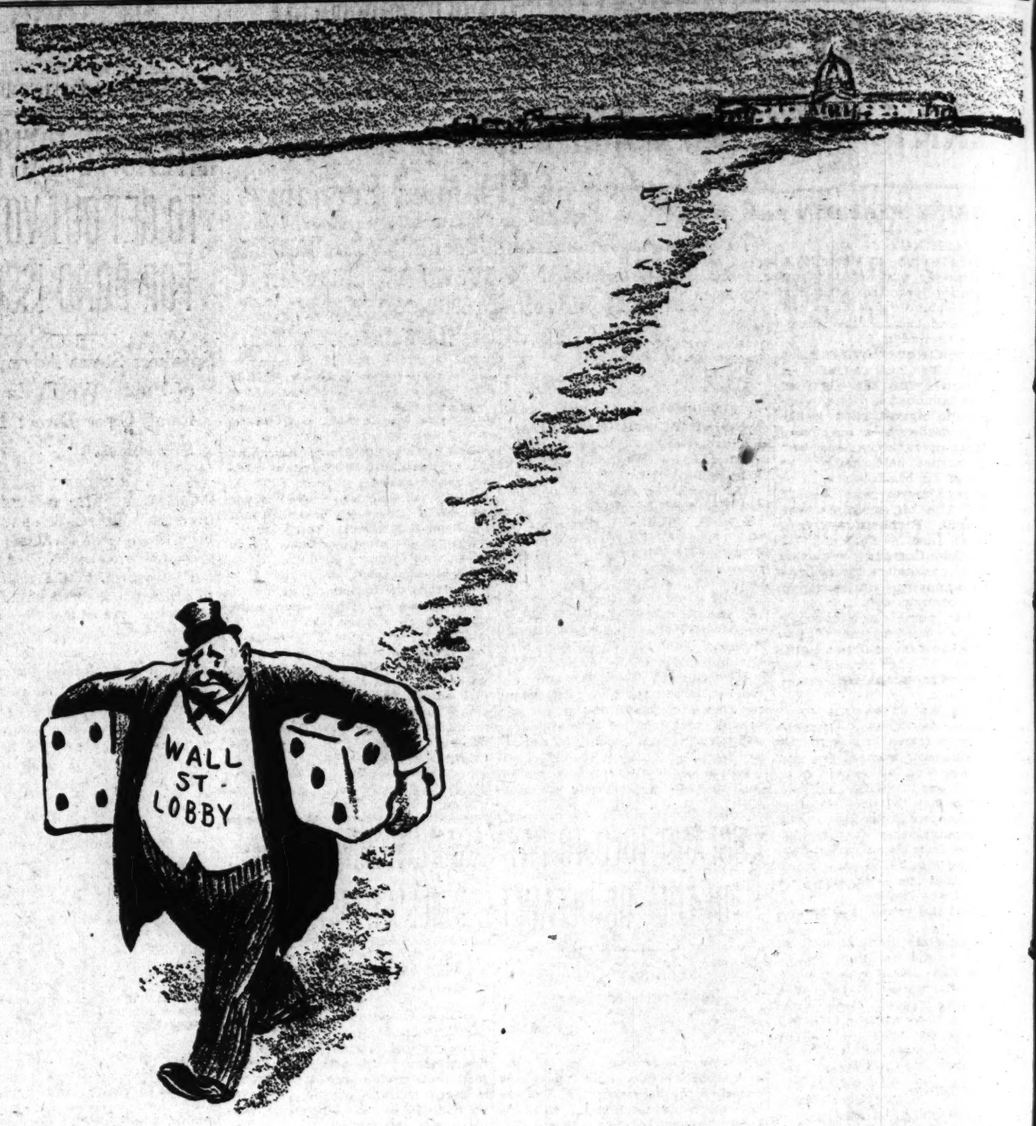

As Excise Commissioner Col. Scullin confesses, he cannot legally keep women out of saloons. He deplores their presence in such places, would infinitely prefer their absence, but can invoke no authority to that end other than his "powers of persuasion."

The Colonel, in a word, is on the spot—on a helpless official spot. In such predicament it were well, we should think, to philosophize. To peer down into the tangle of things and discover, if may be, an experience from which analogy may extricate hope. Is there anywhere in the archives an adventure or enterprise that may be made to brew a balm? Happily, there is.

There is the one-time shuddering field of politics, marked by bloody fingerprints and marred by intrigue and corruption and stratagems and spoils. "But open the doors to woman!" exclaimed the crusaders. "Strew her pathway to the polls with rosemary and welcome and the vigorous handclasp of equality, and the cares that infest the political day will, like Mr. Longfellow's Arabs, silently steal away.

May not the same reasoning be applied to the saloon? Will not woman's influence there, as in politics, banish every jot and tittle of evil, purifying the bar, and song and anecdote—the whole libretto of brass raillery?

The stock exchange bill is designed to rid the United States of that adventurous type of business in which one either lost one's shirt or lost one's soul.

THE RETREAT FROM WASHINGTON.

New Deal and Old Masters

Though praising Mr. Roosevelt as America's most adroit leader in a lifetime, who may yet win, British writer asserts record to date turns his doubt to skepticism; says owners of industry still hold major power, labor remains weak, public works have not materialized and consumer is heavily burdened by rising prices.

H. N. Brailsford in the New Statesman and Nation (London).

THE pivotal measure of President Roosevelt's program, the scheme of national public works, has failed as yet to materialize. It is much too soon to say, on the basis of a single incident, that his almost unprecedented command over Congress is at an end. He is still popular; he has for the audiences that listen to him on the wireless all his old magic. But he has not brought more than a partial recovery, and the more intelligent half of the public knows that in other countries, without heroic remedies or painful reforms, recovery in something like the same measure has come by the mere swing of the pendulum.

We shall soon know whether the President can deal with the awkward confusion of his plans. He is much the adroitest leader that America has produced in our lifetime, and he may win through. But enough has happened to revive the doubts with which one watched the inception of his experiment.

When one turns from the political difficulties to the actual achievement, doubt hardens to complete skepticism. The problem of power has not been solved. This dynamic President, with his revivalist methods of mobilising public opinion, has indeed created a system of control. But he has neither altered the balance of power within the industrial system, nor has he imposed upon it a check from above powerful enough to transform the ordinary motives and procedure of capitalism.

The conception of the New Deal has never been defined in sufficiently precise language. But it seemed to proceed on the belief that prosperity was dissipated because the owners of industry assigned to themselves inordinate profits, used them to expand the productive capacity of their machine., and then confronted a starved and inelastic market, that could not absorb the ever-rising flood of goods, because its total purchasing power had not risen in due proportion. That is the rather vague diagnosis to be found in the speeches of the President, and rather more clearly in those of his able Secretary for Agriculture, Mr. Wallace.

The problem then was, on this showing, (a) to limit profits, and to raise, relatively to profits, the total wages bill, and (b) outside industry, to raise the consuming power of the farm population, by bringing its prices into line with those of manufacture.

In the early days, when Gen. Johnson was bullying the captains of industry to adopt more liberal "codes of fair competition," there was much to rejoice over. Child labor was eliminated up to the age of 16. The minimum wages prescribed and the maximum hours certainly meant relief for the worse-paid grades in the most cruelly sweated trades. The shorter week promised a bigger total wage bill, and higher purchasing power. The effect on the trades that make consumers' goods was soon evident, and some attained normal activity.

After this first impetus, however, the defects of the whole system became obvious. What in effect has happened was that the state had suspended the operation of the anti-trust laws, and had itself compelled every industry to organize itself as a gigantic price ring. By organized moral pressure within its own ranks, prices were forced up to a uniform level, which had no relation to the costings of individual firms. Over the greater part of industry, competitive prices ceased to exist. A minimum wage had indeed been fixed, but above that, the actual rates were subject to negotiation.

At first it seemed that under a friendly administration, with public opinion behind them, the often moribund trade unions of the American Federation of Labor would revive, and they did in fact greatly increase their membership. But if they grew, the sham company unions grew five times faster. Again and again, now in conflict with the Steel Trust and again with the automobile industry, the administration had its chance of vindicating the men's right of combination. Always it preferred to smooth and compromise; always it evaded in its adroit settlements the main issue.

One cannot say that as yet the battle is irreparably lost. The passage of the Wagner bill, defining the right of combination, might still affect the issue. But up to date, the broad fact is that combination among wage-earners plays no effective part in determining wages. The immense mass of American workers are organized, if at all, in sham unions, which the employer creates, controls and finances. He negotiates, therefore, over wages with himself.

* * *

This is the background of the situation on which the Consumers' Council has issued its devastating report. Industrial wholesale prices are shooting up far beyond the level at which the President aimed—the level of 1926—and they are rising out of all proportion to wages. The result must be, it predicts, that when in due course these wholesale prices are reflected in retail trade, consumption will decline, hands will be dismissed, and deflation will start afresh.

This is sufficiently disturbing, but the case is actually worse, since agriculture shows no such rise in prices. Over the so-called "open price" industries (where prices are in fact fixed by internal pressure) the index as compared with 100 in 1926 stands at 111, and these cover more than half the industrial field. Farm products show an index of 55.

That a planned economy should show no miracle of order after only half a year's trial is not surprising. What is alarming, what seems to mean final defeat, is that the problem of power has not been faced. Gather the captains of an industry together, place in their hands the power of organized control, leave the consumers impotent, regiment the workers under their paymasters' whip, and would any sane being expect a different result?

Industry is still organized for maximum profit. It can now fix prices at levels that leave to the weaker concerns a sufficient and to the stronger an inordinate profit. There is no change in the distribution of the proceeds of industry, and no reason to anticipate a change, while power rests in the old hands, and motives act as before. The New Deal is as yet an aspiration which has not ordered its forces for the indispensable struggle.

TODAY and TOMORROW

The Injustice to Mr. Mellon

NOW that a Federal grand jury has dismissed the charges against Mr. Mellon, it cannot be called premature criticism to say that the Department of Justice has been guilty of a most discreditable performance. For two months, Mr. Mellon has stood under an accusation which, if it had been true, would have marked him out as contemptible beyond words. The accusation was in substance that he had defrauded the Treasury of money he owed it. This very grave accusation was made publicly on March 10. Then two months passed before the department made an effort to substantiate it, and before Mr. Mellon had a chance to answer it.

That is not justice. It is the business of grand juries to decide whether a man shall be accused of a crime. Until they have decided there is evidence justifying the accusation, it is not the business of administrative officials to accuse him in the newspapers and arraign him before public opinion.

If Mr. Cummings thought he had a case against Mr. Mellon, it was his duty to lay it before a grand jury without any preliminary publicity, and let the grand jury decide whether Mr. Mellon should be accused. That is what grand juries are for. They exist to determine, not whether a man is guilty or innocent, but whether there is enough evidence to justify an accusation against him. By bringing the accusation two months before the grand jury had even seen the evidence, Mr. Cummings committed an act of profound injustice.

The injustice of the thing is matched only by its stupidity. Anyone who thought about the matter for three minutes should have known that the chances of Mr. Mellon's cheating on his income tax were not one in a million. He was Secretary of the Treasury during the year covered by the tax return. Is it conceivable that a man in his position, with an income of nearly $7,000,000 that year, would deliberately have cheated the Government out of $700,000? It is idiotic. To believe Mr. Mellon would have the audacity and downright imbecility to falsify his tax is to believe the utterly incredible.

It does not matter how good Mr. Cummings thought the evidence was. His common sense should have told him that the chances of its demonstrating willful fraud were negligible. To sustain the accusation, the evidence had to be perfect, conclusive, absolute. It obviously was not, and, therefore it was stupid and irresponsible to bring the charge.

At the motives which actuated the department, one can only guess. But the thing has the appearance of being a low and inept political maneuver. It looks like one of those stunts that politicians stoop to every now and then, thinking they can gain some advantage by it for their party.

It is not the first stunt of its kind within recent memory. In 1921, when the Republicans came into office, they did everything they could to discredit the Wilson administration. They also raked over the records and made accusations that could not be sustained.

But why in the name of sanity should the Roosevelt administration stoop to such petty nonsense? In its main endeavors, it is acting to carry out great conceptions of public policy. It should not have the time, the interest or the taste for the little view of politics. Those in its ranks who take the little view should be resolutely suppressed or swept aside.

The DAILY MERRY

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 11.

TWO decades ago in Chicago, a young lawyer who had built up a lucrative practice with Big Business, suddenly got disgusted with it all and became the champion of the underdog.

He became the attorney for labor unions and other lost causes. As special counsel for the City of Chicago he launched a vitriolic attack upon the biggest utility magnate in the Midwest—a man who had built an opera house, endowed Chicago charities, held that city in the hollow of his hand.

The young lawyer was Donald Richberg. The big magnate was Samuel Insull. Richberg was convinced that Insull's Peoples' Gas Light and Coke Company was overcharging its consumers by millions of dollars annually. On behalf of the city he brought suit.

From that point on Richberg's life became burdensome. Insull showed the same ingenuity in fighting him that he showed in his recent attempts to escape the arm of justice.

The young lawyer was shadowed by private detectives. Attempts were made to frame him with the aid of complaisant women. For one year his pay and all expenses in the law suit were held up. He had to borrow money to push the case. Big Bill Thompson, then Mayor and whose campaign received a $100,000 contribution from Insull, attempted to discharge him. The city politic confessed that they expected he was going to be "rubbed out."

How completely he won it, however, even he did not then realize. For while Sam Insull was spiriting from a lonely voyage of exile to train bearing him to trial, Richberg, now a close adviser to President Roosevelt, held one of the most powerful legal jobs in the U. S. A.—Counsel for the NRA.

Island Troubles.

THE President is having bad luck with Puerto Rico. No matter who serves as Governor trouble develops. Some critics say it is because of the President's poor selections, others that the political and economic status of Puerto Rico is insolvable.

Probably it is a combination of both.

At first the attack was on Governor Bob Gore, who offended the natives. Now the attack is on Governor Blanton Winship, who is charming to the natives.

Winship, an old army man, once military attache to Calvin Coolidge, is polite, polished, punctillious, but completely without vision. Puerto Ricans like him personally, but not politically.

The result is a drive to undermine him. Winship they would retain as Governor, but strip him of his chief duties. These would go to Puerto Ricans.

The interesting thing about it all is the part Mrs. Roosevelt is playing in the picture. A recent visit to the island, she took a great interest in its future.

Another recent visitor was Rex Tugwell, whose main job is assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who performs many official errands for the First Lady of the Land.

Tugwell and John Carter (son of Jay Franklin, Tugwell's ghost) recently have been working with Mrs. Roosevelt on the future of Winship in Puerto Rico. The War Department, which has charge of the island, doesn't like it, but can't do it. The cabal of Puerto Rican politicians against Winship is strong.

BRENTWOOD BOND ISSUE V

Resubmission Tomorrow of Proposals Which Failed March

A special election will be held in Brentwood tomorrow for resubmission of proposals for a $43,000 bond issue for a City Hall, fire engine house and equipment and for granting of a 20-year franchise to the St. Louis County Water Co.

The proposals were submitted March 6, but failed of the necessary two-thirds majority. A proposed $63,000 bond issue also was defeated, but will not be resubmitted at this time. Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

The War Department, which has charge of the island, doesn't like it, but can't help it. The cabal of Puerto Rican politicians against Winship is too strong.

SENATOR BOB WAGNER has agreed to a 50-50 split on his bitterly contested labor disputes bill.

In a last hope to obtain some sort of labor legislation he has given ground on one of the two major provisions of his original measure.

They were: (1) outlawing of company unions; (2) majority rule to control membership on workers' representation committees.

Gen. Hugh Johnson secretly tried to kill both proposals.

Vigorously he fought the creation of a powerful, independent National Labor Board. In the auto strike agreement, he dealt the principle of majority rule a crushing blow by laying down the precedent of proportional representation.

Wagner, with his back to the wall, and striving desperately to salvage something out of his bill, proposed a compromise. He stood pat on the majority rule requirement, but offered to give up the flat ban on company unions for a modified clause. This would recognize company organizations, but prohibition their domination by employers.

Wagner is far from satisfied. But he says it was compromise or nothing, and he considers it better to make one step forward than none at all.

Carter Glass.

THE most consistent critic of the Roosevelt Administration is the man whose single campaign speech did more than anything else to start a torrent of votes for the Democratic ticket. He is querulous, crotchety, cantankerous but eternally honest Carter Glass, senior Senator from Virginia.

Senator Glass has two great characteristics — courage and a propensity for free, untrammeled speech.

Within the past ten months, Senator Glass, on various occasions has declared the following: "Devaluation of the gold dollar is dishonor. In my conception it is immoral... I would rather die than see the disgrace of this era.... This is not Democracy. It is mobocracy.... The Blue Eagle has become a bird of prey... This Federal reserve note says payable in gold at the U S Treasury. That is now a lie. It is not redeemable in gold. Think of a government teaching its citizens dishonesty."

"He represents a dead age—a day long gone by," say Carter's critics. But he still commands a tremendous following in the Senate and in the South.

Merry-Go-Round.

IN his recent annual report to the Secretary of War, General T. Q. Ashburn, president of the government-owned Inland Waterways Corporation, bitterly attacks the railroads, charging that they are waging a secret propaganda campaign again the corporation. Last year Ashburn's waterways made a net profit of $66,786.... Mississippi's lanky Representative Jeff Busby, star pitcher of the House, got his bachelor of science degree in one year at a Tennessee normal school and the following year obtained a law degree from the University of Mississippi.... Busby explains this academic feat: "just didn't have the money to spend much time in school, so I hurried things up".... Was the United States Chamber of Commerce peeved at the President's tart letter to their annual convention last week!... The lobbies of businessmen delegates buzzed with indignant exclamations.... The President had refused to address the convention, despite two urgent invitations. His peppery letter coming on top of this rebuff galled the business moguls plenty.... But there was nothing they could do about it.

SCULPTOR BORGLUM PRAISES AUDITORIUM

But Asks 'What's That Thing?' Pointing to Civil Courts Building.

Gutzon Borglum, famed sculptor, who is working on the colossal Stone Mountain and Black Hills memorials, passed through St. Louis yesterday on his way to Columbia, Mo., and had a few things to say about the Municipal Auditorium and the new Civil Courts Building upon seeing them for the first time.

The sculptor, abrupt of manner and with a fierce mustache, black sideburns and a battered hat pulled down over his eyes, came by train from Washington. He was driven from Union Station down Chestnut street by Roy T. Davis, assistant to the president of Stephens College at Columbia.

When the car was halted opposite the Auditorium, Borglum said immediately: "Swell. That's splendid." Then, "What are those things on the steps?"

"They're bears."

"They Look Like Dogs."

"Well, they look like dogs from here. What are they for?"

"Good idea," he said, when told they were used because the seal of the State of Missouri has two bears.

"That's a beautiful building," he added. "Don't make the mistake of hiding it. Don't plant so many big trees on the plaza in front of it that you can't see it."

He pointed east. "What's that thing over there?"

"The Civil Courts Building. There's been a good deal of criticism of it."

"Well, I should say so. What's the idea of putting that little house on top of that big box?"

He waved at the several tall buildings to be seen. "Skyscrapers are out of date. The automobile is killing their usefulness except as office buildings. The automobile is emptying the New York skyscrapers."

Saw Enough.

He said he resumed work on the Confederate Memorial at Stone Mountain, Ga., a month ago, after a lapse of nine years. With 70 men employed, he expects to complete it in six years.

Borglum said he hopes to complete the monument to the nation's progress and pioneer expansion on Mount Rushmore, South Dakota, in three years, "in time for the present administration." He has 60 men at work, he said. The task lagged for several years because of lack of funds and imperfections in the granite, but it was continued last fall with RFC funds.

Borglum spoke last night in the Stephens College auditorium before the National Editorial Association.

COL. AND MRS. LINDBERGH TO VISIT ST. LOUIS FRIENDS

Scheduled to Arrive Tomorrow; Will Inspect Trophies at Jefferson Memorial.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will fly to St. Louis tomorrow to spend a day or two visiting friends. One of the purposes of their visit is to inspect the famous collection of Lindbergh trophies at the Jefferson Memorial.

They are expected to leave New York in the morning in his fast-cruising monocoupe, and to reach Lambert-St. Louis airport some time in the afternoon. They will leave St. Louis, probably Monday, for Kansas City.

HEADS WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE

Mrs. F. A. Middlebush, Columbia, Mo., Chosen State President.

Mrs. F. A. Middlebush of Columbia, Mo., was elected president of the Missouri League of Women Voters at a meeting of the board of directors at Webster Groves yesterday. She will serve the unexpired term of Mrs. Edgar F. Van Buskirk, also of Columbia, who has been made a regional director of the organization.

The league has sent letters to members of Congress urging support of legislation to repeal sections of the national economy act permitting the dismissal of married persons in Government service. The directors also voted yesterday to hold the annual convention of the league in Joplin in October.

DIES ON THE GOLF LINKS

Thomas Curtis, Former Hardware Dealer, Succumbs Suddenly.

Thomas Curtis, 58 years old, 3801 Botanical avenue, former hardware dealer, died suddenly, apparently from heart disease, as he was about to tee off in a golf game yesterday at University City links.

TONY SARG SHOW CANCELED

The performance of Tony Sarg's Marionettes scheduled for noon tomorrow has been canceled. Those holding tickets for that performance may exchange them for tickets to the 3 o'clock matinee at the Auditorium ticket office.

The show, which closes tomorrow night, is sponsored by the Queen's Work.

Paderewski Appeals Tax Case.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist, petitioned the Board of Tax Appeals today for a redetermination of a 1931 income tax claim of $4101. The petition, which gave his address as Paso Robles, Cal., charged that the Bureau of Internal Revenue disallowed a $61,000 deduction from taxable income for the gift of a statue of Woodrow Wilson to the City of Posen, Poland, and of certain business expenses.

CHANGE IN RULES FOR PULITZER PRIZES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Three changes in the regulations governing the annual Pulitzer prize awards in letters and journalism have been made by the advisory board of the Columbia University School of Journalism, which this year overruled several selections of the juries.

Two of the changes, interpreted as a move back to the spirit of the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, consist of the addition, in brackets, of the phrase, "preferably dealing with American life," in the novel and drama award clauses.

The third is an amendment in procedure, described today by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, as follows:

Henceforth, the juries in each prize field will not be expected to make recommendations for the award of any prize. Instead, they will present an eligible list of candidates, with a statement of the reasons why the particular candidate is thought worthy of serious consideration.

These eligible lists will then guide the advisory board—the body charged by the Pulitzer will with the responsibility of recommending the names for awards—in making its definite recommendations to the trustees of Columbia University.

The changes were voted by the board at its recent annual meeting. Dr. Butler said that the regulations were amended to prevent misunderstanding on the part of the public.

The novel and drama clauses, as amended, read:

"For the original American play, performed in New York, which shall best represent the educational value and power of the stage (preferably dealing with American life) one thousand dollars ($1000)."

Joseph Pulitzer wrote in the will that the novel prize should go to the "American novel published during the year which shall best present the whole atmosphere of American life, and the highest tandard of American manners and nanhood"; but the part relating o "American life" and "American nanners and manhood" was ropped from the clause, by vote of the advisory board, in 1931.

Carnegie Peace Fund Election.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, was re-elected president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at the trustee's annual meeting yesterday. All other officers, also, were re-elected. Two new trustees elected to fill vacancies were Peter Molyneaux, editor of the Texas Weekly of Dallas and Thomas J. Watson of New York.

MR. AND MRS DUNCAN IVERS MEIER of Huntleigh Village, accompanied by their younger sons, Henry and Frederick Meier, will leave June 22 for Pasadena, Cal., where they will spend a few weeks with Mr. Meier's mother, Mrs. Henry M. Meier, formerly of St. Louis. They will sail from San Francisco July 12 for Honolulu to remain until late August. The Meier summer home in Harbor, Mich., will not be opened this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan I. Meier Jr., 7300 Pershing avenue, are entertaining Mrs. Meier's mother, Mrs. George L. Ball of Memphis, formerly of St. Louis. She arrived a week ago and is being entertained informally at family parties. Mr. Ball will come to St. Louis in a few days and accompany his wife home.

Mrs. George W. Crawford of Pittsburgh, formerly Miss Annie Laurie Warmack of St. Louis, and her mother, Mrs. Robert N. Warmack, have gone to Paris for their annual visit. They arrived in France a few days ago on the Manhattan.

Mrs. Eugene C. Argust of Chicago, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wade Childress of Clayton road for the past three weeks will leave in a few days for her home. Mrs. Argust, formerly of St. Louis, has been entertained at many informal parties during her visit here.

Miss Peggy Wendling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wendling, 4509 Pershing avenue, will return today from Louisville, Ky., where she has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. John Avery Haldeman. Miss Wendling went south last week to attend the Kentucky Derby. Mr. and Mrs. Wendling, who also attended the Derby, returned home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Castleman Mackay, 3963 Lindell boulevard, returned yesterday from Rock Island, Ill., where they have been visiting Mrs. Mackay's mother, Mrs. Ben T. Cable.

Mrs. E. W. Davis of the Greystone apartments and her daughter, Miss Betty Davis, have motored to Pittsburgh to visit Mrs. Davis' son, E. W. Davis Jr. Following their visit in Pittsburgh, they will spend several weeks in New York.

Miss Linda Crist Odell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Odell, 4906 Argyle place, is expected to return about June 1, following a visit of two months in Boston. Miss Odell was a debutante of last season.

Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith of 7171 Kingsbury boulevard, returned this week from Washington, D. C., where she attended the Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Assembly of the Daughters of American Colonists. After the convention she visited the homes of her ancestors in Virginia and Maryland.

Miss Carol Mansfield, a freshman at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., was a guest over last week-end at the annual spring house party at Cornell University. Miss Carol was graduated last June from Mary Institute. Early next month she will join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Mansfield, 5818 Cates avenue, in New York, where they will meet their older daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who will arrive from France June 15 on the Berengaria.

Miss Mansfield was graduated from Mary Institute in June, 1932, and took her freshman work at Washington University. For the past year she has been a student in the study-home of Mme. Jeanne L. Boue, in the suburb, Auteuil, near the Bois de Boulogne. Mme Boue receives into her home each year eight foreign young women of college age to spend a winter studying French literature, the language and history of art, either at the Sorbonne or with professors privately engaged.

Miss Mansfield will go to Oberammergau for the opening performance of the tri-centennial celebration of the Passion Play, and before sailing will be the guest for a fortnight of a family friend, Mme. Francois Bouchardy at her home, Le Chateau d'Entraiques, in Touraine.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield and their daughters will visit relatives in Hartford, Conn., before returning home.

A GROUP of St. Louisans will go to Bloomington, Ill., tomorrow to attend the Passion Play, patterned after that at Oberammergau, which has been given there each year for the past 10. They will depart in the morning in a private car and will return that night.

In the party will be Mrs. Robert D. Lewis, 52 Westmoreland place; Mrs. John C. Roberts, Page and Partridge avenues; Mrs. John W. Harrison, 5371 Waterman avenue; Mrs. R. D. Patterson, 4933 McPherson avenue and her sister, Miss Wilkinson; Mrs. Fuller Connell of the Senate apartments and Mrs. Evelyn Penny; Miss Louise Quinette, 5082 Washington boulevard; Mrs. James Campbell and Mrs. Stuart Harrison.

Mrs. Thomas J. Drummond will attend the performance the following Saturday.

The following have been appointed to assist the executive board of the Cryptic Club at a May-time ball to be given by the club Saturday night at the Artists' Guild: Mrs. H. H. Cammack, Mrs. George C. Smith, Mrs. Otto L. Spaeth, Mrs. L. Avon Blue Jr., Mrs. Herbert W. Cost, Mrs. Clark McAdams, Mrs. G. Alex Hope, Mrs. Everett W. Pattison, Mrs. I. A. Stevens, Mrs. Archer O'Reilly, Mrs. Samuel P. Goddard, Mrs. James C. Jones, Mrs. Frederick J. Taussig, Mrs. Scott McNutt, Mrs. Jack Feist, Mrs. G. Leighton Bridge, Mrs. Ernest W. Stix, Mrs. Walter Koken, Mrs. Rutherford Cravens, Mrs. Herman Miller, Mrs. Nelson Pope, Mrs. Ralph L. Thompson, Mrs. Ernest Sacks, Mrs. Harold Elbert, Miss Sarah Selby, Miss Ann Peck, Miss Margaret Ewing, Miss Charlotte Ewing, Miss Judith Harris, Miss Althea and Miss Mary Somerville Grossman, Miss Mary Margaret Conway, Miss Adelaide Tarrant, Miss Charity Grace and Miss Isabelle and Miss Fanita Fry.

May decorations will be installed under the direction of the following artists: Miss Helen Beccard, Charles Quest, Mercer Orwig and E. V. Gauger.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Niedringhaus, 525 Sheffield avenue, Webster Groves, will return Tuesday or Wednesday from their visit in Chicago.

Bondholders Buy In Property Under Foreclosure Subject to Court Approval.

The 17-story apartment building at 6625 Skinker boulevard was sold at foreclosure today to a bondholders' committee which bid $360,000. The Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Co., acting for a client, bid $351,000, and Joseph H. Preiss bid $352,000.

The sale is subject to approval of the Circuit Court. Judge Calhoun, who ordered the sale last February in behalf of the holders of $670,000 in defaulted bonds, this week disapproved the proposed reorganization plan of the bondholders' committee.

The reorganization plan provided that half of the equity would revert to the former owner, R. H. McRoberts, and half be held for bondholders, who would receive, in exchange for their present securities, bonds on which the rate of interest would be determined by the earnings of the building.

GENERAL AMERICAN PAYS $5,445,841 LOAN

Money Was Borrowed From RFC by Missouri State Life.

The General American Life Insurance Co. yesterday completed repayment of a loan of $5,445,841 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which the insurance company assumed when it took over the business of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co. last September. The final payment check was for $728,047.54.

In addition to paying off this RFC loan, the General American Life has paid off bank loans of $1,718,117, making a total of $7,163,958 debt retired since it took over the Missouri State Life.

Walter W. Head, president of the company, said it has set aside $1,065,674 as a reserve for reduction of liens on Missouri State policies. Up to May 1 policy claims totaling $7,173,624 have been paid to 7053 persons, Head said.

A satisfactory volume of new business is being done by the General American, Head said, and the agency field force is to be expanded to 1000 men.

Commerce raises broader than merely personal issues.

"Dr. Thorp is on all hands admitted to be one of the most competent business analysts in the country. He is not a theoretical reformer, but an analyst of facts and figures. No protest against his confirmation was made by any respectable volume of business opinion on the ground that he did not have 'practical' business experience or on any other ground. Business knows only too well the value and importance of the analyst. No objection to his nomination based on any consideration of public interest was made from any source.

"On the other hand, fabricated and untruthful charges of a miserable, petty partisan character have been persistently circulated against him by a very small clique of disappointed office seekers, at least one of them closely associated with the Hoover administration. The utter falsity and maliciousness of these charges has been amply demonstrated in the hearings before the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Commerce and in Dr. Thorp's reply to the recent petition of the so-called 'Democratic protective committee.'

"Unless a man of the same caliber and character as Dr. Thorp can be found who will accept appointment as director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and who can be confirmed by the Senate before the close of the present session, the bureau will be surrendered to patronage mongering in its pettiest and most contemptible form.

"The intrigues against Dr. Thorp have made the bureau a seething hotbed of personal manipulation on the part of men seeking to gain or retain appointments on which not merely their advancement but in some instances even their livelihood depends.

"If this condition continues, as it will inevitably continue, unless a director of the type of Dr. Thorp is appointed and confirmed the usefulness of the bureau to the community or to the public at large will be completely, and I believe permanently, paralyzed and destroyed."

FAVORS LETTING BAR PASS ON ADMISSIONS

Supervision of admissions to the bar and the regulation of judicial procedure should be vested in the bar itself and not in state Legislatures, Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of Washington University Law School told the Missouri Society for Mental Hygiene yesterday.

He presided at a meeting at the St. Louis Medical Society Building on "The Legal Aspects of Delinquency and Crime."

Asserting that it was impossible to look for the reform or modernizing of the bar to "our eighteenth century Legislatures," Dean Rutledge said that the lawyers themselves were taking the matter in hand.

Discipline a Matter for Bar.

The recent actions of the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association, he said, demonstrated that discipline of the bar was a matter for the bar itself. It should now exert its power over admissions to the bar, he added.

"When our courts have men of vision," he said, "they will say to the Legislature, 'You have refused to modernize our courts and criminal procedure. In the interest of public well-being we now take this matter in our own hands.'

"I am not unconscious of some dangers in this step. At one time our judges were so conservative, the Legislatures had to set up statutes to break the red tape in which they had enmeshed themselves. Now they can't get out of the red tape which the Legislatures have thrown around them."

Urges Court by a Commission.

Prof. Ralph Fuchs of Washington University Law School urged the adoption of a plan once recommended by Alfred E. Smith: the appointment of a commission of experts which would decide the fate of a criminal rather than a judge or jury.

"It would mean," he said, "that the questions of revenge and punishment for a crime would be entirely dropped, and that expiation would be considered but lightly. It may mean that a so-called petty criminal may be given a long prison sentence whereas the commission would find it no harm to release a so-called grave criminal who had committed his crime under the stress of certain conditions.

"I think we are ready for the step. Public opinion, perhaps, is not. Certainly a group of men, whose business is the study of human beings, if given complete latitude can do a better job than most judges and certainly better than all juries."

Dr. Paul J. Zentay, former Assistant Health Commissioner, was elected president of the society at the annual dinner last night at the Coronado Hotel. Dean Sidney E. Sweet and Miss Nancy Johnson were named vice-presidents, and A. W. Jones secretary-treasurer.

HERRIOT DEFIES 'YOUNG TURKS' TO OUST HIM AS PARTY CHIEF

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, May 11.—Edouard Herriot issued a challenge today to the "Young Turks" to oust him as chief of the Radical Socialists, France's dominant political group.

"I will quit the presidency of the party rather than quit the cabinet," Herriot said, in a secret session of Radical Socialist leaders at the opening of the party congress.

The "Young Turks"—militant left wing adherents of the party—are opposed to sharing by the radicals of cabinet power with parties of the right. Herriot is a minister of state in the cabinet of Premier Doumergue.

While Herriot began attempting to round up a majority of the party for continued participation in the Doumergue government the "Young Turks" made the following demands: 'Dissolution of all political leagues, such as the Camelots du Roi, Royalist youth group, and, no further decrees such as Doumergue has issued to effect budgetary economies.

SWINDLED BY 'GOLD BUYER'

Shoe Repair Man Finds He Lent $50 on Brass.

Louis Drill, owner of a shoe repair shop at 1624 Franklin avenue, told police yesterday he had been swindled of $50 by a man who represented himself to be a buyer of old gold, and borrowed the money, offering gold as security.

Drill said the swindler had about 30 discs of melted gold, which he had tested by a jeweler before advancing the money. But yesterday when he opened the box which contained the discs he found that brass had been substituted for the gold.

Six Months for Beating Reporter.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 11.—Louis Tomai, automobile racing driver, was sentenced yesterday to six months in jail for assaulting a newspaper photographer and a reporter at the funeral of a racing victim, Ernie Triplett. Elbert (Babe) Stapp was fined $100. The drivers pleaded guilty of simple assault on John Bennus, photographer, and James Lee, reporter, of the Los Angeles Examiner, which had been conducting a campaign against race track fatalities.

U. S. MISSIONARY KIDNAPED FOR RANSOM IN CHINA

NEW YORK, May 11.—A report that Chinese bandits had kidnaped the Rev. Howard Smith of Washington, Pa., from his mission in P'Eng Shui, Szechuan province, China, was received today by the headquarters of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The report, sent by the Hankow office of the alliance, said the Rev. Mr. Smith was being held for $100,000 (Mex.) ransom. It was said that none of the other missionaries at the station was molested.

Mr. Byrne, who had served on the committee since 1910, died Sunday.

ROOSEVELT URGES REVISION OF CIVIL AND CRIMINAL LAW

Tells American Institute Adaptation to Modern Needs Is Major Problem.

By the Associated Press.

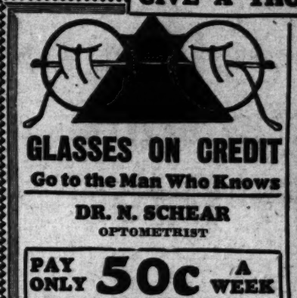

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In a message to the American Law Institute yesterday, President Roosevelt proposed a study of criminal statutes and recommendations for revisions to meet modern conditions.

"I need not point out to you," he said, "that the adaptation of our criminal law and its administration to meet the needs of a modern, complex civilization is one of our major problems. I believe the American Law Institute is in a postion to make important contributions to the solution of this perplexing problem."

The President applauded the work of the institute in the restatement of civil law which it undertook in 1923. He suggested that the clarification and simplification of "what we lawyers call the private civil law" be carried forward, but that the institute give serious consideration also to the need for modernizing criminal laws.

"There is an urgent need for intelligent, painstaking and patriotic work in this field," the President's message said. "There is no organization better fitted for this great task than the American Law Institute."

ferson today, with several campaign leaders as speakers.

The Allied Building Contractors' Association, which is sponsoring a "vertical union" in the construction industry here, opposed to American Federation of Labor interests, has called on Mayor Dickmann to pledge that proposed city construction shall be let without discrimination as to membership of workmen in any organization. Such a promise would bring support of the bond issue from the association and its allied union, the communication said. The association charged that the city had been unfairly prejudiced in favor of A. F. of L. building workers.

The Business Men's Association of South St. Louis has indorsed the city bond issue. The Northwestern Business Association has announced opposition to all bond issues.

ONE IN 4 ON RELIEF IN ST. CLAIR COUNTY

A new peak in the number of families and individuals on relief rolls in St. Clair County has been reached. Miss Claudine Rodgers, executive secretary of the St. Clair County Emergency Relief Committee, a division of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, said yesterday that during April 39,170 persons from 8666 families were receiving direct or work relief, and that applications so far this month indicated only a slight decrease. The April total represents 25 per cent of the St. Clair County population of 157,755.

Figures prepared by George Carmichael, relief statistician, show that during April 2218 old cases, representing 9971 persons, were reopened and that 447 new families, or 1912 persons, applied for state relief. The 2218 cases, Miss Rodgers explained, were families thrown back on state relief by cessation of CWA work, while the 447 new cases were families that had reached the end of their resources. The March case load was 6473, or 29,049 persons—18.5 per cent of the population.

$20 a Month Per Family.

Relief allotments to St. Clair County for March and April were $140,000 and $183,000, respectively. For May the allotment will be $190,000, Miss Rodgers said. About half of these funds are supplied by loan grants from the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and the other half from a $30,000,000 state bond issue to be retired out of gasoline taxes. Average disbursement per family a month for direct relief is $20.

Administrative costs, Miss Rodgers said, have been less than 10 per cent. The majority of office workers are taken from relief rolls to keep administration costs to a minimum.

In addition to direct relief, St. Clair County carries on a work relief program under direction of A. W. Dimond. Under this program, Dimond explained, men and women on relief rolls are enabled to work an alotted number of days each month and receive cash in payment. Each worker has a monthly budget, ranging between $10 and $70, depending upon the size of his family and the age of his children. Prevailing wages are paid, with a minimum of 30 cents per hour.

300 Men on Relief Jobs.

The first purpose of work relief, Dimond emphasized, is to keep up the morale of the men, though work is not compulsory. Last month, Dimond said, 300 men worked out their budget, and by the end of this month 3000 men will be drawing wages from work relief projects.

St. Clair County includes East St. Louis, Belleville, Mascoutah, Marissa, Brooklyn and Dupo.

"Let's Fall in Love" is the song they sing to the Girl with a CAMAY COMPLEXION

Love has many languages. The language of flowers, of whispered compliments, of tender song.

And the charm that inspires them all is the peach-bloom softness of a lovely skin — the smooth, clear beauty of a Camay Complexion.

A few cakes of Camay—and soon your own mirror will reflect a clear, fresh skin. And your fingertips, when you touch your cheek, will be greeted by a smooth, soft texture.

A CAMAY COMPLEXION AND ANOTHER BEAUTY CONTEST IS WON!

You may not ever care to be selected "Miss Universe" or to take part in the kind of Beauty Contest the newspapers illustrate.

But even if you're shy and unassuming, your beauty and charm are judged in life's great Beauty Contest. Why, almost every day someone's eyes look you over, someone's mind is made up, a friend is gained or lost. And the sure way to win people's favor and praise is to get yourself a Camay Complexion!

A pretty young matron said, "There's a cool, glamorous freshness to my complexion ever since I began using Camay. I feel sure the improvement in my looks is due to Camay's rich, creamy lather."

Try Camay—and convince yourself. You'll be more pleased with the results than you dream! Camay is the perfect soap for your skin—and a boon to a girl's good looks!

"I still can hear them ringing in my ears—those grand things he said about me and my complexion."

To Refer Strike to Roosevelt.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 11. — Officers of Remington Rand, Inc., decided yesterday to refer the strike in the company's plants at Middletown, Syracuse and Ilion to President Roosevelt with the understanding that his decision shall be final to both parties. The walkout was called after employes and company had agreed on an eleven-point memorandum which covered hours, wages and conditions of work. Union organizers insisted on the use of the word "union" in three places in the memorandum.

Loew's STATE Starts TODAY

COAL BOARD REFUSES ILLINOIS REFERENDUM

No Way of Putting Decision Into Effect, Chairman Declares.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The Bituminous Coal Labor Board for division No. 2 today refused to call a State referendum to settle the long dispute between rival Illinois coal miners' unions.

Chairman John Lapp issued a statement in reference to petitions from miners in which he said that there is no authority under the NRA for the bituminous coal code for a referendum which would determine which union should represent the miners in collective bargaining.

He said:

"The holding of a statewide or a countywide referendum would be utterly futile. There would be no way of putting the decision of the election into effect. In mines where there are existing contracts the decision could not be enforced because the contracts were there before."

Representatives of the Progressive Miners of American had asked the board to hold a statewide vote as a showdown in the dispute which has raged in Illinois for many months between that union and the United Mine Workers of America.

MINISTERS AND SHOWMEN DISCUSS MOVIE ADVERTISING

Conference Under Mayor's Direction; Group Asked to Meet Again in Month.

A group of clergymen and movie exhibitors met at Mayor Dickmann's office yesterday at the Mayor's call to discuss complaints of objectionable movies and their advertising. The Mayor said he wanted to get conflicting interests together to avoid any possibility of a general attack on the theaters which would hurt business.

Those present, besides the Mayor, included: Dean Sidney Sweet of Christ Church Cathedral, Rabbi Ferdinand Isserman of Temple Israel, the Rev. Dr. George R. Dodson of Church of the Unity, the Rev. Louis Sieck of Zion Lutheran Church, the Rev. F. Monahan of St. Louis University, the Rev. C. W. Tadlock of Centenary Methodist Church, the Rev. Oscar Johnson of Third Baptist Church, the Rev. Laren E. Edwards of Grace Methodist Church, Prof. Theodore Graebner of Concordia Theological Seminary, Clarence Turley of the Ambassador Theater, Harold Evans of Loew's State Theater, Joseph Ansell of the Empress Theater, Lido Hill of the St. Louis Amusement Co., Charles Kurtzman of the Fox and St. Louis theaters and Fred Wehrenberg, representing independent neighborhood houses.

Certain specific advertisements were discussed in the meeting. The ministers agreed that many films, not just the advertising, were objectionable, while it was pointed out some phases of advertising were not borne out by the picture. Wehrenberg related that neighborhood houses were seeking to get better movies. Prof. Graebner objected to the advertising for "Tarzan," which several of the exhibitors defended as a wholesome movie, cleanly advertised. The Mayor suggested the group meet again in a month.

COUNTY PROSECUTOR IN ACTION AGAINST DOG TRACK OPENING

Associate Asks Circuit Judge for Hearing Before Any Injunction Is Granted.

Associate Prosecuting Attorney Wolfe of St. Louis County sent letters to the four County Circuit Judges today, telling them his office had been informed the Wellston Kennel Club was to be reopened soon and asking the Judges to notify his office before taking action on any injunction suit which might be filed.

The letter said the track was being repaired and that an investigation by the Prosecutor's office showed the operators planned "the customary betting under a little different guise." Wolfe said he understood an injunction suit would be filed and asked that the Judge to whose court the case was assigned order a hearing before granting an injunction.

TWO YEARS FOR AUTO THEFT

Lee A. Beaver Pleads Guilty of Transporting Stolen Car.

Lee A Beaver, former convict of Johnston City, Ill., was sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth when he pleaded guilty of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile before Federal Judge Wham of East St. Louis yesterday. The automobile was stolen at West Frankfort, Ill., and was driven to Morganfield, Ky. Beaver is 25 years old.

James Williams, Negro transient, pleaded guilty of manufacturing and passing counterfeit nickels and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. He was arrested at Cairo, Ill., after passing several of the coins in a dice game.

Chicago Dancer's Paris Debut.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 11.—Carla Bradley, young Chicago dancer, made her European debut here this afternoon at the theater du Vieux Columbier. One of her outstanding numbers was a tango, the music of which was composed by Walter Rummel, American pianist who lives in Paris. Miss Bradley was born in Springfield, Ill.

MORGENTHAU, SILVER BLOC AGREE ON BILL

Secretary Said to Have Accepted Plan for Mandatory Declaration of Policy.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — The Senate Silver bloc and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau virtually agreed today on the language of a silver bill, but it will be presented to President Roosevelt early next week before final terms are written.

Senator McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, one of the conferees, said Morgenthau had agreed to a mandatory declaration of policy that silver be made a primary monetary base with gold, but desired to submit it first to President Roosevelt. McCarran added there was "very little controversy left."

Even Senator Borah of Idaho, who walked out of the first conference Wednesday because he felt the "whole thing is permissive," was more cheerful as he emerged from the meeting.

"We ought not take a too enthusiastic view," he said, "but the discussion was far more satisfactory today."

RULING ON PRINTING PRICES

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Hugh S. Johnson has stayed until May 14 application of a price determination schedule of the Graphic Arts Code to the commercial printing activities of newspapers that are under the daily newspaper code.

By the Associated Press.

MATTOON, Ill., May 11.—Murderous intent in firing the revolver shots that fatally wounded Carl V. Thompson, Indianapolis salesman, was charged today against Mrs. Ann Sandstrom, also of Indianapolis, by the verdict of a Coroner's jury. Coroner F. S. Schilling ordered that she be kept in the Coles County Jail at Charleston until the grand jury is recalled, probably about May 21.

Thompson was shot to death in a local hotel. Mrs. Sandstrom had told the Coroner she came here with the revolver after Thompson, a married man, had told her their three years' association must end.

The prisoner was visited yesterday by her estranged husband, Claude Sandstrom. Reports from the jail were that she was near a collapse.

Illinois Relief Rolls Shrink.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, reports that the number of families in Illinois receiving relief from public funds in April was 53,000 fewer than the corresponding month a year ago, with 263,194 families now on the relief rolls, compared with 316,141 in the corresponding period last year.

HITLER ENVOY FAILS TO WIN BRITISH TO ARMS POLICY

Gen. Von Ribbentrop Spends Half Hour at Foreign Office Without Getting Promises.

LONDON, May 11. — Eleventh-hour German efforts to win British support for Chancellor Hitler's re-armament policies are said in reliable circles to have failed.

Gen. Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal investigator and negotiator on arms problems, had a half-hour conference at the foreign office yesterday, but did not succeed in obtaining promises from Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, or Captain Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, on any angle of the disarmament question.

In reliable circles it was said that the German envoy's lengthy exposition of German desires for arms equality aroused little enthusiasm, although British officials apparently were glad to know the latest German views.

Gen. Ribbentrop's visit caused a considerable stir in diplomatic circles, and a number of diplomats inquired regarding the nature of the call. On leaving the conference, the general said he would remain in London a few days longer.

CONVICTED OF PERJURY BEFORE SENATE GROUP

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 11.—Victor Seymour of Lincoln, once prominent in Republican circles, was convicted yesterday, at his second trial by a Federal jury, of perjury before a Senate campaign investigating committee. Sentence was deferred.

Seymour was indicted for testimony before the senatorial group which investigated the attempt of George W. Norris, a former Broken Bow grocer, to enter the Republican senatorial primary against the Senator of the same name in 1930. Two years ago the first jury which heard the case against Seymour was unable to agree on a verdict.

"I am not guilty and the verdict does not make me guilty," Seymour said after it had been announced. "I expect to take the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals if a motion for a new trial is denied."

When summoned to appear before the committee headed by Senator Nye of North Dakota in 1930, Seymour was assistant vice-chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and in charge of its Denver office. Seymour told the Senators he had no connection with the Nebraska campaign but the Government charged he provided funds to put the grocer's name on the ballot and that he was agent for W. M. Stebbins, then State Treasurer and also a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The Broken Bow man's filing arrived at the Senate House too late to get his name on the ballot but supporters of Senator Norris charged the effort to put the grocer on the ticket was to confuse the Republican voters. Senator Norris was renominated and re-elected.

Conviction of Seymour makes possible a penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $2000. Federal Judge T. C. Munger announced sentence would be imposed in about 10 days.

Assistant United States Attorney Robert Van Pelt said that Grocer Norris would be tried next fall on a perjury charge growing out of his testimony before the Senate Committee.

DOCTOR HELD IN DEATH OF WOMAN IN OFFICE

Autopsy Discloses Former Show Girl Died After Illegal Operation in Brooklyn.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A criminal operation, it was established by an autopsy today, caused the death of Virginia Allen Ball, 21 years old, former show girl and wife of an Erie (Pa.) theatrical booking agent. It was her death from this cause, police believe, which led Dr. Julius Phillips, 54, to attempt suicide by taking an overdose of a drug.

Detectives guarded Dr. Phillips in Kings County Hospital waiting for him to return to consciousness to question him regarding the woman's death. She was found yesterday, clad only in a slip, on the operating table in Dr. Phillips' office in Brooklyn. The physician was found unconscious in a bedroom. A charge of homicide was placed against him.

The young woman's husband, Thomas Ball, went to the physicians office yesterday in search of his wife. He nearly collapsed when police, called by the physician's son, showed him the body.

"I wanted a baby, she didn't," police quoted Ball as saying.

He said she disappeared from their hotel room Tuesday night and he had searched for her, finally deciding to go to the office of Dr. Phillips, with whom they had talked last Sunday.

HOLDERS OF COTTON OPTIONS MAY HAVE THEM REINSTATED

Should Make Application to Producers' Pool Within Next 60 Days.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Holders of cotton options which expired May 1 will be given an opportunity to have these options reinstated if application is made within the next 60 days, it is announced by Oscar Johnson, manager of the Cotton Producers' Pool.

Johnston stated that only 820 option contracts covering 3506 bales of cotton had not been heard from and, under the terms of the option, these contracts expired May 1. Holders who desire to have them reinstated should make application to the Cotton Producers' Pool within the next 60 days, Johnston stated.

In announcing that reinstatement would be granted on application, Johnston made public the present status of the cotton options which were offered producers as a part of the compensation in the 1933 emergency cotton campaign.

Of a total of 571,434 options issued covering 2,428,697 bales, 567,198 options covering 2,403,174 bales have been exercised either by sale or delivery to the cotton producers pool. Of this amount, producers holding options covering 457,180 bales have called their options and the cotton sold; and the remainder has been delivered to the cotton producers' pool.

Johnston state that options outstanding totaled 6543 contracts covering 42,025 bales. These cases are divided as follows: 3207 contracts for 21,449 bales have been extended, the holders paying the sum of 40 cents per bale per month carrying charge; 209 contracts covering pense and will be issued when adjusted by correspondence of settlement (these option holders will then have 30 days after date of issue in which to call for sale or assign to the cotton producers' pool), 820 ocntracts covering 3506 bales have not been heard from since date of issue and these producers are given the privilege for 60 days from May 1 to apply for reinstatement.

FATHER DUNNE TAKES NEW BUILDING FOR NEGRO BOYS

Acquires St. Joseph's Institute for Deaf at Franklin and Garrison Avenues.

To care for an ingreasing number of Negro boys, Father Dunn's Newsboys' Home and Protectorate has acquired the building of St. Joseph's Institute for Deaf Mutes at the Northwest corner of Franklin and Garrison avenues.

Mgr. Peter J. Dunne, who has been caring for orphans and half-orphans since 1906, now has 26 Negro boys at his Colored Newsboys' Home, 3028 Washington avenue. He has had more applicants for admission than he has been able to house, and hopes to accommodate 75 in the new quarters. In addition to bedrooms, the new building will provide a playroom, kitchen, and dining room.

Father Dunne founded his Newsboys' Home in February, 1906, at 1018 Selby place, later moving to 2737 Locust street, and in 1907 moved to the present location at 3010 Washington avenue. The home for Negro boys was established four years ago, west of the main home building.

The Sisters of St. Joseph, who for 30 years have been teaching deaf and dumb children in the Garrison avenue building, will move to their new building on Walton road, Overland, in June.

Frisco Seeks to Abolish Branch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co. asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to permit it to abandon its six-mile branch line from Lowry City Junction to Brownington, Mo. The line was constructed to serve coal mines at Tebo Station. These mines have not operated since 1931.

11 FREED OF COUNTERFEITING CHARGES; EVIDENCE LACKING

Four Men and Woman Seized in East Side Raid Still Accused.

Federal warrants against 11 of 16 persons arrested Monday in a raid at 720-722 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, and charged with conspiracy to possess a counterfeiting device, were dismissed yesterday for lack of evidence by Walter Ackermann, Assistant District Attorney at East St. Louis.

Those dismissed were Boyd Verlin, Glen Cogwell, Sam Harris, James Campbell, Mrs. Mae Stoneburne, Miss Della Hampton, Miss Bernice Scally, Mrs. Marie Martin, Miss Evelyn Johnson, Mrs. Marie Sadoski and J. Adams. W. H. Mixon, proprietor of the rooming house, and Richard Winkelman, who lived there, were arraigned yesterday and held under $2000 bond. Harold Allen and Milford Fitch, former convicts held at Edwardsville, and Allen's wife, Virgie, are still charged in warrants. In the raid police found a mold for making counterfeit nickels.

MEDICAL CODE AND TREATING OF CRIMINAL

Ethics Require Physician to Aid Any Person Who Needs His Assistance.

(Copyright, 1934.)

NEW YORK, May 11.—The recent instances of physicians treating John Dillinger, the outlaw, under compulsion, they say, have raised under the medical code the ethical question of what the practitioner should have done under the circumstances. Both were put in jail on the charge of harboring a desperate criminal.

One case is that of a St. Paul physician who said he was induced to leave his office and found himself in a flat where Dillinger and one of his gang had taken refuge. Both had gunshot wounds in the shoulder. The doctor said he himself was held prisoner for several days, and exhorted to proceed with surgical attentions or "get the gun." He was told that if he "squealed" the gang would certainly reach him wherever he might be. The other physician, a county health officer, gave similar reasons for his enforced ministrations.

Their plight recalls the death of Dr. W. W. Wieniger. Four bandits on May 13, 1928, held up the First National Bank of Lamar, Colo., and escaped with $200,000. They killed the president and cashier, and kidnaped two of the employes, one of whom they murdered. In the fight at the bank one of the gangsters was wounded, much as Dillinger was. The robbers feared infection would set in and decided to seek surgical treatment.

They called Dr. Wieniger of Ashton, Kan., from his office. He met the fugitives near Garden City, Kan., several miles distant, and dressed the injuries of one of them. After he had fulfilled his errand, the robbers killed him on the theory that dead men tell no tales. His body was thrown into a canyon. Three members of the gang were caught, found guilty of the murder and executed in Colorado. The fourth was trapped later and killed while resisting arrest.

Many theories have been advanced in this city to account for the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Charles Branchati, a wealthy Bronx physician. One is that he was induced to minister to wounded members of a gang of criminals and, learning too much about them, was put out of the way.

According to the Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine, professional ethics require a physician to aid any person who needs his assistance if he is in a serious condition. Operations to keep condemned criminals alive temporarily are common. Irrespective of what his possible reward may be, the physician must proceed to alleviate suffering.

Having complied with his code, the physician also has a duty as a citizen which requires him to report anything which might indicate that a crime has been committed. Gunshot wounds are reportable to the police.

C. B. C. TO COMPEL MILITARY TRAINING

Catholic School to Introduce New Course Next September.

With a view to offering better physical and disciplinary training to its students, Christian Brothers College, Catholic high school, will introduce compulsory military training next September.

In announcing the change, Brother John Elzear, president of the school, said today that military training had the general approval of parents and students.

"It has been my personal opinion that too few of our boys receive proper physical training to fit them for the speedy modern life," Brother Elzear said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Schools spend thousands of dollars on talented athletes, while the boys who cannot make the team receive no training. Another point in my argument is the matter of discipline, which has become lax in the home. Military training teaches respect for proper authority. Our students and their parents agree with me in these matters."

The military training program will include daily setting up exercises and drill. Brother Elzear has applied for an R. O. T. C. rating for the school, which would carry with it assignment of regular army instructors. If the application is denied, he plans to place the program in charge of a West Point graduate. All students will be required to furnish uniforms, and the daily routine will include clothing inspection.

As a result of the favorable reaction on the part of parents and students Brother Elzear anticipates an increase in the enrollment next fall. The present enrollment exceeds 300 students. The Christian Brothers operate two other military schools on Long Island and at St. Paul, Minn. The order established its first St. Louis school in 1851. The present institution, a four-year high school, is at 6501 Clayton road.

ILLINOIS CONGREGATIONALISTS ADOPT PACIFIST RESOLUTION

Also Asks State University to Exempt Conscientious Objectors from Military Training.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 11.—Congregational and Christian churches of Illinois were advised by resolution of their annual conference here to "refuse to sanction, bless or participate in any future war" in which the United States might participate.

The anti-war resolution was adopted by a 2 to 1 vote of the 300 delegates.

It called on the churches to "honor the high patriotism" of ministers and church members who personally renounce war, and asked governments to recognize the sincerity and conviction of persons who declare their consicentious objections to war or to compulsory military training in schools and colleges. The conference asked trustees of the University of Illinois to accept the right of conscientious objections to compulsory military schooling.

The resolution also urged admission to this country of Japanese and Chinese on quota basis as a "means of relieving diplomatic tension between America and Japan."

719 CITY LIQUOR APPLICATIONS ON FILE; DEADLINE WEDNESDAY

A total of 719 applications for city liquor licenses have been filed with Excise Commissioner Scullin. Of these, approximately 400 have been returned for action by the Excise Commissioner.

Scullin has announced that after midnight Wednesday all persons purveying liquor in St. Louis without having filed an applications for a license will be prosecuted.

As told yesterday, the police have reported 1836 establishments in St. Louis selling liquor. With 719 applications on file, it is estimated approximately 1100 which have not filed applications and must do so before Wednesday or run the risk of a raid by police.

BOY KILLS FATHER'S SLAYER

H. H. Hood, 16, Athens, Tex., Surrenders to Authorities.

By the Associated Press.

ELKHART, Tex., May 11.—A 16-year-old youth took the law into his own hands today and avenged the slaying of his father near Henderson about a year ago. The youth, H. H. Hood of Athens, shot and killed Walter Johnson, about 40, at Elkhart Lake, four miles east of here. Young hood surrendered to officers and made a statement admitting the shooting to District Attorney Ben Greenwood of Palestine. The boy's father was killed in a feud with Johnson. The Henderson County grand jury had failed to return an indictment in the case.

GETS FIVE YEARS FOR ROBBERY

Ex-Convict Pleads Guilty of Holdup.

Fred Hyman, 22-year-old ex-convict, pleaded guilty of robbery and attempted robbery before Circuit Judge Hartmann today and was tenced to five years in prison on each charge, the terms to run concurrently.

He held up two employes of the C. E. Lund Realty Co., 3014 Union boulevard, last Oct. 17, obtaining $15. With two other men, he attempted to hold up Patrolman Vincent Smith, who was off duty, on May 17, 1932, but fled when Smith fired a shot at them.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 11 TO 12 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The cotton market seemed to be watching the course of wheat today. An early rally was followed by reactions when grain turned easier. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points, but prices firmed up following the early advance in wheat, with July advancing from 11.36 to 11.43. Offerings increased slightly at this figure and that delivery later sold off to 11.29 in the mid-afternoon market, with the general list showing net declines of 8 to 10 points.

Futures closed barely steady, 11@12c lower. May 11.16n; July 11.28@29c; Oct. 11.45c; Dec. 11.56@57c; Jan. 11.63c; Mch 11.73c. Spot steady; middling 11.45c. n-Nominal.

May opened 11.24c; July 11.36c; Oct. 11.53c; Dec. 11.66c; Jan. 11.71c; March 11.82c.

In addition to realising there was a little New Orleans and Southern selling at the start, but the small offerings were absorbed by trade or commission house buying, and prices firmed up after the higher opening of the wheat market. Comparatively little Western buying was in evidence according to local observers, however, and after selling up slightly active months held steady at about yesterday's closing quotations before the session had gone far.

The New York Cotton Exchange service estimates domestic consumption for April and after selling up slightly active in March and 470,000 in April a year ago. A private report published here this morning said indications early this month pointed to planting intentions of aroud 30,320,000 acres.

The early advance in the wheat market seemed to bring more buying into cotton while there was an increase in demand from the trade toward the end of the first hour which sent July up to 11.43 and December to 11.72 or about 3 to 4 points net higher. Business was not active, however, while the advance met a little more realising and the market at midday was quiet with July ruling around 11.38 and the general market was a point or two under yesterday's closing quotations.

Cotton Consumption Estimate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The New York Cotton Exchange Service estimates consumption of cotton by domestic mills in April at 520,000 bales, against 543,000 bales in March and 470,000 bales in April, 1933.

Brooklyn Wine Merchant Dies.

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 11.—Hiram S. Dewey, president of H. T. Dewey & Sons, pioneer domestic wine merchants, died last night of his home. He was 76 years old. Dewey was president of the American Wine Growers Association for five years before prohibition.

Eva Tanguay Plans Come-Back.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11. — Eva Tanguay, the actress, planned to leave Chicago tonight for New York, declaring her eyesight had been saved by a successful operation for cataract. Miss Tanguay said she would attempt a come-back on Broadway in September.

INCUMBENT WANTS $10,000 NEW YORK JOB CUT TO $1

A. A. Berle Jr. Would Make Post of City Chamberlain Merely Advisory.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A. A. Berle Jr., the incumbent, will ask the Board of Estimate to make the $10,000 a year post of City Chamberlain at $1 advisory job.

Under the terms of the resolution Berle was to introduce today, the title of Chamberlain would be kept and the incumbent would serve at the $1 salary as a financial adviser. The staff of the Chamberlain's office would be consolidated with the Finance Department.

Even though he wants only $1 for his services to the city, there is a possibility Berle may be forced to take $3000. There is a clause in the recent economy bill which permits no salaries to be reduced below $3000.

SOFT SPOTS MARK CLOSE OF TRADING IN STOCKS

Market Is Quiet With the Only Activity Just Before the Finish When Offerings of Some Rails and a Few Other Issues Expand.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11. — Stock market sentiment improved somewhat today but early scattered rallying tendencies were succeeded by some late selling. A number of soft spots appeared just before the finish. Most traders, however, seemed content with the sidelines. The close was a bit heavy. Transfers approximated 925,000 shares.

Grains reacted 1 to 3 points a bushel under profit taking based on reports of probable rains in the drouth districts. Cotton turned moderately lower as wheat declined. Silver futures lagged, but rubber steadied. Bonds were heavy throughout, although U. S. Government securities about held their own. Dollar rates were only slightly changed.

Trading was listless, and the ticket tape moved slowly during most of the session. The only real activity came just before the close when offerings in the rails and a few other categories expanded.

Shares of Union Pacific were off 3 points and N. Y. Central and Santa Fe were down about 2 each. Others, off 1 to around 2, included American Telephone, Chrysler, Western Union, Case, du Pont, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville and U. S. Smelting. Radio preferred stocks held part of their early advances. A few of the alcohols were resistant. The utilities were not too heavy.

Freight car loadings for the week ended May 5 recorded a contra-seasonal decline of 4449 under the total for the previous week. The aggregate, however, was 77,087 cars above the corresponding week of 1933 and 70,254 ahead of the same 1932 period. The decrease was attributed partly to a falling off in industrial shipments due to some lines having passed their seasonal peak.

Wheat closed around the day's bottom level, off 1½ to 2 cents a bushel. Corn was down 1½ to 1⅞ cents and oats lost 1¼ to 1½. Rye declined 2⅞ to 3¼ cents a bushel. Barley dropped 1¼ to 2¼ cents. At Winnipeg wheat yielded 2 to 2¼ cents a bushel. Cotton sagged 35 to 60 cents a bale. Bar silver was unchanged at 44⅛ cents an ounce.

The British pound, at mid-afternoon ,was up ⅛ cent at $5.11¾, but French francs were unchanged at 6.61⅜ cents. Dutch guilders eased .01 of a cent at 67.91 cents, but Belgian belgas and Swiss francs were unchanged at 23.42 cents and 32.51 cents, respectively. The Canadian dollar held to its closing rate of yesterday at 100.18¾ cents.

The News of the Day.

Brokerage doubts of any substantial increase in business apparently were exemplified by the sale of another exchange seat at a decline of $10,000 under yesterday's final transaction. The latest price for a membership on the "big board" was $100,000. This was comparable with $140,000 on April 12, last.

Statistical Service reported a more than seasonal rise of 14.7 per cent in building permit values in April over March. Comparison with the same period a year ago also showed a gain of 32.5 per cent. Permits in 215 cities in the United States during April totaled more than $29,000,000 as against some $25,500,000 in the preceding month.

The recent recovery in commodity prices carried the "Analist" weekly wholesale index up 1.7 points to 111.1 on May 8, the highest point since Feb. 10, 1931, when it stood at 111.8. The advance was said to have been due largely to higher levels for the farm and food products groups. It was explained, however, that the foregoing high levels were attained only in terms of the depreciated dollar.

Weekly Banking Statements.

The drop in brokers' loans of some $27,000,000 during the week, as disclosed by the weekly bank statements, was considered small in view of the recent downward movement in equity prices. The figure, in the opinion of some commentators, also bore out the report that short selling has not been exceptionally large.

The statement of the Bank of France, as of May 4, showed a further increase in the country's gold stock of about 421,000,000 francs. Circulation also increased from 81,501,000,000 francs to 81,698,000,000, but the ratio also increased from 77.52 per cent to 78.03.

Day's 15 Most Active Stocks.

Closing price and net change of the 15 most active stocks: Chrysler 39¾, down 1¾; Gen. Motors 31¾, down ½; Radio Corp. pf B 33⅝, up ⅝; Radio Corp. 7⅜, down ⅛; Montg. Ward 24¼, down 1⅛; N. Y. WHEAT CLOSES OFF AFTER NEW SHARP UPTURN Profit-Taking Encountered After Futures Add Almost 3 Cents to Yesterday's 4 to 5 Cent Upturns.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANT'S EXCHANGE, May 11.—Wheat futures rose 2½ to 2⅝c here and almost 3c at Chicago following the opening today but profit taking set in the market at both centers lost all the gain and more, local prices being ½c net lower at close.

The drouth was the focal point of attention. Bullish sentiment held that although Government estimates published overnight showed a 30,000,000 bushel decrease in the 1934 prospective winter wheat crop, this failed to include damage done crops since May 1 by abnormal heat, drouth and dust storms.

Winnipeg opened 1⅛c higher but early lost cent of rise. The close was 2@2¼c net lower.

Liverpool corn 1⅛ to 1⅜d higher in one cable.

July wheat opened at 88⅛c, up 1⅞ and September wheat 88½c, up 1½c.

Local wheat receipts which were 15,000 bu. compared with 21,000 last week and 160,500 last year, included six cars local and four through. Corn receipts which were 56,500 bu., compared with 40,500 last week and four through. Oats receipts which were 16,000 bu., compared with 20,000 last week and 36,000 last year, included eight cars local. Hay receipts were one car through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Wheat was ½c higher; corn unchanged to ½c lower and oats steady.

Sales of cash grain made on the floor of the Exchange today were as follows:

Hears Talks on Gen. Henry, Lincoln and Dr. James at Annual Meeting.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 11.—Three characters in the early history of Illinois occupied the attention of members of the Illinois Historical Society at its annual meeting.

Frank E. Stevens, Sycamore, opened the meeting with a paper on Gen. James D. Henry, hero of the Black Hawk war, who is said to have been responsible for the victory of Illinois troops over the Indians.

Stevens credited Gen. Henry with a wide military knowledge gained from reading of the Napoleonic campaigns, and stated that his fellow soldiers conspired against him to rob him of the glory of leadership.

"New Salem; a Lincoln Episode," was the subject of the talk by Dr. Benjamin P. Thomas, Springfield. Dr. James Alton James of Northwestern University spoke on the life of Oliver Pollock, financier, who gained fame in winning the Illinois country in revolutionary times.

Dr. Otto Schmidt, Chicago, presided.

PHILADELPHIA POLICE FIGHT CROWD AT RELIEF OFFICE

Minor Casualties Suffered but Officers Don't Know What Trouble Was About.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. — A fight between police and several hundred demonstrators ended with minor casualties, torn clothes and two arrests, but police do not know what it was all about.

The trouble began when the crowd was denied admission to the Philadelphia County emergency relief headquarters last night, and leaders refused to state their demands unless they were admitted to see officials.

TO IGNORE GASOLINE CODE

St. Clair County Stations Seek to Force Federal Inquiry.

The St. Clair Filling Station Operators' Association, comprising dealers in St. Clair County outside East St. Louis, voted yesterday to permit nine members to cut the price of gasoline from the code price of 18.3 cents a gallon to 15.3 cents as a protest against the prevailing rate of 14.3 cents in East St. Louis and St. Louis.

Al Tinney, president, said the organization hoped by its action to bring about a Federal investigation of gasoline prices in this area. The association has complained without avail to code authorities about the lower prices prevalent in St. Louis and East St. Louis, Tinney said.

SENATE VOTES $50,000 TO CONTINUE SALARY INQUIRY

Forty Companies Have Declined to Answer Questionnaire of Trade Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Senate has adopted a resolution appropriating $50,000 for the Trade Commission to be used to persuade executives in 40 companies they should disclose their salaries.

These companies declined to answer a questionnaire sent out by the Trade Commission at the Senate's direction several weeks ago. Rasons advanced for failure to answer ranged from statements that none should reply unless every business in the country did so to more objections based on complex legal arguments.

Thirteen claiming they did not operate in interstate commerce: Allied Chemical and Dye Corp., Koppers Gas and Coke Co., American L. G. Chemical Corp., Delaware and Hudson Co., Hudson Coal Co., M. A. Hanna Co., Newmont Mining Corp., Ludwig Bauman & Co., Exchange Buffet Corp., United Dry Docks Inc., Pantapec Oil Co., Venezuelan Petroleum Co., Penn Mex Fuel Co.

Four denying the power of the commission: General Aviation Corp., American Can Co., General Motors Corp., and Studebaker Corp.

Nineteen which either failed or neglected to reply: Chrysler Corp., Bendix Aviation Corp., Columbia Carbon Co., Congress Cigar Co., Porto Rican American Tobacco Co., Waitt and Bond Inc., Consolidated Retail Stores Inc., Dodge Bros. Inc., General Mills Inc., Howe Sound Co., National Biscuit Co., National Department Stores, Sloss Sheffield Steel Co., Stein Cosmetic Co., Union Oil Co. of Calif., Yellow Truck Mfg. Co., Cleveland Tractor Co., Timken Detroit Axle Co., and General Refractories Co.

5 JAPANESE KILLED IN BRAZIL

16 Persons Injured in Clash Following Assault on Girl.

By the Associated Press.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, May 11. — Five Japanese colonists were killed and 16 persons were injured in a racial clash in the interior town of Tiete, said reports reaching here yesterday.

The fighting started, dispatches related, over the killing of a Brazilian accused of the seduction of a Japanese girl. The girl's parents were reported to have killed the Brazilian, whereupon armed Brazilians stormed the Japanese colony. The injured included both Japanese and Brazilians.

Hung Jury in Stock Sale.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Ok., May 11.—District Judge Dennis Wilson Wednesday dismissed a jury deadlocked for eight hours in the case of W. W. Barrett of Webb City, Mo., who was charged with receiving money under false pretenses through the sale of stock in a Mexican gold mine. The complaint, that the property was an abandoned copper mine, was met by defense contentions of good faith on the part of Barrett. Several thousand dollars was alleged to have been spent here for stock.

EIGHT MEN INDICTED ON GAMBLING CHARGES

Eight tavern and cafe proprietors were charged with setting up gaming devices—slot machines—in indictments voted by the grand jury yesterday.

Ambrose Bertani, 2518 North Taylor avenue, mint and poker, March 30.

Penalty for the offense on conviction ranges from six months in the workhouse to five years in the penitentiary.

MENZHINSKY'S BODY IN STATE

Hundreds File Past Red Bier of Russian Police Head.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 11.—The body of Vyacheslaff Rudolph Menzhinsky lay in state in a red coffin in the House of the Soviets today, while hundreds filed slowly past to see the features of the man who led the Ogpu in its "liquidation" of the Kulaks.

The uniformed band of the Ogpu, the most powerful political police organization Russia ever has seen, played a funeral dirge, and members of the service, in plain clothes, guarded the building. Uniformed, but unarmed officials of the Ogpu stood by the bier. It was plain that hundreds of those visiting the bier were curious to see in death the leader of the organization which aided collectivism by campaigning against the rich peasants (Kulaks) and which crushed the Trotzky opposition to Josef Stalin's party and national leadership.

Negro Slayer Electrocuted.

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., By the Associated Press.

May 11.—Luther Dean Jackson, Negro, convicted slayer of Philip Windecker, North Little Rock grocer, during a holdup two years ago, was electrocuted this morning after Gov. Futrell had declined to grant him a fourth reprieve.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES NEGRO EDUCATORS' MEETING

Tells Them She Favors Equal School Opportunities for Every Child in Land.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told a group of Negro educators today that "the day of really working together has come, regardless of race, creed or color."

After telling the conference on Negro education at the Interior Department that she favored equal educational opportunities for every child in the land the President wife said: "We can have no group beaten down, underprivileged, without reaction on the rest. Where the standard of education is low, the standard of living is low."

"I think we have harder times ahead of us than in the past. I think the day of selfishness is over. We must wipe out intolerance and the belie fthat any one group can go forward alone. We go ahead together or we go down together."

Mrs. Roosevelt told the Negroes that they had a great contribution to make to this country in the way of artistic development—the music, art, and rhythm, which apparently were natural to them, but came harder to the white race. "Those things should be utilized for the good of the whole nation," she said.

CAROLINA POSSE KILLS NEGRO

He Had Seriously Wounded a Deputy Sheriff.

LAURENS, S. C., May 11. — A posse of 300 men, armed with shotguns and rifles, yesterday shot and killed an unidentified Negro who a few hours before had seriously wounded Deputy Sheriff K. F. Johns.

The 55-year-old Deputy, finding the Negro asleep on the grounds of a church at Lydia, a mill village, his club to awaken him. The man near here, hit him on the heel with jumped up, fired at the officer, and fled to a swamp a mile away. As the fugitive emerged from a pond in the swamp, after exchanging several shots with the possemen, his body was pierced by a half dozen bullets. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of "death at the hands of unknown parties."

TRAIN KILLS TERMINAL CLERK

John Robinson Is Struck in Freight Yards.

John Robinson, 40-year-old yard clerk for the Terminal Railroad, was killed shortly before noon today when struck by a train of backing freight cars at Brown avenue and the Terminal tracks.

He had been chatting with another man beside the tracks just before he was hit. He resided at 5660 Kingsbury avenue.

COUNTY CIVIC GROUPS SUPPORT BOND ISSUE

Again Back Proposition After Agreement Is Reached With County Court.

Announcement that St. Louis County civic agencies will support the $1,750,000 county bond issue to be submitted Tuesday, as the result of an agreement reached with the County Court, was made today by J. Lionberger Davis, chairman of the Public Works Committee of the County NRA.

The court had been in controversy with the County Chamber of Commerce and other agencies over supervision of the work proposed and the civic groups had withdrawn support. The bond proposals are $1,500,000 for a new Courthouse at Clayton and $250,000 for an addition to County Hospital. The PWA has allotted grants of $318,000 and $70,200, respectively to augment these funds.

An advisory board of six citizens is being appointed under a resolution adopted by the court, and E. J. Russell, president of the American Institute of Architects and chairman of the City Plan Commission, has been chosen to conduct a competition for the courthouse design under institute rules. The chamber announced today that its representatives on the advisory board would be Edward L. Bakewell, real estate dealer, and Mansfield C. Bay, president of Bay Bros. Lumber Co. The court has selected Mayor Charles A. Shaw of Clayton and Cullen Cain, publisher of the St. Louis County Leader. The League of County Municipalities will name the other two members at its regular meeting May 24 or at a special meeting sooner.

Hugh Miller, State engineer of the PWA, has written Davis that the architect, the plans and specifications also would be subject to his approval and a PWA resident engineer inspector would supervise construction. Miller added: "It seems to me this arrangement should satisfy all those who desire to have the planning, construction and expenditure of funds for the courthouse safeguarded to the fullest possible extent."

A State inheritance tax of $45,238 has been paid on the estate of James A. W. Lewis, former director and general manager of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., it was disclosed with the filing of an appraiser's report in Probate Court at Clayton today.

The appraiser's inventory showed the estate was worth $2,342,526, compared with a previous inventory figure of $1,215,961, based on par values of stock holdings of the estate. For tax purposes securities are listed at market value as of the date of death. Par values of stocks belonging to the estate, mostly in tobacco shares, totaled $843,519.

Mr. Lewis died Jan. 6, 1933, at his home, 7324 Westmoreland drive. His will provided a bequest of $5000 for the Shriners' Hospital and specific bequests totaling $25,000 for relatives and friends. Two-thirds of the residue is to go to his widow and one-third will be held in trust for his son, James A. W. Lewis.

LEGISLATOR ADMITS HE TOLD CORPORATIONS HE AIDED THEM

State Senator Thayer, New York, Says He Reported Killing Detrimental Bills.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 11.—Defending himself against charges of official misconduct, State Senator Warren T. Thayer today told a committee of colleagues, investigating his utility relationship, that it was his political practice to advise corporations, organizations and indiivduals that he had been instrumental in defeating legislation detrimental to them.

The declaration came during an explanation of a passage in a letter to S. J. Magee, vice-president of the Associated Gas & Electric Co., which read: "I hope my work during the past session was satisfactory to your company, not so much for the legislation enacted but from the fact that many detrimental bills were introduced, we were able to kill in committee."

Asked to name other concerns or groups which had received similar letters, Senator Thayer mentioned "The Ballard Co. of Malone and teachers' organizations throughout the State."

TWIN DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Police, Doctor, Nurse and Others Fail to Save Brooklyn Child.

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 11.—Roy Barry, the smaller and weaker of twin 6-month-old brothers, died of pneumonia early today in his parents' Brooklyn flat. Ross Barry, who weighed six pounds at birth to two and a half for his brother, was reported in "good condition" and apparently out of danger from the disease.

Just a year ago today the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barry, lost both of their first twins, Vera and Eileen, 1 year old, because of pneumonia. Police, a volunteer doctor and nurse and two gas companies worked that the twin brothers might live. Roy and Ross were stricken Monday. One company contributed an oxygen tank, and when that was spent, a second company sent another. Police also administered oxygen. The father, a clerk and carpenter, has been unemployed for nearly a year. There are three other chilren—Ronald, 5 years old; Marie, 7, and Robert, 3.

BARGE LINES PROFIT LAST YEAR $66,786

Head of Corporation Says Shippers Saved $1,914,700 By Using Service.

Shippers of freight on the Federal Barge Lines, operated by the Government-owned Inland Waterways Corporation, in 1933 saved $1,914,700 in tolls, as compared with rail rates, Major-General T. Q. Ashburn, president of the corporation, said in his annual report, issued today.

Since 1924, when the corporation began operations, comparative savings to shippers have been $20,664,000, the report adds. The lines carried 1,605,844 tons of freight last year, or 47,244 tons less than the year before. Its revenues last year were $5,085,210 and expenses $5,055,161, while in 1932 receipts were $6,203,232 and expenses $5,733,092, so that net income was $440,091 less last year than the year before.

Net profit last year was $66,786, net profit since the corporation was established was $706,692, after absorbing $4,629,252 in depreciation charges.

Regular barge service is given on the Mississippi River from St. Louis to New Orleans and St. Paul-Minneapolis, on the Illinois to Chicago, on the Warrior River to Birmingham, Ala., and through the Industrial Canal and Mississippi Sound between New Orleans and Mobile, Ala. Gen. Ashburn, announces regular service will be started between St. Louis and Kansas City on the Missouri when terminal facilities at Kansas City are completed this year.

Gen. Ashburn discusses at length the opposition of the railroads to water transportation, and says: "It is beyond dispute that the Inland Waterways Corporation has, through its operations, its building up of precedents before the Interstate Commerce Commission, its pioneering, its consistent ability to support itself through its own finances, pointed a way for the rehabilitation of water transportation upon our interior streams and canals."

The General pointed out, taking cognizance of some criticisms, that the Inland Waterways Corporation has no control over expenditures for development and maintenance of the rivers, which are under the Army Engineers Corps. About 100 commodities were carried by the barge lines last year, in package and in bulk.

WOMAN ADMITS HELPING IN HOLDUP OF EMPLOYER

Warrants Charging Robbery Issued Against Her and Two Men, Brothers.

Warrants charging robbery were issued today against Charles and John Miles, brothers, and Miss Nancy Colem an, who has admitted, police said, helping them plan the holdup of her employer, Andrew Chacis, who operates a restaurant at 806 Franklin avenue.

The charge sare brought under the Henry law, making robbery with a deadly weapon punishable by death. Chacis was robbed of $25 Wednesday night by two men, one of whom carried a billy, who overpowered him at Ninth and Walnut streets and took the money from his shoe.

Miss Coleman, walking with him, screamed, and a policeman pursued the brothers, firing one shot at them. Charles was caught at Eighth street and Clark avenue, and John was arrested later at his home, 636 South Broadway.

SPICED PECANS

We repeat by request the following recipe:

Two-thirds cup pecan, one-half cup confectioner's sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, one-third teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon allspice, two tablespoons cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon ginger, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one egg white, two tablespoons cold water.

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg white slightly with cold water. Dip nut meats in liquid mixture and drop one at a time into spiced sugar mixture. Roll them about and then place the pan containing both nuts and spice mixture in a slow oven and leave for two hours. Be sure to keep the nuts separate from one another and not in lumps or bunches. Remove from oven and sift sugar from the nuts.

STRAWBERRY SALAD FOR MOTHER'S DAY

Frozen Delicacy and Other Suggestions for Sunday Feast.

If some other member of the family, as we hope, is going to get dinner Sunday to give mother the day off, here are some cool suggestions from which to choose.

Frozen strawberry salad will be delicious for Mother's day dinner or a strawberry chiffon cake, an uncooked banana cream pie.

Or if the family is together for an informal supper Sunday night, a jellied chicken and vegetable salad is delicious.

The number each recipe will serve is stated, and large or smaller groups may be served by increasing or decreasing ingredients in proportion.

Jellied Chicken and Vegetables.

Dissolve one tablespoon gelatine in one-fourth cup cold water. Add and stir until dissolved one and one-half cups hot chicken stock (canned broth or soup may be used).

Rinse a square mold in cold water, pour in a thin layer of the jelly and decorate with peppers and other vegetables. Arrange the thickening jelly, chicken and vegetables in layers and chill, using: One cup chicken, sliced or chopped, one cup vegetables (cooked peas, string beans, beets, carrots, asparagus, etc.) and one-half pimiento or green pepper.

Frozen Strawberry Salad.

Two cups strawberries, cut in small pieces.
One cup strawberry juice.
One cup cream, whipped.
One cup mayonnaise.
Two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar.
One-fourth teaspoonful salt.

Pour mixture into pans of mechanical refrigerator and freeze. To serve, cut salad in slices and arrange on lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise or whipped cream. This serves 12.

Strawberry Lady Finger Cream.

One cup strawberry pulp and juice.
One tablespoonful lemon juice.
One-half cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoonful salt.

Cool and when mixture begins to congeal, fold in one and one-half cups cream, whipped.

Line sides and bottom of large square pan with lady fingers. Cover with strawberry mixture, then alternate cakes and cream until mold is full. Place in refrigerator for several hours. Unmold on large cake platter and garnish with whipped cream. This serves six.

Banana Cream Pie.

Two medium-sized bananas cut in small pieces
One and one-third cup sweetened condensed milk
One-fourth cup lemon juice
Grated rind of one lemon
One-half cup whipping cream
Two tablespoons confectioners' sugar
Unbaked crumb crust

Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and grated rind, and add bananas. The lemon juice and the sweetened condensed milk from a thick, smooth, creamy filling that does not need cooking. Pour into an eight-inch pie plate lined with a vanilla wafer crumb crust.

To make the crumb crust, roll enough vanilla wafers to make three-fourths cup of crumbs. Cut enough vanilla wafers in halves to stand around edge of pie plate. Cover bottom of plate with crumbs and fill in spaces between wafers. Pour in filling as usual. Cover with whipped cream sweetened with confectioners' sugar. Chill before serving. Serves six.

TOMATO AND PICKLE ASPIC

One and one-fourth tablespoon plain gelatine.
Two teaspoons lemon juice.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon sugar.
Two cups canned tomato juice.
One teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
One-half cup chopped cucumber pickle.
One-half cup chopped celery.

Soak the gelatine in one-quarter cup of tomato juice, and over this pour one cup of boiling tomato juice, stirring until dissolved. Add the remaining juice, and seasoning. When this mixture is slightly thickened, add the chopped celery and pickle. Pour into molds, and chill.

When ready to serve, remove from molds by setting molds in hot water for just a second, and invert on a crisp lettuce leaf. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Chicken and Eggs.

FOUR-IN-ONE RECIPE VARIES BREAKFASTS

Bran Bread, Muffins, Flapjacks or Waffles Made the Same Way.

Here's a recipe that you may serve four ways—in waffles, quick bran bread, muffins or flapjacks.

It gives you a chance of providing the family with bran, so valuable in the diet but not always welcome. These are breakfast suggestions that will relieve the monotony of bran muffins all the time, which many women seem to think the easiest way of using bran.

Even if it's the same recipe, the variation in form disguises the sameness and will intrigue the family into eating bran uncomplainingly more often.

One-half cup sugar.
Three eggs (well beaten).
One and two-thirds cups sour milk.
One and three-fourths cups bran.
Two cups flour.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon soda.
One teaspoon salt.

Creaming shortening and sugar. Add eggs, sour milk and all-bran and let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt and add to first mixture—stirring only until flour disappears.

Bake in square flat pan or muffin tins in a moderate oven for 20 to 25 minutes or in a hot waffle iron. For flapjacks thin the mixture with water or milk.

Yield: 16 small muffins, 12 large squares of quick bread, 3 waffles or 8 flapjacks.

Rice and Hash.

Put a layer of rice in a well-buttered baking pan or casserole, then a layer of hash, alternating and making the top layer rice. Sprinkle top with bread crumbs. Put in oven to heat through and well brown the top. Serve with hot tomato sauce, into which a little grated cheese has been melted.

Chocolate Works Wonders With Simple Desserts

As a help in planning daily deserts, chocolate has long been a boon to housewives. To such simple desserts as steamed or cottage pudding, tapioca or custard, chocolate brings a new appeal. And, for good measure, chocolate also adds considerable food value to these desserts.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.

Two cups sifted cake flour.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-third cup butter or other shortening.
One-half cup sugar.
One egg, well beaten.
Three squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.
One and one-half cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg and chocolate, beating until smooth. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat well after each addition. Turn into greased mold, cover, and steam two hours. Serve hot with hard sauce. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Baked Chocolate Custard.

Two squares unsweetened chocolate.
Four cups milk.
Four eggs, slightly beaten.
One-half cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine eggs, sugar, and salt; add chocolate mixture gradually, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add vanilla and pour into custard cups. Place in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) one hour, or until knife inserted comes out clean. (Water in pan should not reach boiling temperature.) Chill. Unmold and serve with cream, if desired.

Chocolate Rice Pudding.

One square unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces.
Three cups milk.
Four tablespoons rice.
One-third cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to milk in double boiler and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Add rice gradually, then add sugar and salt, and cook one and one-quarter to one and one-half hours longer, or until rice is soft, stirring occasionally. Cool; add vanilla. Chill. Serve garnished with fruit, or with plain or whipped cream.

Chocolate Marlow.

One cup milk.
One and one-quarter cups cocoa or one square chocolate.
One and one-half tablespoon vanilla.
One-half pint whipping cream.
Few grains salt.

Make a smooth paste of the cocoa and milk. Steam with marshmallows over hot water. Add vanilla, salt and cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, combine with the stiffly-beaten cream. Pour into tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze. (If chocolate is used, put marshmallows in pan first, pour milk over them, then add chocolate shaved fine. Steam until both are melted and proceed as above.

Chocolate Marshmallow Pudding.

Put in top of double boiled.
Three cups milk.
Two squares unsweetened chocolate.
One and one-half tablespoons gelatine and one-third cup sugar.

Place over hot water and when milk is scalded, stir and beat until smooth. Add one teaspoon vanilla and one-quarter teaspoon salt.

Strain into a large bowl and cool until it begins to thicken. Fold in 16 marshmallows which have been cut into fourths with scissors dipped frequently into a glass of water. Turn into a wet mold, chill. Serve with cream.

ASPARAGUS PRICES NEAR LOW RECORD

Other Vegetables Also Found to Be Good Buys This Week.

Certainly with all the talk about increase in food prices, St. Louisans cannot complain about vegetables, for week by week they seem to be cheaper.

Take new asparagus, for instance. Several days this week good-sized bunches were two for 15 cents, and one day, only 5c a bunch.

It's very good quality too, so here's a chance to indulge to the heart's content in this vegetable which is so good and so wholesome.

Greens continue to be almost at low all-time price level, and this includes spinach, kale and mustard greens.

St. Louis spinach, or rather that grown nearby, is now being shipped out to other states.

Iceberg lettuce, however, is higher, due, we are told, to California's new plan of limiting shipments.

However, there is a quantity of looser leaf home-grown lettuce on the markets.

Warmer weather brings the promise of cheaper tomatoes and cucumbers will probably be reduced too, as the first carload of the season's Texas field cucumbers came in yesterday.

Among the homegrown vegetables this week were noted the first beets of the year from neighboring gardens.

FIRST WATERMELONS ARRIVE FROM CUBA

Small Shipment Keeps Price High—First Raspberries Here Also.

The first watermelons of the season arrived this week from Cuba, but as the lot was small, prices are high.

Raspberries from California are also newcomers.

From California also are coming big shipments of cantaloupes. Many of these are vine-ripened melons, shipped in pre-cooled cars, and the flavor is delicious. Moreover, prices are lower than usual at this time.

Hundreds of cars of berries have been shipped from Louisiana all over the country the past few weeks, this State having been the strawberry hostess to many sections of the United States.

Pineapple and oranges are plentiful this week, California continuing to send in several varieties.

Toasted Sardine Sandwiches.

Cut slices of bread one-fourth inch thick. Rub sardines to a paste. Moisten with salad dressing and a few drops of seasoning sauce. Place another slice of bread over sardines and toast. Cut in two and serve hot.

Candied Potato Balls.

Boil three medium sized mealy sweet potatoes until tender. Drain and put through a potato ricer. Add one teaspoon butter and beat with a fork to a smooth mass. Cool, shape into tiny balls not more than three-quarters inch in diameter. Let stand for at least half an hour. Make a syrup by boiling two cups sugar and three-quarters cup water to the firm ball stage. Drop the potato balls in the syrup and cook until slightly caramelized. Drain and set on a greased plate or waxed paper to cool and crisp.

Discovers Oxydol Rougher On Dirt But Easiest On Clothes

Mrs. E. P. McDonald
Lincoln, Nebr.

"Oxydol takes the wear out of the washing, because it is so easy on the clothes and at the same time hard on the dirt. Now we wear out our clothes by using them instead of wearing them out by rubbing. And they are clean!"

IF you, too, want the far faster, far whiter way in washing that Mrs. McDonald has found—then you are urged to try this latest discovery of the Procter & Gamble experts, makers of famous Ivory—the New and Improved OXYDOL!

It does 3 things no other soap can do or has ever done:

Cuts washing time 25% to 40% in tub or machine. Hence, gives you your afternoon free!

Gets clothes 4 to 5 shades WHITER, by the scientific whiteness-measuring Tintometer test. Whiter EVEN than other granulated soaps (heretofore considered "whitest washing") can do in TWO washings!

Yet, due to its utterly new and improved formula, colors won't fade; fabric won't wear out! Even cotton prints and children's dainty frocks are safe. Yet, despite its amazing cleaning power, it leaves hands soft and lovely.

It works without back-breaking rubbing. For it works by dissolving dirt—loosens it out in fifteen minutes soaking! So you never have to scrub and boil clothes clean.

Thick 3-inch Suds in Any Water

The New and Improved OXYDOL will make thick "soft water suds" in any water, hard or soft. Without added "softener" or washing preparations. This is why:

It is specially fitted to water conditions in each district where it's sold.

Water in this district, for example, has been tested for "hardness" by expert chemists. Hence, by special formulation, the OXYDOL you get has been "fitted" to it.

You can see the results in the suds. OXYDOL multiplies 500 TIMES in suds—suds as rich as whipped dairy cream! Which means at least twice as much "soap action" as from old-style soaps.

Equally important is the fact that OXYDOL, by dissolving completely, rinses out completely. Thus banishes "soap streaks" from ironing.

And OXYDOL is economical. In buying many ordinary granulated or flake soaps you may have to spend as much as 8% to 30% more to get the same amount of soap. By buying OXYDOL, you get, in some cases, as much as one-third more soap for the same money.

Make This Test

Get OXYDOL today from your grocer and make this two-way test: (1) With a ruler, measure OXYDOL's thick suds and compare with the suds made by your usual soap—note how long they last; (2) watch the clock to prove to yourself that OXYDOL does loosen dirt out in 15 minutes!

EVAPORATED MILK USED IN DESERTS

Rice Pudding and Baked Custard Fine This Way.

We are asked to give recipes for deserts in which evaporated milk may be used, with the request that these be good for children as well as adults.

Rice Pudding.

One-fourth cup rice.
One-fourth cup sugar.
Grated rind of one-half lemon.
One tablespoon salt.
One and one-half cups evaporated milk.
One and one-half cups water.

Wash rice thoroughly and turn into a buttered baking dish with all the other ingredients. Bake in a slow oven until rice is tender, about two hours. Stir rice several times during the first hour to prevent settling. Yield: Six servings.

Baked Custard.

Two eggs.
One-third cup sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Two cups evaporated milk.
One cup boiling water.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Dash of nutmeg.

Beat eggs. Add sugar and salt and beat well, then add milk. Stir in the boiling water, vanilla and nutmeg. Sprinkle a little sugar in bottom of each custard cup. Set in a moderate oven to caramelize the sugar. Pour uncooked custard mixture over the melted sugar. Set custard cups in pan of hot water. Return to oven and bake until custards are set. Yield: Six servings.

JELLIED PEA AND CARROT SALAD FOR SUNDAY SUPPER

One-quarter cup cold water.
One cup boiling water.
One-quarter cup sugar.
One-quarter cup vinegar or lemon juice.
Three-quarters cup mixed cooked peas and carrot slices.

The gelatin should be stirred and dissolved in the cold water, the boiling water is poured over this and the sugar, vinegar or lemon juice added. When it begins to thicken add the vegetables and stir. Pour into molds that have been wet with cold water. Chill several hours.

SALMON SALAD

One and one-third cups red salmon.
One-quarter cup chopped celery.
One tablespoon capers.
One-half teaspoon scraped onion.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One cup corn flakes.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.

Have all ingredients chilled thoroughly. Flake the salmon. Remove bones and skin. Combine all ingredients and lightly toss together until well mixed. Add mayonnaise to make salad more moist if desired. Arrange on crisp lettuce which has been sprinkled with French dressing.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK.

Sugar Gingerbread.

One and one-fourth cups sifted cake flour.
One and one-fourth teaspoons baking powder, dash of salt.
Two teaspoons ginger.
Four tablespoons butter or other shortening.
One-half cup sugar.
One egg, unbeaten.
One-fourth cup sour milk or buttermilk.
Two tablespoons sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and ginger, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Spread evenly in greased 8x8x2-inch pan; sprinkle with mixture of two tablespoons sugar and cinnamon. Bake in hot oven 25 minutes. Serve warm.

Strawberry Rice.

Combine two cups cold cooked rice with two-thirds cup whipped cream and one cup of sweetened strawberries cut in bits. Chill.

Orange and Avocado Salad.

Cut a peeled avocado into rather thin slices crosswise, then cut each slice again once or twice the other way. Arrange on crisp leaves of lettuce alternately with slices of orange. Garnish with strips of pimiento and serve with French dressing made with lemon juice.

Round Steak Loaf.

Two pounds ground round steak.
One-fourth cup chopped suet.
Two and one-half tablespoons minced green pepper.
Two tablespoons Worcestershire sauce.
One-half cup catsup.
One-half teaspoon dry mustard.

Blend together the meat, suet, green pepper, and seasonings. Form all this into a large, flat, oval cake and bake in moderately hot oven about 40 minutes. Parboil potatoes and bake half an hour in meat pan.

Cinnamon Relish.

One-quarter cup water.
Two tablespoons cinnamon drops.
Two tablespoons sugar.
Pinch of salt.
One cup sliced apples.
One cup orange sections.

Cook together the water, cinnamon drops, sugar and salt, until the cinnamon drops are dissolved. Add apples which have been sliced about the same size as the orange sections, with the peeling left on. Simmer until tender. Add orange sections and cook for one mipute. Chill and serve with pork or ham.

Strawberry Mousse.

One cup crushed strawberries.
Three-quarters cup sugar.
One and one-half teaspoons lemon juice.
One teaspoon gelatin.
One tablespoon cold water.
One cup whipping cream.

We give as requested, a recipe for strawberry mousse.

Mash the strawberries very thoroughly or rub them through a sieve. Add the lemon juice and sugar and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Soften the gelatin in cold water and dissolve it by heating over boiling water. Add the gelatin to the strawberry mixture and freeze in the tray of an automatic refrigerator.

Potato, Beef and Carrot Salad.

Place potato salad in center of platter and surround with canned or cooked beets and little mounds of grated raw carrots. Put French dressing on beets and carrots before adding to potato salad.

Stuffed Celery.

LEMON BUTTER FINE FOR MEAT OR FISH

Good Also With Vegetables and Baked or Broiled Fish.

We have requests for lemon butter for fish, meat and vegetables, and also for a lemon cake filling and lemon chiffon pie.

So this column today illustrates the diversified uses of lemon, and don't forget that slices of lemon sprinkled with chopped parsley or paprika add a dainty touch to baked fish and other dishes.

Lemon Butter for Meat or Fish.

Three tablespoons butter, creamed.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Few grains paprika.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.
One tablespoon parsley, finely chopped.

Cream ingredients. Serve on hot fish or steak.

Lemon Butter for Vegetables.

Two tablespoons butter.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Few grains paprika.
One-half cup lemon juice.

Cream ingredients together. Serve with three cups hot diced vegetables. For carrots, a small amount of sugar may be added.

Lemon Cocktail Sauce.

Three tablespoons tomato catsup.
One teaspoon salt.
Six tablespoons lemon juice.
One-fourth teaspoon tabasco sauce.

Mix sauce ingredients thoroughly and pour over oysters or clams arranged in cocktail glasses. Serve very cold.

Lemon Cream Filling.

One egg.
One cup sugar.
Four tablespoons cornstarch.
One cup water.
One-half cup lemon juice.
One-half teaspoon grated lemon rind.
One tablespoon butter.

Beat egg, add sugar and cornstarch. Mix well. Add water, lemon juice and rind. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter. Cool before spreading on cake. Enough for a three-layer cake.

Lemon Chiffon Pie.

One cup sugar.
Four tablespoons flour.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One cup scalded milk.
Four tablespoons lemon juice.
Grated lemon rind.
Three eggs.

Mix sugar, flour and salt, add hot milk, and cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes. Stir constantly until thickened, afterward occasionally. Add the beaten egg yolks and cook a few minutes longer. Remove from the stove. Add lemon juice and a little grated rind and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Turn into a baked pastry shell and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes until firm.

ADVICE ON BUDGETING FOR FAMILY OF TWO

List of Foods Given for Adequate Diet for Small Family.

If you belong to a two-person family—two adults, that is — how does your weekly food budget compare with this:

Four loaves of bread, six pounds of flour and cereals, seven quarts of milk; six pounds of potatoes or sweet potatoes; one pound of dried beans, peas and nuts; two pounds of tomatoes or citrus fruits; three pounds of cabbage, lettuce, spinach or other greens, and carrots or yellow turnips; one pound of dried fruits; four pounds of other vegetables and fruits; two pounds of butter, lard and other fats, including salt pork or bacon; two pounds of sugar, and syrup; two and one-half pounds of lean meat, fish and poultry; half a dozen eggs.

Try this one if you want to economize, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. It gives you the maximum food value for least money, because it calls for the cheapest of each essential type of food, in sufficient quantities. It represents an adequate, balanced diet, for two moderately active adults for one week at minimum cost.

Let's say, then, that you have adopted the bureau's suggested low-cost market list for two. The next question comes on using those groceries to best advantage. Your meals will no doubt be planned one way if your two-person family consists of a man and a woman, another way if it consists of two women, or two men. In fact, your buying would be affected, too. For they do say—and seem to prove it—that men's appetites are different from women's. Two women eat less of cereals, potatoes, and dried beans or peas; two men somewhat more.

More Milk for Men.

They say, also that men are likely to drink more milk than women drink—which is so much the better for men. Women should drink more milk (and neither skim milk nor buttermilk is fattening!). But women eat salads more often than men, and this is so much the better for women, especially when the salads are made of raw vegetables or fruit. Men eat more meat and bread and potatoes, usually, than women eat. They should eat more green vegetables than they do.

But meals for two always present a problem of how to buy economically. It is not economical to buy or to cook, for example, just two or three potatoes. Small cans of tomatoes, corn or beans or fruit are more expensive per pound or per pint than the larger cans. And so on through the list of staple groceries. But how large a can is the best for you? Lack of storage space may make it hard, especially in small city quarters, to buy food in economical quantities. Foresight in meal planning seems to be the only answer to that.

There is a point, however, in the size of your cooking utensils. You can cook more economically if your pots and pans are built for two.

Meat for Two Meals.

On the other hand, it may be economical to cook, for example, more meat than enough for a meal, if you choose a kind that works well as a leftover. A shoulder of pork or lamb, a pot roast of beef, is good not only for one day, but for slicing cold the next day, or for any one of several appetizing chopped-meat dishes, especially hash and shepherd's pie. It is good in stuffing for green peppers, too.

Ground fresh meat, however, is a good bargain for a family of two because you can buy just the quantity you want. Half a pound will make a good meal—in meat patties wrapped in a strip of bacon, or in meat loaf. Liver is another good buy because you can get just as much or as little as you wish. And fish—fillet or steak of large fish, or the whole of some small fish, besides, of course canned salmon or tuna fish, herring, or sardines.

When it comes to vegetables, except potatoes, carrots, cabbage, or others that keep easily, it is better to buy for the day, but there are many good ways to use the left-over vegetables. Simplest, perhaps, is the salad of cold cooked vegetables—a mixture of potatoes and peas or beans, carrots, beets, spinach, on a lettuce leaf or a slice of raw cabbage. Left-over spinach goes very well into cream-of-spinach soup, or into a spinach souffle. Left-over carrots, cut small and served with peas in a rich cheese sauce well flavored with onion, are a most appetizing dish. Another good mixture is of vegetables creamed, or covered with cream sauce, and heated in the oven with a layer of bread crumbs over the top—with grated cheese, too, if you wish. Or try a curry—of vegetables or meat.

All-in-One Dishes.

A bachelor girl who has tried it for herself and her roommate, with a kitchenette to work in, has this to say about cooking for two: "Some of the best selections for kitchenette cookery are the all-in-one main dishes, mixtures that combine meat and a starchy food and vegetables in one pot. Make it in generous amounts and make it delicious. Then you can round out your meal with foods that need little or no cooking—a fruit cup or tomato juice to start, a crisp salad, or some fruit, fresh or canned, for dessert.

This bachelor girl goes on to mention a few good main-dish selections that take little time and little space for cooking. Blushing bunny is made with canned tomatoes and seasoned with a little chopped celery, green pepper, and onion browned in butter, besides, of course, the cheese. Or you can make it with canned tomato soup. Beef and ham gumbo in a rice ring is another excellent all-in-one dish. So are tomatoes, corn, and cheese on toast.

Where both members of the two-person family have jobs away from home, it is doubly important to plan meals for quick and easy cooking. Here again it is a matter of choosing the right thing or the right way to cook it. Potatoes, for instance, will cook quickly if they are diced or cut up in some way. So will carrots or turnips. Cabbage, quickly sliced in small slivers, is properly cooked in about five minutes. And, of course, a family of two, both with jobs, may very well use raw carrot sticks, raw cabbage and raw salads often, for convenience as well as for nutritive value. For desserts, fruits often, and cookies or cup cakes, custards and puddings and pies when you feel equal to the somewhat longer task. Meats also must be carefully chosen for easy cooking.

French Fried Noodles.

Boil noodles in salted water 5 minutes. Pour into colander and allow cold water to run over them. Drain thoroughly. Fry a small quantity at a time in deep fat heated to 385 degrees Fahrenheit, or hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 20 seconds. Use a French fryer with fine mesh basket. Noodles should be very crisp and delicately browned. Drain on unglazed paper.

SOUR MILK COOKIES

One cup sugar.
One-half cup sour milk.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
One teaspoon nutmeg.
Two and one-half cups flour.

Mix and sift the flour, salt and soda. Cream the fat, add the sugar, slowly; milk, flavoring and the dry ingredients. Roll one-third inch thick, cut and bake 10 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven. These cookies may be sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar before baking or a raisin or nut may be placed in the center of each.

LEMON WAFER PIE

Twenty-seven vanilla wafers, small.
One can sweetened condensed milk.
One-fourth cup lemon juice.
One-half cup cream.
One teaspoon powdered sugar.

Line buttered pie plate with vanilla wafers, cutting to fit. Blend together condensed milk and lemon juice and pour into wafer-lined plate. Whip cream, add sugar and spread over top of pie. Chill two to three hours and serve.

Between you and me..

"YOU'RE RIGHT, AND IT'S JUST AS GOOD FOR FLOORS, WOODWORK OR PAINTED WALLS—IN FACT, FOR ANY SURFACE ON WHICH WATER MAY BE USED."

There's a reason behind these facts—
OLD DUTCH is made with pure "SEISMOTITE"

"Seismotite" (pronounced sis-mo-tite) is a matchless cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin. It cleans quicker, cleans more things and doesn't scratch. Seismotite particles are very fine. They cover more surface because they are flaky and flat-shaped, like this. That's why Old Dutch goes further and does more cleaning per penny of cost. Avoid cleansers containing harsh, chunky grit.

You'll find that Old Dutch polishes as it cleans fine porcelain and enamel, and that it's ideal for any surface on which water may be used. It's kind to the hands, doesn't clog drains, is odorless and removes odors—the only cleanser you need.

Judge the quality of Old Dutch for yourself. Buy a package and test it thoroughly against any other cleanser. You'll agree that there is no substitute for Old Dutch quality and economy.

Doesn't Scratch

ORANGE SAUCE

One teaspoon corn starch.
Five tablespoons sugar.
Five tablespoons hot water.
Five tablespoons orange juice.
One-half tablespoon lemon juice.
One teaspoon butter.

Mix corn starch with a little cold water, add sugar and hot water and cook until thickened and clear. Add orange and lemon juice and butter. Serve on pudding or cake.

ORANGE PUDDING

One and one-half cups bread crumbs.
Three-quarters cup orange juice.
Two eggs, separated.
One-half cup sugar.
Two teaspoons melted butter.
Pinch of salt.

Combine the bread crumbs, orange juice, egg yolks, sugar, salt and melted butter. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, turn into a butter baking dish and bake until firm in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve with cream.

SOFT CUSTARD

Beat three egg yolks slightly, add three tablespoons sugar and few grains salt and one and one-half cups scalded diluted evaporated milk. Return to double boiler and stir constantly until coats spoon. Cool, add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla.

This is very good, especially for children. Served on fruit or a gelatin dessert.

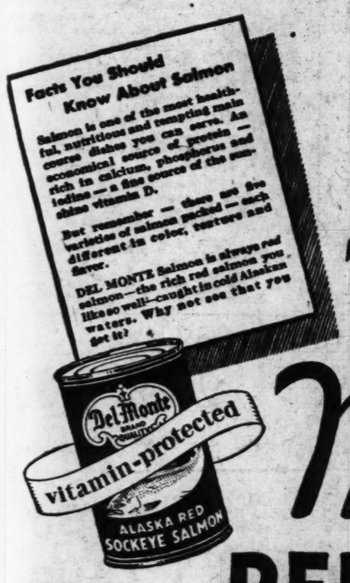

Cheese Straw Boxes.

OMELET BREAKFASTS AFTER EARLY GOLF

Poached Eggs With Appetizing Sauces Also Served.

Many a man these gorgeous spring mornings starts off for an early Sunday game of golf, fortified by a cup of coffee and a bit of toast, to find himself at the end of the game hungrier than he usually is after a long business day.

Happy the one who can invite a guest or two to go back home with him for a real breakfast.

One woman pleases her husband and his friends with novel omelets and poached eggs so dressed up with fancy sauces that they are delightful surprises.

Omelet Possibilities.

Omelets folded and filled with creamed new asparagus or peas are both substantial and pleasing.

Crushed, sweetened strawberries or thick rhubarb sauce are other spring-time fillings.

Poached Egg Sauces.

Paprika Sauce.

Two tablespoons flour.
Two tablespoons butter.
One tablespoon paprika.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One cup chicken stock or milk.

Blend the flour, paprika and salt. Make a paste of the flour mixture and a little of the stock or milk. Heat the remainder of the liquid, add to it the flour paste, stirring until thickened.

Italian Sauce.

One teaspoonful grated carrot.
Two tablespoonfuls chopped onion
Three tablespoonfuls butter.
One bay leaf.
Two tablespoons flour.
One-half cup stock or water.
One-half cup strained tomatoes.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Dash of pepper.

Put the butter into a pan and to it add the carrot, onion and bay leaf. Brown slightly. Add the flour, stirring to make a smooth paste. Then add the stock or water and stir until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Horseradish Sauce.

One cup water or stock.
Two tablespoonfuls flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Dash of white pepper.
One-half cup well-drained horseradish.

Make a paste of the flour, salt and a little water or stock. Heat the remainder of the water to boiling and to it add the flour paste, stirring constantly. When thickened, remove from the fire and add the butter and stir until well blended. Just before serving, add the horseradish, blending it thoroughly. It is important that the horseradish be pressed as dry as possible.

Curry Sauce.

Four tablespoonfuls onion, minced.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.
Two tablespoonfuls flour.
One teaspoonful curry powder.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
One cup boiling water or chicken stock.

Melt the butter in a saucepan. Add the onion and cook for a few moments, but do not brown the onion. Blend flour, curry powder and salt and add to the onion. Stir until well cooked. Standing covered over hot water for a few minutes before serving develops the flavor of this sauce.

Eggs on Spinach.

Two cups spinach, cooked.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.
One-half cup cream sauce.
One-quarter cup grated cheese.
Four eggs.

Toss the spinach in butter, arrange on hot dish. Put eggs on spinach and pour cream sauce over. Sprinkle with grated cheese and melted butter. Place for a moment under broiler flame to brown and serve.

SPANISH RICE

One cup rice.
Two tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons chipped celery.
One tablespoon minced onion.
One small chopped green pepper.
Two tablespoons flour.
One cup tomato culp.
Four bouillon cubes, dissolved in one and one-half cups boiling water.
One-quarter cup chopped ham.
One tablespoon sugar.

Boil rice in two cups water. Melt shortening, add minced onion, celery, and pepper, and cook until brown. Stir in flour, tomato pulp, sugar, and cubes dissolved in boiling water. Boil until thick, stirring constantly. Lastly, add chopped ham or leftover meat. Mix sauce with rice and serve. As a variation, rice may be stuffed into peppers and baked; or sprinkled with grated cheese and bread crumbs, and baked in casserole.

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE

Two cups sugar.
One cup top milk.
Two squares unsweetened chocolate.
Three tablespoons butter.
Ten marshmallows.

Put sugar, milk and chocolate in saucepan. Heat gradually to the boiling point and let boil until mixture will form a soft ball when tried in cold water. Remove from range, add butter, and as soon as butter is melted, beat until creamy. Add vanilla and fold in marshmallows, cut in quarters. Turn into a buttered pan, cool, and cut in cubes.

JELLIED ORANGE JUICE

Two teaspoons gelatin.
Two tablespoons cold water.
Juice of grated rind of one lemon.
One cup orange juice.
Two-thirds cup sugar.
Four eggs.

Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Mix lemon juice and rind, orange juice, sugar and beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water until mixture thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When it begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into small individual molds and place in refrigerator to become firm. Unmold and serve with a garnish of whipped cream and orange sections.

On steaks, in gravies, soups, spaghetti sauce, cold meats and fish.

HAVEN'T you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BRIDES ASK RECIPES FOR MAKING ROLLS

One Standard Recipe May Be Used For Varied Forms.

This is the first of a series of articles in answer to requests from young brides for cookery advice.

We choose rolls for the first because we find that to many just entering on the adventures of cooking, biscuits and rolls seem hard.

And yet they all want to learn because "husband just loves hot rolls," as one bride writes.

Pocketbook Rolls.

Sift cake flour, then measure so that there are two cups. Add two teaspoons baking powder and half a teaspoon salt and measure again. Cut in one tablespoon butter or other shortening. Add two-thirds cups milk. Stir carefully until flour is dampened, then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough. Turn out on well floured board and knead lightly two minutes. Roll one-fourth inch thick. Cut with two-inch floured biscuit cutter, fold double and press edges lightly together. Place in a greased pan and brush tops well with melted butter. Cover and let rise in a warm place 20 minutes. Bake in a hot oven 10 minutes, then brush with more melted butter and bake about 10 minutes more. When you take rolls from oven brush tops with more butter. This recipe may be cut in half.

Variations.

Muffin Rolls—Use recipe for pocketbook rolls. Shape dough into 1-inch balls and place in small greased muffin pans. Brush tops with melted butter. Cover, let rise in warm place 20 minutes, and bake as directed.

Knots—Use recipe for pocketbook rolls. Roll dough one-fourth inch thick on slightly floured board and cut in strips, 6x½ inches. Tie each in loose knot or shape in figure 8. Place in greased pan; brush tops with melted butter. Cover, let rise in warm place 20 minutes, and bake as directed.

Finger Rolls—Use recipe for pocketbook rolls. Shape dough into balls, then roll out with hand on board until of desired length. Make rolls smooth and of uniform size. Place in greased pan; brush tops with melted butter. Cover, let rise in warm place 20 minutes, and bake as directed.

Crescent Rolls—Use recipe for pocketbook rolls. Roll dough one-fourth inch thick on slightly floured board and cut in four-inch triangles. Roll each, beginning on diagonal, and shape into crescent with point on top of roll. Place in greased pan; brush tops with melted butter. Cover, let rise in warm place 20 minutes, and bake as directed.

Poppy Seed Rolls—Prepare any of the above rolls. Place in greased pan; brush tops with melted butter and sprinkle generously with poppy seed. Cover, let rise in warm place 20 minutes, and bake as directed, dropping melted butter from teaspoon, instead of brushing on rolls, to avoid removing poppy seeds.

Cucumber Sauce.

Peel and chop two large cucumbers. Drain off liquid. Add one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons mild vinegar and a dash of pepper. Mix well. Chill and serve with cold salmon or tura fish.

Left-Overs.

The skillful and tasty use of left-overs is a branch of cooking which constitutes the test of a good cook and it's a subject well worth a little study. Sometimes it's a matter of savory seasonings which put new life in bits left over from yesterday's meals.

Flower Ice Cream.

Cut a brick of vanilla ice cream in small cubes. Press wafers against the sides. Sprinkle the cream with grated chocolate and garnish with a flower made of candied cherries.

The Parole System.
Why Blackmail Russia?
What? Cheap Milk for Mothers?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1934.)

NEW YORK is discussing a law to make the parole system for criminals "more liberal," which would mean turning criminals loose after an earnest lecture and a brief prison residence.

It is not desirable to concentrate attention on any particular highlight of banditry, but Mr. Dillinger, who seems a resolute bandit, was turned loose in that way in his own State. Later he turned himself loose, and since that time 13 men have been killed along his trail.

Quite reasonably the Washington Government is asked why it forbids lending money to Russia. The present Russian Government does not owe anybody in the United States a cent. Every dollar spent by Russia, for merchandise, in the United States has been paid. Our biggest industrial concerns, General Electric, and others, will testify to that.

Loans that Americans foolishly made to the comic opera Kerensky government were actually used by "White Russians" to invade Russia in an attempt to conquer its present government. Can you expect Soviet Russia to pay that debt?

This Government passed a law that no American money shall be lent to defaulters on war debts. The Government of Russia is not in default on any war debt to this country and Uncle Sam should not attempt to blackmail that Government into paying debts of Kerensky or the Czar.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who knows that farmers sell good milk for three cents a quart and less, thinks mothers in cities ought to be able to buy two quarts for 15 cents, which would be a little more than double what the farmers get. He even suggested that New York City go into the business of selling good milk in bulk. You will admit that comes pretty close to bolshevism, anarchy and communism.

Bad news becomes much worse news in the farm belt. Unless heavy rain comes within five days, serious crop failures must be expected. In addition to heat, parasites and dust storms are hurting wheat, which may drop to a 50 per cent yield.

This bad news for us is good news for other countries that grow wheat.

This optimistic country, that apparently never heard of a crop failure, practically compelling farmers to cut their crops, leaving their land idle, will improve markets for foreigners.

Stocks dropped rapidly yesterday. Those who believe that discouraging short market sales will hurt values may be right.

All Governments learn that in this world, things "grow," farming methods, babies, industries, crops. Any sudden plan to change methods that experience has established may turn out magnificently. But it may turn out otherwise.

Food in some big cities has gone up 50 per cent in price in the last year, which suits those who wanted to raise the prices of products. It does not suit so well the millions that have thus far failed to raise the value of their own services, or even to find a job.

The President has signed another tax bill to raise $417,000,000 of new revenue. Small incomes will pay less, big incomes will pay more. A man once had a theory that eating with horses was just a habit. He diminished his horse's supply of hay gradually until he finally got him down to one strand. The horse died and spoiled his experiment.

Without debate, the Senate yesterday passed a bill to establish a "Federal credit union system that will lend money to persons of small means at nominal interest rates." That is one Government enterprise for which it is safe to predict many customers.

STREAMLINED TRAIN TRAVELS AT RATE OF 103 MILES AN HOUR

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Reaching a speed of 103.85 miles an hour for a short distance, the Burlington's streamlined stainless steel "Zephyr" last night completed the fastest railroad run on record between Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago.

The distance of 141 miles was covered in one hour and 45 minutes, rail officials said. Over a 100-mile stretch the Diesel powered three-car train averaged 85 miles an hour as compared with the 69.1 miles an hour schedule of the fastest regular train over the route.

Seersucker Is Being Used for Evening Dress

By Sylvia

PERHAPS you can't visualize the merits of oyster bagging as a material for a summer hat. But wait until you see the hat that a St. Louis shop has on exhibition. It is the ideal chapeau for wear with your summer cotton frocks. The fabric as indicated by the name is that used by the Cape Cod fishermen so is very loosely woven and slightly off white. The brim is wide, the crown is deftly moulded and instead of a prosaic ribbon band, binding cord is called into service.

• • •

Every smart girl is getting herself a seersucker suit and some of them are buying seersucker evening gowns. The suits have swagger length coats and either skirts or one-piece frocks. The evening dresses have skirts with circular flounces, huge bows drooping over the shoulders and no back above the waistline. White backgrounds with novelty checks in colors predominate.

A blouse of plaid tablecloth linen is the gayest accompaniment you can have for a summer suit. Colors that seem to have the greatest appeal are absolutely gaudy. One blouse model has a long shoulder line which eliminates the necessity of sleeves, and has fringe on the shoulders. Another has a tricky collar with fringed revers. Both are designed in the overblouse style but there is no fashion rule against tucking the tail inside.

• • •

Did you ever hear of a blinder collar? If not this is news. A light weight wool coat in one St. Louis shop has an upstanding collar of brown quilted taffeta. It is padded to such a degree that it stands up straight at the back of the neck and fairly bristles as it crosses the shoulders and ends at the base of the collar bone. You can hide your blushes as well as your eyes with this novel creation.

• • •

If you want to match your white linen crash coat with smart accessories, why not start with gloves? You can get them of crash, the most dashing variety being equipped with cavalier cuffs. Another graceful feature is the design of the glove. Hand and cuff sections are cut in one. A large button holds the outside ends of the cuff together.

• • •

Selecting a gift of costume jewelry for Mother's day will be an easy problem if you chance upon a choker and bracelet set of white translucent beads. Instead of being graduated, the beads are all one size. Their oval shape adds to their graceful appearance. Such an ensemble not only will be effective with pastel colored summer frocks but will be impressive when worn with black or white.

• • •

When a gingham evening frock has taffeta decorations, it can venture into high society. Blue and white checked gingham is the unusual material of a young girl's frock seen in a St. Louis store the other day. The fabric is cut on the biaz so that slender lines become accentuated. A knee flounce is edged with dark blue taffeta and there is a taffeta jacket to match.

• • •

Another evening gown which employs a daytime color scheme of navy and white is of blue printed with a tiny white leaf design. The leaves are small and arranged in clusters. The most distinctive feature about this frock in addition to its fabric is its bustle back which has a lining of plain navy taffeta.

• • •

The summer collars are getting lower in front but they continue their height at the back. The favorite method of achieving this style feature across the back is to provide a cluster of vertical tucks. A stunning vestee illustrates the trend. Its turnover collar is equipped with a series of tucks that end in pleats and it drops to a graceful V in the front. Mousseline is the fabric and the trimming is Valenciennes lace.

Furniture Covers for Summer

By Josephine Walter

THE attractiveness and practicability of slip-covering all the furniture for the summer months was described in a recent article and today this column will be devoted to explaining just how simply and easily this work may be done at home.

Of course, there are several ways of obtaining slip-covers for the home. All of the department stores and decorating shops maintain a staff of experts who do nothing but cut and sew slip-covers at this season of the year. Then, too, most stores offer a service whereby, if the material is purchased there, they will show you how to cut and make the covers yourself. But this article is addressed primarily to those who intend doing the job entirely by themselves.

The first thing, of course, is to know how much material is needed for the piece of furniture you are going to cover. Most stores now have a chart showing the various types of chairs, couches and chaise longues and the approximate amount of material it will require to slip-cover them, but if you desire to be absolutely accurate you should measure your individual pieces. In taking these measurements there are one or two things to be taken into consideration. If the material has a figured pattern, allowance must be made for centering the design, and if the material is washable it must be either pre-shrunk or allowance made for washing before the cover is made up. Always remember that it is better to have a little material left over than not enough to complete the job.

Now for the actual measuring. Measure from outside back, up over top and down about two inches inside back of seat, then carry tape measure straight forward over seat of chair and down to the floor in front. Add two inches apiece for front and back hems, two inches for seam at top of back and two for seam at front edge of seat. For the arms, measure from inside of chair, where arm and seat join, up over arm and down the outside of chair to the floor. Add two inches for hem, two for seam, and two for seams on top of arm. Multiply by two for the other arm. If there is one, measure cushion and allow two inches each way for seams. There are three types of skirts which are used to finish a slip cover; shirring requires one and one-half times the distance around the bottom, box pleating requires a double fullness and knife pleating three times as much. When all these measurements have been taken the total amount must be reduced to yards.

In making the slip cover, especially if you are new at the work, it is advisable to practice with muslin or some other inexpensive material and if this has been correctly cut you may, if you wish use this as a pattern in cutting the good material. The slip-cover should be cut and pinned directly on the chair, with the right side of the material facing the chair. First place the material on the back, pin it securely to the chair and, allowing about two inches all around for seams, cut the required piece. The front of the chair is then covered with one continuous piece which joins the back at the top of the chair and covers the front, seat and apron. Four inches should be allowed for tucking in at the back of the seat and tucks are pinned at top of chair and front of seat to allow for welting. Next, a piece is placed on the outside arm, pinning up from the bottom to edge of arm and then the small piece which fit up the side and connects the back and front of the arm are fitted. After all the pieces have been cut they should be pinned and then basted together. The cutting of the cover for the cushion can be done separately and off the chair.

In sewing the slip-cover it must be decided how the seams are to be finished. Welting and French seaming have been most popular in the past but there is a decided tendency at the present time to make the seaming the most attractive part of the cover with rope cording, fringes of various sorts, braids and chintz bindings.

THERE must be some means of getting the covers on and off and the most usual method is to hem one side of the back and sew a piece of material about an inch wide on the adjoining side of the cover and fasten them together by means of snaps. There is more and more a tendency, however, to substitute zippers for snaps because of the smooth fit which they permit. A place must be left at the back of the cushion, too, for snaps or slide fasteners to permit the cover to be taken on and off.

When finished the slip cover should fit so well that it is difficult to tell whether or not the piece is upholstered. In fact, with all the aids to slip-covering nowadays, slip-covers are frequently preferred for winter as well as summer slip-covers, for the ease in cleaning them permits the use of many light colored fabrics which have been impractical up to now. Lastex materials, in particular, are creating interest for the stretching quality permits of a very snug fit in making the covers. In other words, today, a room fitted with slip covers should present the same well groomed and tailored appearance as one done entirely in upholstered pieces.

Smart Women And the Wish To Show Off

They Have Always Been Clever But in the Past Have Had to Hide It.

By Elsie Robinson

ALL right, all right, girls; I'll admit we're smart. I'll agree that we're quite as smart as men. I'll even concede that, maybe, given the time and breaks, we may prove to be smarter.

BUT WHY, OH, WHY MUST WE BE SO SHRILL ABOUT IT? Why can't a bright woman take her brains comfortably? A bright man can. A really intelligent man wears his mind as nonchalantly as he does his oldest shoes and slopiest hunting jacket. He doesn't become fussed when he Has A Thought, nor does he consider it necessary to fuss others.

ELSIE ROBINSON

Not so women. Not once in a blue moon does one meet a brilliant woman who isn't self-conscious—and a bit shrill about it.

Take Margot Asquith, Countess of Oxford, as a case in point. Also that lively export from our own shores, Lady Astor. Both of these amazing women can think circles around the average male, and hold their own even among the loftiest male highbrows. Both of them fairly crackle with intelligence. But did either of them ever crackle in silence?

Not only are Mesdames Asquith and Astor pleased when they produce a Bright Idea, but they are also hot and bothered—and plenty pesty. They seem to fear that some one will doubt or dispute their cleverness, and they're taking no chances. There's a spark in their eyes, a slant to their jaws, a rasp in their voices, which not only informs but also warns the listener that Here's a Brainy Jane, and Don't You Forget It!

And, to varying degrees, this is true of almost all Smart Shes. Occasionally one meets a rare woman thinker who isn't excited about it—a Secretary Perkins, Madame Curie, Amelia Earhart, Eva Le Gallienne, Marie Dressler, Jane Addams. But most of us act as if our brightness were a dose of hives—and make our audience feel accordingly.

How come? The answer's easy. We have stage fright.

Women have had brains for several million years, and said brains have been functioning plenty. But they never advertised them. To have done so would have been highly inexpedient, as even the simplest femme well knew.

For men like 'em dumb. Nothing so adorns or enhances male smartness as female stupidity.

As a consequence, all really intelligent girls kept it to themselves—or wished they had. Only within recent years has it been profitable or possible for ladies to publicize their cleverness, and, naturally, we're still both puffed up and touchy. Pleased with our new rights—but always prepared to fight for them! And that condition doubtless will continue until we get our sea legs.

But let's take it as easy as we can in the meantime, sisters. After all, a Bright Thought is not a unique phenomenon. Nor are brains actually any more unique than toe nails—and we hang no wreaths on the female sex when we act as if they were.

To the contrary—the laugh's on us. If we were really as smart as we think we are, we wouldn't be so surprised about it.

Coffee Bread
(Using Sour Milk.)

Two cups flour.
Three teaspoons baking powder.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-half cup sugar.
One egg.
One-half cup sour milk.
Three tablespoons butter, melted.

Mix ingredients, lightly. Pour into greased shallow pan. Cover with topping and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Cut in bars; serve warm with butter.

One-half cup chopped dates.
One teaspoon cinnamon.

Western Hash

Three tablespoons chopped green peppers.
One cup diced cooked potatoes.
One egg.
One cup milk.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
One-quarter teaspoon paprika.

Heat fat in frying pan. Add and brown onions and peppers. Add rest of ingredients. Mix well. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Stir several times while cooking.

Chilled Desserts

To insure chilled desserts reaching the table very cold and appetizing, place the glasses or plates in which they are to be served in the refrigerator for 15 minutes before serving.

Lew Ayres to Be Teamed With Janet Gaynor in Next Picture

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.

THE famed Janet Gaynor-Charlie Farrell combination will never again flourish as a permanent team. Charlie has gone to Europe and Janet is here with her public clamoring for her pictures. Winfield Sheehan, in looking about for someone to take Charlie's place, hit upon Lew Ayres. Choosing Lew to play opposite Janet in "Servants' Entrance" is no experiment. He and Janet were together in "State Fair," one of Gaynor's best pictures.

Rafael Sabatini's stories are as good today as they were five or 10 years ago. "Captain Blood" is one of the Sabatini novels brought to the screen by the old First National Co. It didn't compare with "The Sea Hawk" also by Sabatini, but it was good entertainment. Now Warners plan to make it with either Warren William or Ricardo Cortez in the leading roles. I should think Warren William would be excellent after what I saw of him as Julius Caesar.

I didn't know that Ruth Elder was still in town until today when she was signed for the supporting cast of an air serial, "Skyfighter" to feature Lila Lee and Ralph Graves. "Skyfighters" sounds interesting.

You must admire Jean Harlow for the way in which she played her part as matron of honor at the wedding of Carmelita Geraghty and Carey Wilson. Jean had had a big scene with Hal Rosson, her husband, just an hour before she was ready to go to the wedding. Only two people in that entire assemblage knew that that very morning Hal Rosson had moved out and that finis had been written to the Harlow-Rosson marriage.

The very happiest people I know in Hollywood are Joan Blondell and George Barnes. Joan will make one more picture for Warners and then she and George will take a boat for Tahiti and spend the summer months on the island in company with Norman Foster.

In all the years that Frank Borzage has been winning academy awards and making pictures that people talk about, he has never directed a musical. Warners have handed him "Flirtation Walk," a musical with a West Point locale, which will star Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell and feature Pat O'Brien.

Last year Dolores Del Rio barried off the prize for being the Wampas baby star who had made the greatest strides in screen achievement since 1931. Tuesday night at the Elks' Club an award will be made for a baby star who has had the greatest glory since 1932. Joan Blondell, 1931; Ginger Rogers, 1932; Constance Cummings, Frances Drake, Gloria Stewart and Karen Morley are the girls who are being considered for the trophy.

Ear Infections Sometimes Start In Nose or Throat

By Dr. Iago Galdston

EAR infections are always annoying, frequently painful and at times dangerous. They are more common in children than in grown-ups. This is to be explained by the fact that the Eustachian tube, leading from the inside of the throat to the inside of the ear, is shorter and placed at a different angle in infants and children than in adults.

Many of the infections of the ear are extensions of disease which originates in the nose and throat, the extension taking place through the Eustachian tube. Any type of infection which involves the nasopharynx, the throat or the chest, such as the ordinary cold, measles, whooping-cough, bronchitis and scarlet fever, may also involve the ears.

Ear infections may vary in severity and in extension, being largely influenced by the nature of the infecting agent and the general condition of the individual. At times the infection may be mild, amounting to little more than a catarrhal engorgement or swelling of the mucous membranes around and sometimes within the Eustachian tubes. Such a condition interferes with the ventilation of the ear and results in muffling the hearing.

The infection may go farther and cause the accumulation of serum or pus behind the ear drum. When this develops we have what amounts to an ear abscess. When the fluids behind the ear drum are under pressure, the condition may become very painful and may necessitate surgical treatment.

Ear infections call for prompt and adequate medical attention. The risk of complications and of permanent damage is too serious to permit dilly-dallying in the hope that things will take care of themselves.

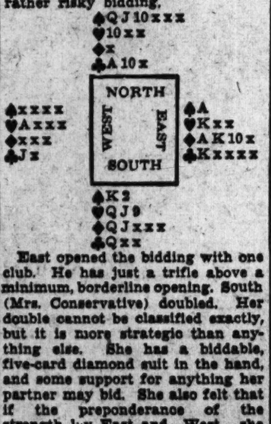

Particularly is it important to watch the ears of infants and children subject to colds and to other forms of respiratory infections. Infants and children are not articulate. Hence, if the child or infant fingers or rubs its ears or complains of ear pain, a doctor should be asked to examine the ears.

A Strategic Contract Double And Its Unpleasant Results

By P. Hal Sims

Conservatives	Aggressives
+1200
900	350

MR. AGGRESSIVE, sitting in the East position, dealt today's hand, and put up some rather risky bidding.

East opened the bidding with one club. He has just a trifle above a minimum, borderline opening. South (Mrs. Conservative) doubled. Her double cannot be classified exactly, but it is more strategic than anything else. She has a biddable, five-card diamond suit in the hand, and some support for anything her partner may bid. She also felt that if the preponderance of the strength lay East and West, she might be able to put a crimp into the bidding.

Mrs. Aggressive passed, and North properly took out with one spade. Mr. Aggressive, at this point, made the foolish bid of two diamonds. He should have realized that if South's double is distributional, he may be hurt badly at that contract, or in a rescue bid of three clubs. Moreover, it doesn't look as if the opponents have game in anything.

Mrs. Conservative, feeling very well satisfied with Mr. Aggressive's second bid, passed. She didn't dare double, but she anticipated a set of one, or two on vulnerable opponents. To her further joy, Mrs. Aggressive also passed. Then Mr. Conservative upset the applecart by bidding two spades. This was passed all around.

In the play of the hand, Mr. Aggressive laid down the king of diamonds, and then switched to a club. Mr. Conservative let that ride to the ace-ten in his hand. Mrs. Aggressive's jack forced his ace. Then, when Mr. Aggressive got in with the ace of spades, he played the king of clubs, and another club, giving his partner a ruff. Mr. Conservative later lost the ace and king of hearts, going down one on the hand.

Mrs. Conservative opened her mouth quickly, but Mr. Conservative got there one jump ahead of her.

"I know what you're going to say," he told her. "It's this. If I can't read your fine doubles, I might as well quit playing. You have the Aggressives on the spot, and I take them off. The person who doubles should take charge of the bidding unless his partner's hand is so strong that he can do some business himself. My hand wasn't of that type. There's no reason why I shouldn't pass, particularly as we're playing bridge."

Mrs. Conservative started to speak again, but Mr. Conservative silenced her with a lofty gesture.

"Also," he continued, "as long as I'm playing the hand at two spades I should be able to make it. Knowing this robber on my left as I do, I might have guessed that he'd underlead the king of clubs. By that time, anyway, I should have a count on the hand. There's no sense in giving East the opportunity to trump the third round of the clubs. In other words, I made the opponents a present of 50 points, instead of taking 250 away from them. I was wrong. I admit it. Now have you anything to say?"

"Yes," answered Mrs. Conservative meekly, "Would you mind getting me a glass of water?"

As you have probably gathered, the Conservatives lost 50 points by that encounter, giving the Aggressives 400 points above the line.

Grandpa Galump Again Complains To Willy Nilly

By Mary Graham Bonner

"FIRST of all," said Willy Nilly, "I will get things in good order. Then I will attend to my sticking-out, pointed ears. But perhaps I had better see that my automobile Two-Ways is in perfect condition before I do my ears.

"Then my house needs a fresh coat of paint after the winter storms, and my porch should be painted, too. The garden needs to be weeded, and I should do more planting.

"It is fortunate the circus people left so much behind in the way of food, but my nice garden won't be nice at all if I don't look after it.

"I haven't the backbone of a moth if I let anything interfere with my work now."

Everyone was busy in Puddle Muddle and Willy Nilly loved the quiet. They would be back before long to talk over what had been happening. But in the meantime it was wonderful to feel that a long day was ahead of him in which he could accomplish so much. He had the feeling everything would be in order before the summer was under way.

He was in the midst of cleaning his house when he heard a knock at the door.

"Who is there?" called Willy Nilly.

"Grandpa Galump," answered the voice. Willy Nilly's heart sank. Had his animals been bothering Grandpa again? It seemed as though they enjoyed teasing him because they knew it annoyed him so much.

"How are you today?" asked Willy Nilly hopefully.

"Very angry," was Grandpa's reply. "My rolls are missing."

A Reader Asks Advice About Summer Clothes, Introductions, And Matters of Social Conduct

By Martha Carr

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

I SHOULD appreciate it very much if you would answer the following questions:

My dear Mrs. Carr:

(1) During the extremely hot weather in St. Louis in July and August, is it poor taste to wear white clothes and white shoes, for town wear or a shopping trip, with luncheon at one of the hotels? A cotton print with a white coat?

(2) With what type of dress are white pig skin gloves worn? Are they ever permissible with "cottons?"

(3) In introducing oneself to another guest in a friend's house, would one say "I am Sally B." or "I am Mrs. B.?"

(4) When finger bowls are put on the table with dessert, does one use it where it is or move it over?

(5) When a heart of lettuce is served, isn't it permissible to use a knife to cut it? Can one use a knife for a stubborn tomato?

COUNTRY COUSIN.

Nearly everyone wears all the white they can, almost anywhere in St. Louis during the torrid days. Of course that worn downtown would be plain as to cut and not too transparent as to material. However, a cotton print with white coat doesn't sound very cool, unless you remove the coat on your arrival at the hotel. Cotton fabrics are far the coolest one can wear, if they are light and thin; chiffon (not georgette) runs a close second.

3—"I am Sally B;" if she looks a little dazed, you might add by way of identification, "Mrs. George B."

4—Finger bowls are generally brought in on a small plate with service napkin under them. Remove the bowl and small napkin, setting the bowl on the napkin at your left, so that your plate is free to receive fruit, etc., which is usually passed around.

5—It is permissible, to use the knife to give a division to the lettuce or tomato, so that it will not unexpectedly hop across the table or out on the floor.

YOUR column is always interesting because of your inimitable style, and I "gorge" accordingly. Couldn't you extend it just a bit? Quite a while ago I saw, "Song of Songs" and was profoundly stirred by the underlying theme. The heroine, at several points, read from a small book, beginning with the words, "I sought Him, but I found Him not." Have you any idea from where these words were taken? (Have the Catholics their own Bible?.

And will you tell me how, and with what, are white moire evening slippers cleaned?

LOVER OF MORPHEUS.

The quotation comes from the third chapter of the "Songs of Solomon" (from which the "Song of Songs" is taken).

The Catholic Bible is similar to that used by Protestants, but has seven books added.

Try art gum on your moire shoes. If that does not clean them you will have to use a cleaner of some kind.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE been a teacher for the past five years and have no position for the coming year. I am very fond of children and dearly love to work with them. Could you suggest any kind of work I could do that would be connected with children? I would like to take care of children for parents who are traveling—just for the pleasure of it. Please will you print this?

EX-TEACHER.

Your best chance, if you wish a place of this kind, is to run a want ad. or to have a notice in the personal column. If you like, send me a self-addressed and stamped envelope and I will mail my "Occupations for Women," in which you may find something that has to do with the care of children, either part or whole time.

• • •

Dear Mrs. Carr:

IF you have the address of "Mrs. G. H.," and think she would care to correspond with us, will you let me have it, or give my name to her? We live in the county on a farm and, as there are no near neighbors' children for my Bobby to play with, I should like to have her with us. In her article she does not mention how her parents feel about this, and I should like to know more.

Your column covers such a wide scope and the advice you give is perfect. I know there must be others than myself, who wish it were several columns instead of just two.

Until recently I worked at the Post-Dispatch and I believe it was my pleasure to ride in the elevator with you. I only hope it was you—as I felt it an honor to be near someone who had such reliable judgment. Hoping you will not resent my personal attitude—and waiting for some word from you.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I WANT to thank you, and the kind lady who came to visit my home, while I was in the hospital and left the nice, serviceable baby clothes. I surely don't know what I would have done for clothes if this lady had not answered my plea, through you. And I want to thank you both for me and mine. My baby was born April 12 and is fine and healthy. MRS. D.

• • •

Dear Mrs. Carr:

THIS is an unusual request, but I believe you can help me. I am a girl 25 years old and have been crippled since I was 9 years old. I have curvature of the spine, causing a disorder of the nerves. Some doctors say its a hopeless case. Do you know of any free hospitals or medical schools where they will take anyone just for experiments? If they cannot do anything for me, maybe the experiment will help others. I haven't any home or parents as they died six years ago, so there isn't anyone to interfere. I want a place to stay, where I can get treatment.

M. E. R.

Someone may respond to your letter and you will, of course, have to send your name and address, if you wish me to communicate with you. I want to commend your courage.

• • •

Dear Mrs. Carr:

IF a fellow and girl have gone together for a long time and are quite seriously in love, the parents understanding that you plan to get married, would it be fitting to send both the girl and her mother flowers on "Mother's day?" Just what should the relationship be there? X. Y. Z.

I do not think you should stop to weigh the niceties of the situation so meticulously. If you like the girl and her mother and have been a welcome guest in this family, the Mother's day flowers would be a very pleasant attention. It need not be such a weighty matter.

• • •

Dear Martha Carr:

I WONDER if you could tell me where a person, without much money, could obtain a divorce? Will it be necessary to bring my husband back to the State of Missouri to procure a divorce in this State? PEG.

As the notice in italics, used in the box every day in my column states, I cannot give legal advice. You will get the information you want from a lawyer, or if you cannot afford to pay for legal advice, you may find help at the Legal Aid Bureau, City Hall.

• • •

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE a baby 3 months old and I would like to have a bed and baby buggy for her. I cannot afford to pay for those things, but I have a son 20 years old, who would be willing to work for them, as I have been very ill and am unable to work for them myself.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE
by WYNN

For Saturday, May 12.

A STEPPING day, starting fast and getting faster as it grows older, mentally as well as physically. Don't run down hill—keep your balance. Think straight in the later hours, especially about the future—make plans.

Wasting Time.

Under present conditions a great many people have eight waking hours free from the necessity of earning a living and sleeping. What do they do with them? Waste them foolishly, for the most part. Keep a record, as suggested here yesterday, for a week or for a month. If you spend two hours a day at meals, charge them on your little book just as though they were money you had spent. If you are in the theater three hours, put them down against your credit of eight hours for that day. Those are easy. But try to account for the rest of the day when those two items are the only ones that make any impression on you. Put down, "Day dreaming, 15 minutes" and "Arguing over 5 cents change with storekeeper, 20 minutes." Be fair. Put it all down.

Your Year Ahead.

Changes and shifts are apt to continue, or begin, as the case may be, in your occupational and also in your private affairs, if today is your birthday. These are most apt to come from past acts or statements or through something you have considered secret. Play every thing wide open—come clean, if you want best results. Watch law and finances after Dec. 6. Danger: Sept. 27-Nov. 14.

Tomorrow.

Caution with those older till midafternoon; store up the old battery.

A Hollywood Designer Forecasts the Fashions for Summer Season

By Travis Banton

THE entire fashion calendar for this summer spells r-e-l-i-e-f. It is as though women have been in mourning for some years and are suddenly emerging. It's a rise-and-shine mood and has spread throughout style-dom. There is romance; there is flattery and there is grace in nearly every recognized fashion in this new mode.

I particularly like the trailing, wind-blown tendency. I like to dress feminine players in the type of things which will enhance their loveliness with swirling fabrics, trains and just a suggestion of draperies. For Claudette Colbert, in "Cleopatra," I have done several costumes which I consider ideally suited to adaptation. One very desirable quality which can be taken into the present mode, I believe, is the movable phase of these costumes. Silver lame is used for one gown and the entire thing is a drapery suspended on jeweled rings. Whenever and wherever Miss Colbert moves, this gown responds with graceful accord and women of today would instantly recognize the value of such a design.

Next to the Cleopatra mode, I am emphasizing the continued success of adaptations from Carole Lombard's costumes. I designed these things along the 1914 silhouette, yet in many of this summer's gowns there is a direct reflection of the draped-up skirt, the split skirt and the wide girdle. Another revival from pre-war styles is the transparent dinner gown of black chiffon, with the 'camisole slip' effect. This type of frock is in keeping with the dramatic quality in new fashions.

Speaking of the dramatic influence, Kitty Carlisle wears a definite example of this. We used lustrous white satin for this gown and gave it the 1914-ish panel in the front, with a shoulder drapery ending in two panels, which in turn develop into a train. This elaborate type of formal gown is returning this summer and a drapery of this sort may be worn in four or five different ways. I refer to these changeable designs as deceitful silhouettes and I believe that it is a smart woman's natural desire to have clothes which may be rearranged.

Another of Kitty Carlisle's gowns is a definite adaptation of the Cleopatra era. On sheer white net we scattered circles of silver sequins and the belt is a copy of the Egyptian girdle. In keeping with the Roman and Egyptian habit, this gown has a drapery or scarf, also be-sequined, which may be worn in various graceful ways.

One of the summer's newest collections is of gowns which are just a bit more dressy than last season's semi-formals. For afternoons this year, contrary to last, very few smart women will sponsor sportswear. They will wear this long, elaborate and gown, with equal eclat. Velvet hats will be acknowledgedly summery, as will felt and under the same fashion repeal fur will be lightly but definitely used on many warm weather costumes.

I do think that one way of recognizing the truly smart woman this summer will be by her elbow length sleeves. For some strange reason women have become wary of anything between the very short and very long sleeve. But this season is different, and by their three-quarter sleeves ye shall know them.

Hats will continue to be mad, throughout the season. Broad-brimmed models will be trimmed with field flowers when they are to be worn with garden frocks. More street-ish broad brims, especially black, may have sashes or bands of shaved fur or of felt. The draped, Russian influence will prevail for the ultra-smart woman. It is amusing to me to note that the leading fashion magazines are now spotlightly the adaptation of a peasant hat which I created for Marlene Dietrich, a year ago, when she played the part of an awkward peasant girl in "Song of Songs."

For sports clothes, I am afraid the nautical influence has been so overdone that it will die out before the actual beach weather is in full sway. It is probable that sports wear will tone down after the sailor has been forgotten and turn into still another feminized mode. Pastel crepe dresses, slightly shirtwaist, will be popular and very light-weight knitted costumes should be considered seriously.

Shoes are another reflection of Cleopatra. Sandals are definitely leading the race. They are stunning Capri sandals for pajamas and playsuits. The Mexican striped crepe model with a low heel will be worn morning, noon and night and in the evening many versions of the most revealing sandals will triumph.

After a slight lapse there is a renewed interest in hostess and lounging pajamas. Personally, I am sponsoring the Oriental influence for these more intimate garments. The way in which Chinese designs may allow for utter relaxation pleases me.

Politeness Is Being Kind, Not Deceitful

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

MOTHER insists that when I go to dine with people, my appreciation must be expressed in deceitful politeness to them, and in extreme unpleasantness as a result, to me. She means that I must take at least a little of everything that is proffered by the waitress or else cause much embarrassment to my hostess, as well as distress. I claim that this is nonsense and by my very attitude in getting rid of this unwanted food, she could tell that I was simply trying to affect politeness. Can't you see my point?

EMILY POST

Answer: Yes, I think I see your point, but I don't agree with your use of the word "deceitful." Certainly not in its connotation. It is not avoiding deceitfulness, but being unkind to your hostess to flaunt the fact that she has chosen a menu that you completely detest. It is no longer considered necessary that you eat everything offered. Therefore, if you are so unfortunate as to like nothing, then you must take something on your plate and make yourself eat it, with the very best appearance of liking it that you can muster. Unless the hostess specializes in queer foods, this last is not apt to happen. On the other hand, if you are either such a dyspeptic or so finicking and hard to please that you can't eat anything set before you, you should not go away from home, ever!

Dear Mrs. Post:

In our house we have no servants and find it inconvenient to use finger bowls, ever. And most of our friends live in the same simplicity. I am soon to stay with a college friend, whose family I have reason to believe live in a formally-run house, and I am sure to be embarrassed about what do do about the use of the finger bowl. (2) And how about my napkin? Is a clean one to be supplied at each meal, or should I fold mine neatly, expecting to use it again?

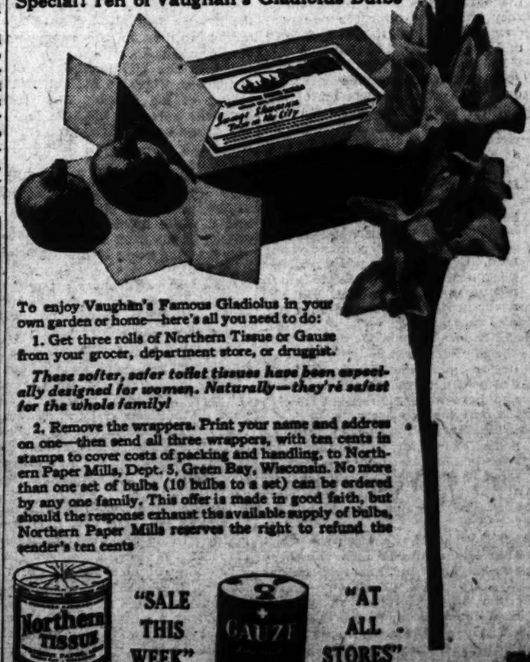

Answer: When the finger bowl is put in front of you, use it by dipping the fingers of each hand alternately into the water and then, if you choose, wiping the rinsed fingers of one hand across your lips, then dry lips and fingers on napkin. You need not use the finger bowl unless you choose. (2) At the end of the meal, lay your napkin, pushed together, at the side of your plate, but not until the meal is ended. On the other hand, if a napkin-ring is at your place, fold the napkin neatly and put it in the ring.

Save the leftover gravy from the roast. It comes in very nicely when the roast has been reduced to a stew or hash in the place of the water usually used.

The Wrong Girl

A Romantic Serial Story

By ROB EDEN

CHAPTER FIVE.

AT NINE, clad in Sharon's peach chiffon nightdress and robe of pale green satin, Trudy breakfasted in the pretty sitting room of the little suite—alone except for Cora who was sewing. From the window she could see the broad lawns of Fairoaks sweeping down to the beach, and far down the sand approaching the boat house a man with a police dog galloping at his side. The man was Phil. Instinctively she knew that, even if she couldn't see his face. The breadth of his shoulders, the swinging stride of his walk, his bare head ruffled by the breeze. The dog must be Tiger. He had told her about Tiger last night.

"You were out a long time with young Mr. Dana last night, weren't you?" Cora asked, nipping off her thread with her strong white teeth.

It hadn't seemed such a long time to Trudy. The two hours they had talked and walked around Fairoaks seemed but a few brief seconds.

"The servants were talking downstairs about you this morning when I had my breakfast," the maid continued, "gossiping as they will. In a house like this there's always a lot of gossip. I used to work in a big house myself before I went to Miss Sharon.

"They were all amazed that Mr. Phil seemed to be so interested in you. Usually they say he's merely polite to house guests even if they're very important. Hasn't much time for women."

Trudy's heart missed several beats, and she looked from Cora through the window to the man and the big dog. They were closer to the boat house.

The man was throwing a stick into the water, and the dog was lunging through the breakers after it, his strong head lifted above the waves. In a few moments he had the stick and was swimming strongly back to his master—then racing up and down the beach wildly.

Glorious Fairoaks. No wonder Phil loved it, no wonder the Danas all loved it. To come home to this—from the store, to the quiet, to the peace of it.

Trudy thought of the two homes she had had; the one in Buckley with her aunt and uncle and three cousins. A madhouse most of the time. She had been glad to get away from it, for she had never felt even as a child when she came to it that she belonged.

* * *

HER aunt was good to her and her uncle, too, but they weren't her parents and she never accepted them as hers. And the three cousins, near her age, weren't brothers and sisters.

A Glimpse Into Paradise.

Then the flat with Marge. That was her second home, for she wasn't counting the three days she had stayed at a small hotel on her arrival in New York. The flat which was never quiet and peaceful because it was so small and because it was so close to a hundred other flats like it, all one room with tiny bath and kitchenet.

At first she had tried to make it into a home, but after awhile she saw it was no use. It was a place to sleep, with a bed that was none too good, a place to eat breakfast and sometimes dinner, a place on blessed Sundays to do her mending and her washing.

The pillows she and Marge had made for the chairs, the curtains they had bought for the one window only made it more forlorn and temporary.

Fairoaks, with the broad big rooms downstairs, the gracious drawing room, the comfort of the library, the stateliness of its hall—this was a home where people were happy. You only had to look at Mrs. Dana and Helene and Phil to know they were happy. Mr. Dana, too.

Fairoaks was a glimpse into paradise. Trudy took a long deep breath of the paradise.

"Mr. Phil seems a nice young man," Cora went on. "I wish Miss Sharon would get interested in a nice young man like him. But she never has since I've been with her. And now it's Mr. Gordon."

Her needle jabbed the delicate silk she was sewing. "He can't do her any good. He hasn't any money except what his wife gives him—and here Miss Sharon thinks he's the only man on earth.

"Last year it was someone else, not as bad as Mr. Gordon but nearly as bad. If she'd only be sensible—but she won't be. She'll never be anything but what she is now. I try to tell her but she won't listen to me.

"Why should she when she won't even listen to her own brother? She laughs at me, and then I can't say any more. You're no wiser, either, Miss Trudy, or you wouldn't have done this for her."

Trudy agreed with her silently. She liked Sharon's maid, who was always so serious and so busy, liked the loyalty she had for her mistress. For no one could be with Cora long and not know that Cora adored her Miss Sharon and would do anything in the world for her.

"I wanted to warn you not to do this for Miss Sharon, but I didn't. I guess I should have—"

Marge and Jeff Carr—and now Cora, against her coming to Fairoaks. Trudy picked up a piece of toast and nibbled at it reflectively. Everybody who was in on the secret was against it except herself and Sharon who were the principals.

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

When SHARON CARR, Broadway star, learns of Trudy's resemblance to her, she asks Trudy to substitute for her at a week-end party. Trudy refuses until she learns that the party is to be at Fairoaks, the Dana country home. Trudy can't pass up the opportunity to meet Phil Dana.

With Sharon's maid, CORA, and JEFF CARR, Trudy goes to Fairoaks, and passes easily for Sharon. Phil is flatteringly attentive. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Cora rethreaded her needle. "Not that Miss Sharon meant any harm by it. She never means any harm by anything she does. She's just impulsive, tha's all. I've seen her schemes fail before—although she's never tried anything like this in the five years I've been with her—but her schemes have failed and then she's in a worse mess than she was before. When I'm not worrying about Miss Sharon's money, I'm worrying about the trouble she gets in."

"Sharon Carr doesn't have to worry about money!" Trudy exclaimed.

"No, Miss Sharon doesn't worry about money. Somebody else has to worry about the money. She only spends it. I used to do the worrying, but now Mr. Jeff will have to worry, and a nice job he's got!

"I thought when we came to New York for this big show that Miss Sharon would be making so much money we'd never have to worry again, but we worry, or rather I do, for the money goes like it used to on the road.

"Miss Sharon is always one to spend every cent she makes. Even Mr. Jeff can't change her, although he's given up his job in Kansas City now to take charge of her affairs and see that she saves some money."

Trudy thought she and Marge and the other girls at the store were the only ones who worried about money. How to make $15 stretch into $25 a week. How to scrape together the rent and buy a new pair of shoes at the same time, how to pay a dentist bill, how to get together pennies for a decent week's vacation once a year. But other people had their money troubles, too. Sharon, for instance.

"If Miss Sharon had come here herself, Mr. Phil Dana would be interested in her, not you." Cora sighed deeply as she arose and went into the bedroom.

Trudy wondered whether Phil would have taken the real Sharon for a walk last night, would have talked to her in the same way. Whether Sharon would have listened as she had listened to tales of his dog, Tiger, to his quiet voice telling of his passion for these Fairoaks acres, of his love for his work, and some of the problems of the store.

Maybe . . .

"Thought you'd never get up," he grumbled good naturedly. "Disappointed in you. I was out with Tiger at seven."

* * *

TRUDY had been awake since six, longing to get up, yet not daring, because Cora hadn't appeared, and she couldn't do anything that Sharon wouldn't have done. At it was, Cora told her disapprovingly, when she left the sitting room, that Miss Sharon always slept until 11.

"Monday night we'll have dinner together," Phil said as if there were nothing to do but to announce his plans.

"Monday night we won't do anything of the kind," Trudy said with emphasis, but in her emphasis there was a quiver. If she could go out with him Monday night!

"But I'm going to Washington on business at midnight Monday, and I won't be back until Thursday. Can't you break your date tomorrow?"

Sorry—but I can't." She looked away from him out onto the water where a boat was ploughing the sea, its sails stretched to catch the wind.

Refusing him when there was nothing she wanted more in the world than to go to dinner with him tomorrow night!

"Well, I suppose if you can't you can't, but Thursday night is set. We'll go to dinner Thursday night. I'm not going to take 'no' for an answer for Thursday. I've a feeling, Sharon, that we're going to see a lot of each other."

It wasn't all settled for Thursday evening, but Trudy said nothing more. She couldn't say anything more without consulting Sharon, unless she told him now that she wasn't Sharon Carr, that she was plain Trudy Vernon, who worked at his store, and whom he had never noticed, even to smile at, in the great Dana establishment where 3500 employes punched the time clock four times a day, six days a week.

Only once, she had told Marge. Only once. That was how she had felt when she consented to impersonate Sharon Carr for a week-end at Fairoaks.

She didn't feel that way now. She wanted a little more of this bliss, this happiness. She didn't want it to end here this minute when they were ready to step into his motor boat and ride onto the blue waters.

She wouldn't have it long, this happiness, so while she had it, today, she was going to drain it, drink it, bury it in her heart. No, she wouldn't tell him she wasn't Sharon Carr. . . .

"Thursday night, then, for sure," Phil said, helping her into the boat.

Continued Tomorrow.

Solemnity Is Not Necessary For Goodness

By The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton

SOME folk think that the Saints were sad, solemn souls. No, they were merry men who went singing through the world, happy and unafraid. If one wanted to write about them he might take for his title, "Religion for the Fun of It."

Hear a story in proof of the truth. One evening as St. Francis sat in the light of the setting sun, a little child nestled by his side with a chessboard, and they began a game. An austere brother espied them, and took the saint to task for it:

"For shame, Brother Francis," he said, "that you should engage in a foolish game with a foolish child. What if it were told to you that the Lord will suddenly appear? What would you do?"

"What would I do?" asked Francis, with a radiant smile. "Brother, it is a foolish question. I would finish the game. It was for the glory of God that I began it!"

On another day, the news had gone round that the saint was to spend the night in a little town. The town came out to do him honor, with band and bunting, and an address from the chief official. When the saint, approaching, saw the display his heart sank.

Then, at the entrance of the town, he saw some children playing on a seesaw, and he leaped on to the seesaw and began to play with them. Now it is difficult to read an address to a man who is bobbing up and down on a seesaw. It seemed silly to try it.

So the official pocketed his address, the band ceased playing, while the people went away sure that he was not a saint, but a clown. When they had gone, Francis, chuckling to himself, went to his modest lodgings.

Why were the saints so happy? The answer is easy. They had no selfishness and they were free from fear. The rest of us, stuffed with egotisms and tormented by all sorts of fears, are irritable, ill at ease and unhappy. We are too tangled up with ourselves.

"A good man," said a wise saint, "envies no man, since he has no private joy. To seek our own is to lose the things in common."

EXERCISE FOR BEAUTY

Eleventh Article, in a New Series

By Louis Fulton Bender

Physical Director, St. Louis Y. W. C. A.

UNDERWEIGHT is generally caused by imperfect food assimilation, severe mental exertion or worry, and can be improved in most cases by exercise. The following exercises should be done slowly at first. First—Sit with hands on hips—rotating trunk sideways, forward and back. Second—Lying on floor, knees bent with feet on floor, slowly fling arms sideways, overhead and down. Third—Lying on mat, alternate leg raising.

Sour Milk Prune Cake

One-third cup fat.
One cup sugar.
One egg.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half teaspoon cloves.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One cup sour milk.
One cup chopped dried prunes.
One-half cup nuts.
Two cups flour.
One teaspoon soda.

Cream fat, sugar. Add rest of ingredients; beat 2 minutes. Pour into shallow pan lined with waxed paper. Bake 30 minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool, frost with:

Two tablespoons butter.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One and two-thirds cups sifted confectioner's sugar.

Pad "Slip Covers"

Pretty slip covers can be made for the pads which you put under luncheon pieces. The pads, of course, protect the table from hot dishes and the luncheon pieces are a part of the table decoration; but pretty slip covers for the pads keeps them clean and fresh in appearance. These slip covers can be washed as often as you wish and made in such a way that they can be taken off or put on at will.

Baked in Paper

Many cooks find a cake easier to remove from the pan if baked in buttered paper within the cake tin, but if you are trying it for the first time be sure to remove that paper as soon as the cake comes from the oven. If it cools on the cake it is bound to stick.

Mercolized Wax Brings Out Skin Beauty

The beauty of your skin depends on the daily care you give it. Mercolized Wax is all that the average woman requires to keep her complexion radiantly young. Before retiring, simply pat the Wax briskly over the face and neck. The thin veil of surface skin is gently flaked off in tiny particles. All such blemishes as freckles, tan, blackheads or discolorations, quickly disappear. The new complexion is so smooth, fair and beautiful you'll look years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty of your skin. Powdered Saxolite reduces wrinkles and other age signs. Simply dissolve one ounce Saxolite in a half pint witch hazel and use daily as an astringent. At all drug stores.

New Jewelry Is Extreme And Bizarre

By Ruth Cowan

CHICAGO, May 10.

THERE'S nothing modest about the new spring costume jewelry, either in idea, color or size. Extreme, novel, bizarre—describe the rings, necklaces, bracelets, clips and pins with which Eve is decorating herself.

First of all, as something different, there are ear clips. Minus the prongs they are made on the same principle as dress clips which have become so popular.

For the Gypsy-minded there are big rings in silver or gold metal that snap onto the ears by hidden springs and look just as though they were run through holes in the lobes.

Like wings of mercury are the dainty little ear clips—some of metal in modernistic designs, others set with rhinestones and still more made of colored composition that outline the ear lobe.

The expression "round like a ring" doesn't mean anything anymore, for there are new finger rings that are square. They are fashioned of flat metal strips and the ends don't quite close.

If all this is too tame, there are the very new Congo bracelets and necklaces inspired by the savages. One such necklace was fashioned of 12 graduated strands of string, glazed and brightly colored. The necklace, which had a bracelet to match, fitted close over the collar bone.

And then, whimsically, there are dainty clips, pins, flexible bracelets fashioned of colored glass and composition in flower like designs as small as some of the new clips are big.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE INDIAN WOLFMAN—In 1832 a very unusual child was born to a tribe of Hesquiat Indians on the west coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia. This child was given the name of Kilm-ith-ka, which means Wolfman. He ran about on all fours with the agility of a dog, ate like a wolf, and never articulated a human word. He grew wolf-like fangs and lived in a large kennel where he lived in semi-domestication. Kilm-ith-ka lived to be 100 years old.

TOMORROW: THE SOLAR CANDLE POWER.

Accomplice

By Earl K. Wyman

DAN KELLY, plain-clothes officer, paused at a desk in the lobby to indorse a check. A commotion at a teller's window caught his attention.

A red-haired boy of 12 or 13, scurrying toward the door, was halted as he attempted a hurried exit.

"I vas makin' a payment. Der clerk vas lookin' for der note, und I vas vipin mine glasses. Mine pay onvlope vas on der vindow by mine hand. Der red-headed kid vas standin' by me. Then der onvlope vas gone. Der kid vas runnin' by der door out. I saw his red head a-scootin' through der crowd. Der liddle Teufel! I'll"——

"Did you take it?" Kelly shot at the frightened boy.

"I—I—yes. I won't never do it again."

"Give it back."

"I—I—ain't got it, Mister."

"Aint got it? I s'pose you spent it already." Deftly he searched the lad's pockets. No envelope. "What'd you do with it?" he demanded.

"I—I—ditched it, Mister. When the guy yelled I g-got scared. Honest, I ain't never stole nothing before."

"Cut out the bawling. Where'd you ditch it?"

"I—I was runnin' for the door when the old man bellered. I j-jabbed it in a guy's pocket and kep' a-goin'."

Through the crowd hands went into pockets. Kelly waited. No one announced the discovery of the money.

"Gee, Mister, I dunno. I didn't look 't him."

"Huh! What coldr was the coat?"

"I—I—dunno. Gosh, Mister, I was scared! Say, you won't send me to the pen? I ain't done nothin' before."

"I'll send you up for life if you don't come clean," the officer threatened. The boy shuddered.

"Honest to gosh, I don't know what man it was. A guy's pocket hung open, and I jest shoved it in. Didn't even look at 'im."

"How much was in the envelope?" Kelly asked.

"Two weeks' pay und mine bonus. Sixty-fife dollars. I vork hard und"——

"Never mind that. What's your name?"

"Hermann Schneller. I vork by der packin' house."

"Know hi mhere at the bank?" Kelly inquired. The teller at whose window Schneller had been transacting business replied.

"Sure. He's okay. Done business here a long time. Borrowed some money a year ago for his wife's hospital bill, and pays $10 on his note every pay day."

* * *

AT KELLY'S direction a bank official searched the waste baskets. Two or three men paced the length of the lobby scanning the floor. The pay envelope was not found.

"Humph! Mebbe the kid ain't so dumb," grunted the officer. "Mebbe he had an accomplice. That envelope aint' got out of here. I'll have to search everybody."

"You sure this is necessary?" the cashier inquired. "It's holding up business and causing a lot of inconvenience. Really, the amount isn't large enough"——

"Mebbe not," Kelly retorted, "but nobody's going to pull a bank robbery with me right on the job and get away with it. Don't make no difference if it's only 15 cents. Anyhow, I'm most through now."

In another 10 minutes the detective had finished. His search had taken him through every pocket of every customer in the lobby. He had searched every employe. No pay envelope. The victim wailed anew.

"Let me have der kid. I'll shoke it oud of him. Der liddle Teufel!"

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

1. —No. A man with a dictatorial makeup in science for example, would be a bull in a china shop. The same would be true of a minister, musician, physician and indeed in any line except in the field of executive leadership. Even in business and politics, except in emergencies, the man who leads, not by dictation, but by exceptionally wise persuasive and administrative abilities, is the man who is most successful. In a democracy there is not much room for a dictator, but always for great administrative leaders such as Washington and Lincoln.

2. —This matter was studied technically, with a group of college students by Georgina Strickland Gates and Louise G. Risaland. The results were published in Educational Psychology. The psychologists found that both encouraging and discouraging remarks caused the students to make better scores. However, encouragement got better results than discouragement. When they said nothing at all, the students did their worst. I think this holds pretty true with all of us. When we "don't know what people think" it takes the wind out of the best of us.

3. —I think so, but it would take a radical change in our education to develop in men a passion to sew, crochet, knit, make doll's clothes, manipulate diapers, dress the children and run the home. But men can do them if they have to and often grow to like them. One of the greatest wild animal hunters living, in telling me recently about his new baby, exclaimed: "I am becoming the champion diaper expert of the world."

It's Art, But Is It Beautiful?

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

WE HAVE attended an art exhibition under the CWA. It's just as oily as any other kind.

• • •

There is a revolution in artistic circles that means profound thought and freedom. An artist no longer paints what he sees. He paints what ain't there.

• • •

One of the best of the worst artists summarizes it all when he says, "Art has nothing to do with the imitation of objects. First, we receive an impression and then we figure its equivalent.

• • •

"Anybody can paint a quart of skim milk. But, it takes a genius to figure that a quart of milk weighs as much as two pounds of hay. Hay means cows and farms. That means trespassing. And rather than stop a load of indignant rock salt from a double-barreled gun we ignore the original theme altogether and draw a series of Babylonian curly-cues reclining in the shade of a single corn stalk."

• • •

That's the ultra-modern way of changing the subject in oils and turpentine. The only concession the shaggy colonists make to civilization is in still using beautiful gold frames.
